U. S., REDS YIELD ON ARMS ISSUES

State's New Budget, Expected To Run Far Ahead Of Last One, Will Go To Assembly Tonight

Gov. Lane Will Make Personal Appearance

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 5 (AP) — A Maryland budget, which by reason of the Sherbow report and higher costs of everything is expected to run many millions of dollars ahead of the last one, will go to the General Assembly tomorrow night.

Gov. Lane announced today he woud make a personal appearance before joint session at 7:30 p. m. Thursday to deliver the budget and to read at least a part of his budget message.

The details of the document have been kept secret but it has been no secret that the administration has been seeking additional revenue with which to finance the higher government costs.

In his inaugural address January 8, the governor said budget requests at that time totaled $36,000,000 more than in the biennial bill passed in 1945. That act called for expenditures of arqund $66,000,000 for the two years ending next June 30.

Some Requests Pared

The administration has done some paring on requests since it came into office, but some guesses are that by the time supplemental appropriations are added later in the session, the state's spending will go to around $20,000,000 ahead of the old bill.

An advisory commission of citizens, appointed by Lane, has been meeting with the board of revenue estimates and some conclusions on what will be done about taxes are expected to be disclosed next week. Such things as a consumer's sales tax, higher admissions levies, luxury taxes and cigaret taxes have been under discussion.

The Sherbow report, drafted by a commission headed by Judge Joseph Sherbow, of Baltimore, included in its recommendations a distribution of between $12,000,000 and $13,000,000 a year in state funds to Baltimore city and to the counties. Lane made it clear last month that extra money would be needed to effectuate that report.

Budget Schedule Changed

The special legislative session last December approved around $4,000,000 in deficiency appropriations. The current administration is opposed to finding itself in a situation where deficiency appropriations would be needed.

The budget bill had been scheduled to reach the Assembly Friday, but the Governor decided upon the Thursday night appearance after members of the House Entertainment Committee pointed out there would be a legislative dance later tomorrow night and the address could be made to a larger audience.

In addition, considerable numbers of persons are expected to be in Annapolis tomorrow for a series of hearings on taxing cooperatives, repeal of the Declaration of Intentions Act, repeal of the Jim Crow law, and others. Probably some of them will remain for the night session.

Both House and Senate arranged to meet at 2 p. m. as usual, and then recess until evening.

The resolution goes to the House, where the Chesapeake Bay and

Fields Convicted; Faces Jail, Fine

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 — (AP) — A federal district court jury today convicted Benjamin F. Fields of contempt of the House Surplus Property Investigating Committee of the last Congress.

The jury of 11 men and one woman deliberated one hour and three minutes.

District Judge Alexander Holtzoff said Fields will remain at liberty under $500 bond pending sentence February 14.

Conviction on the charge may carry a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a fine of $1,000.

Fields was charged with refusing to give the House committee information last fall on the division of $4,400 profit from the sale of surplus bronze wire screen to an Oklahome City contractor.

Single Sugar Stamp Will Be Valid For 10 Pounds After April 1

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—(AP) —The Office of Temporary Controls announced today it will make 10 pounds of the 1947 sugar ration available for householders on April 1 using a single stamp.

At the same time, the price administration branch of OTC said sugar stamp number 53, currently valid for five pounds of sugar, will expire at midnight, March 31, one month earlier than originally announced.

OPA also said there will be no special sugar allotment for home canning this year.

OPA said it "seems fairly certain" there will be more sugar this year, but gave uncertainty over the size of the increase as the reason for failure to fix the expiration date of the new ration coupon to be valid April 1.

After that date, all coupons validated will be good for 10 pounds of sugar each.

U. S. Government Likely To Enter Portal Pay Suit

Early Opinion Is Promised By Judge

DETROIT, Feb. 5 (AP) — The Mt. Clemens Pottery Company hearing ended today with an indication that the United States government will become a party to the suit, trailblazer for $4,800,000,000 in portal-to-portal claims.

"I am inclined to permit the government to come in," Federal Judge Frank A. Picard said in deferring for 24 hours a definite decision.

He also invited the national CIO to join the case if he permits the government to do so.

Judge Picard warned all parties, however, that testimony in the case is closed.

"I'm going to render an opinion as quickly as I can," the court said. "I'd give it today if I could or by the end of the week if I'm able."

However, Judge Picard told newsmen later that he is not hopeful that the opinion will be ready this weekend.

John F. Sonnett, Assistant United States Attorney General, told the court that the government wants the case returned to the Supreme Court "as soon as possible" regardless of the outcome.

As a party to the suit, the government would have the right to initiate its own appeal to the high court.

It was the Supreme Court's June 10 ruling in the Mt. Clemens case that led to an avalanche of portal pay claims against industry.

Sonnett repeated the plea he made in public hearings before Judge Picard a week ago that the pottery case be dismissed.

He said the government is alarmed because of the "many millions of dollars" in tax refunds and war contract readjustments that hinge on the outcome of the many portal pay suits.

Judge Picard told Sonnett:

"I want this case to go up to the Supreme Court, whatever I decide x x x.

"My opinion is not worth anything in binding any other court without the stamp of approval of the Supreme Court.

"I can't sit here and say that all portal-to-portal suits are good, or none are good or any are good. I don't know.

"If I give the right to you, while I don't put the government on the same basis as a private citizen, I feel the CIO also has the right to enter this case."

Iceberg A. C. Members, Go Bathing In Ocean With Mercury At 7 Above

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Quicker than you can say "double pneumonia," a group of hardy souls clad in nothing warmer than white bathing suits dashed across the icy beach at Coney Island today and plunged into the Atlantic ocean.

It's a daily sight that never fails to amaze winter strollers on the Coney Island boardwalk who aren't familiar with the intrepid code of the Iceberg Athletic Club, composed of 42 men sometimes suspected of having anti-freeze in their veins instead of blood.

It was an even more amazing sight today with New York suffering in a 7-degree temperature, the coldest of the year.

Actually the club members are a diversified group with only two things in common: Abundant good health and a belief that they got that way by frequent bathing in the Atlantic from October 1 to May 1 of each year.

The club is in its 28th year and the members, ranging in age from 21 to 88, frolic in the Coney Island surf in all kinds of weather and then play softball, box or vie with one another in weight lifting contests on the beach.

For some reason—the members are a little vague as to just why—women are barred from membership. But a number of wives or girl friends of the members have infiltrated into the activities regardless.

Ed Sorocki, 47-year-old vegetarian, physical culturist, professional blood donor and guiding spirit of the club, says despite their rigorous life they have "never lost a man yet" to illness resulting from exposure.

New Cold Air Mass Heads For Midwest

Sub-Zero Weather In Half Of Nation

[By The Associated Press]

The third cold wave in seven days raced toward the Midwest from Canada Wednesday as some Eastern and Southeastern sections shivered in the most frigid weather of the season.

The Midwest, still snow-crusted and wind-swept from recent storm, was promised only a 24-hour respite before a new cold wave is borne in on strong winds.

Sub-zero temperatures were recorded across half the nation, Pennsylvania reported its most severe cold wave of the winter and Northern Florida braced for temperatures expected to fall as low as 18 degrees by Thursday morning.

The cold struck a severe blow at industry in five states. Nearly 50,000 persons were forced into idleness when a ban was ordered on the industrial use of natural gas to conserve the fuel for home use.

Cold Increases In East

The industrial shutdowns were ordered in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Kentucky. In the Pittsburgh area alone, approximately 25,000 were idle.

Bemidji, Minn., recorded a low of 30 below zero Wednesday morning before temperature began moderating.

High winds continued across the eastern half of the nation, reaching an average velocity of 25 miles an hour and accentuating the cold.

The cold was increasing along the Eastern Seaboard with Philadelphia reporting five above, Pittsburgh two below, Washington seven above and New York city eight above. Miami, Fla., recorded a minimum of 44 and Jacksonville 26.

At least temporary relief was expected to be felt in the East by Thursday or Thursday night.

Low Readings In Pa.

Freezing weather extended to the Gulf. Thomasville, Ga., a Georgia-Florida border town, had to get along without an official temperature report when the door to the postoffice roof and the official thermometer was frozen shut.

Radio engineers atop White Mountain, 33 miles from Bristol, Tenn., nominated that spot for the coldest in the South when the mercury dropped to 10. The mountain is 5,634 feet above sea level.

Some of the lowest readings in the East were recorded in Pennsylvania, where a woman was frozen to death. Clermont reported an unofficial -22; Brandy Camp -16, Kane -13, and Kersey -11.

Jap Gems Seized; Colonel Is Held

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Seizure of more than $210,000 worth of Japanese diamonds and the arrest of an Army colonel on orders of Gen. MacArthur, was announced today by United States customs.

Col. Edward Murray was in technical custody at his home in Palo Alto, Calif., Customs Collector Paul Leake said, after a report on discovery of the gems had been cabled to Gen. MacArthur at Tokyo.

Leake said Gen. MacArthur was informed the diamonds were found when Col. Murray arrived here Monday aboard the Westminster Victory from Japan.

The technical arrest order was immediately radioed back to San Francisco.

An Army spokesman said the arrest was made on MacArthur's request in order to enable the Army to make its investigation. He said if the Army did not try Col. Murray, his case would be turned over to the customs service.

Regulations On Coal Shipments Withdrawn

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — The Solid Fuels Administration announced today it will withdraw its domestic regulations on soft coal shipments at midnight (EST) tonight.

J. A. Krug, Solid Fuels Administrator, said restrictions on coal exports will continue.

Krug said general distribution regulations are no longer necessary because:

1. A high level of bituminous coal production has been maintained since mining was resumed last December 9.

2. Mild weather during December and January cut coal consumption and supply and distribution have caught up with demand.

Demands For New Labor Laws Flood Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — A flood of demands for changing New Deal labor laws hit Capitol Hill today, along with a blunt statement by President Charles E. Wilson, of General Motors, that he will quit business before he signs a closed shop contract.

Under hottest fire, at spirited separate hearings of the Senate and House Labor Committees were:

The closed shop, under which a man must join a union to get a job, and the Wagner Act, under which the National Labor Relations Board sets up rules for collective bargaining and bans "unfair" labor practices by employers.

OPTIMISTIC—Robert Jones, 18, Rockville, Md., recovering from a high school lab explosion in which he lost both hands, smiles as he views another of the many greetings sent him by well wishers. The nurse is his sister, Virginia. Looking forward to getting artificial hands, Bob points out, "There's a lot of jobs open to me now that weren't before."

Lilienthal Vows To Keep Reds Out Of Atomic Group

Promise Does Not Satisfy McKellar

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—(AP)—David E. Lilienthal promised senators today a flat ban against the employment of Communists in the Atomic Control Commission he has been named to head.

He laid down that policy before the Senate Atomic Committee under a series of questions from Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn), longtime foe of the former Tennessee Valley Authority chairman.

This pledge, however, apparently failed to satisfy McKellar, who has assailed Lilienthal as the "No. 1 Communist" in Tennessee. He arose in the Senate later to assert that President Truman's nominations of Lilienthal and five other commission members means "a fight between Russian Communism on one side and pure, unadulterated Americanism on the other."

Lilienthal Defends Marks

"Those who believe in Russian Communism over pure Americanism will no doubt vote for these nominees," he said. "Those of us who believe that any of these nominees are tinctured with Communism will vote against the confirmation of such nominees."

Previously Lilienthal had testified before the committee that no one could question the complete loyalty to the United States of Herbert Marks, former TVA attorney who has been named as General counsel for the atomic commission.

Marks Seen At Red Meeting

Marks' qualifications came up after McKellar noted that Mrs. Kenneth Malcolm had testified before another Senate committee that she attended a Communist meeting at which Marks was present.

Obviously angered, Lilienthal said if the committee wanted to know about Marks, it ought to call some reputable business and professional men who have associated with him.

Jewish Council Won't Join In Stamping Out Holy Land Terrorism

British Ultimatum Rejected By Group

JERUSALEM, Feb. 5—(AP)—The Jewish National Council rejected tonight a British ultimatum giving official Jewry until Tuesday to join in stamping out Holy Land terrorism, and Irgun Zvai Leumi, underground group, asserted it would "fight to the last breath" against British authority.

In a formal resolution, the National Council (Vaad Leumi) told its 14-member executive to draft a full answer "in accord with the sentiments" of speeches at tonight's council session which unanimously expressed opposition to the ultimatum. Members of the Jewish Agency and mayors of Jewish towns attended the council meeting.

The British, in their ultimatum to the Jewish Agency and National Council, spokesmen for 600,000 Palestine Jews, warned that they face possible imposition of martial law unless they co-operate against underground groups which have resorted to violence against the British.

Irgui's latest expression of defiance, which appealed to "the peoples of the word to come to our help," was contained in a note handed to newspaper correspondents by the underground group.

The note, said to be a script of a secret broadcast in English, French, Russian, and Italian, charged that "Britain at last throws away its mask and becomes an occupying power. We are faced with capitulation or war, and we will not capitulate. We cannot believe the masses of Jewish people in Palestine will become Quislings against us. Irgun will fight to the last breath."

The note from Irgun was received as Royal Air Force Halifaxes, each carrying 17 civilians and one conducting officer, shuttled between Jerusalem and Cairo in the task of evacuating approximately 1,600 British women and children from the Holy Land in line with the order issued by the Palestine government last week. Today about 350 civilians were evacuated by air while 360 others went by train to Egypt, their first stop en route to England.

An unofficial but highly regarded informant said that if the Jewish Agency refuses to give assistance to the British against the underground groups such as Irgun and the Stern Gang, the British will withdraw official recognition from the agency.

This source said such withdrawal would probably be announced in a "white paper" to be issued Tuesday.

Congress Is Asked To "De-Emphasize" Radio "Whodunnits"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—(AP) —Rep. Horan (R-Wash) declared today that radio crime programs are the "narcotics of the air waves" and called upon Congress to "de-emphasize" spine-chillers.

The radio "whodunnits," he told reporters, are disturbing many parents worried about Junior gluing his ears to one radio mystery thriller after another.

Moran introduced a bill which would authorize the House Commerce Committee to investigate whether "in the public interest, restrictions should be placed upon the radio broadcasting of crime programs which, by reason of their character and large number, may have the effect of stimulating juvenile delinquency and law violations in the United States."

Soldier Is Questioned In "Black Dahlia" Death

FORT DIX, N. J., Feb. 5 (AP)—Cpl. Joseph Dumais, 29, Claremont, N. H., a military policeman and a veteran of the European war theater, was questioned by Army investigators today about the torture-slaying last month of attractive brunette Elizabeth Short, the "Black Dahlia," in Los Angeles.

Maj. Cornelius T. Morris, post public relations officer who identified Dumais, said dark stains inside a pocket of his trousers had been analyzed by state police chemists and found to be blood.

Knutson Orders Review Of U. S. Trade Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — Chairman Knutson (R-Minn), of the House Ways and Means Committee, today ordered a review of the administration's reciprocity program for boosting world trade, a field in which President Truman says bi-partisan attitudes are needed.

Knutson's announcement came after the committee's Republican members met with Speaker Martin (R-Mass) behind closed doors.

The meeting followed by several hours a United Nations report from the President in which Mr. Truman said:

"Our policy of supporting the United Nations 'with all the resources that we possess' must be given effective practical application on a genuinely national, bipartisan basis in every activity of the United Nations.

"This is just as necessary in the economic and social field as it is in the political field.

"We must pursue without hesitation bi-partisan policies of economic cooperation with the rest of the world in such matters as economic reconstruction and development and the expansion of world trade and employment."

When this report hit Capitol Hill, there was speculation that Mr. Truman's remarks on bi-partisan handling of world trade might reflect concern over some Republican criticism of the State Department's reciprocal trade program.

Knutson set the hearing for February 24, and said representatives of the State Department—presumably led by under Secretary Will Clayton—will be called in to explain the operations of the program.

"We can't determine our course until we get their reports," said the Minnesota legislator.

Pending before the committee are at least two resolutions calling on President Truman to halt further reciprocal trade pacts until the tariff commission has reviewed those already in operation and reported back to Congress.

Both are aimed at delaying — at least temporarily — a 19-member trade conference in April at Geneva called under State Department sponsorship to write a multilateral trade agreement.

Hasty Arms Cut Opposed By President

Development Of U. S. Policy Emphasized

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—President Truman told Congress today that hasty disarmament would be dangerous.

He said the nations of the world "can safely lay aside their arms only insofar as their security is protected by other means."

This assertion, made in a report on the United States role in the United Nations, emphasized the development of a broad American policy on disarmament.

In contrast to Russian demands for a direct and specific attack on the disarmament problem by itself, the emerging American view is that the problem can only be solved as other United Nations measures are taken to preserve peace and prevent aggression.

Peace Depends On U. N. Ability

"In the last analysis," Mr. Truman wrote in his report, "control and reduction of armaments can be effective only so far as genuine collective security and a peaceful political atmosphere are firmly established."

At the same time, the President said that the achievement of lasting peace "will depend in large part upon the ability of the United Nations" to put over world economic recovery and cooperation.

He urged "bi-partisan policies of economic cooperation with the rest of the world in such matters as economic reconstruction and development and the expansion of world trade and employment."

His declaratios on this point possibly reflected concern over some Republican criticism of the State Department's reciprocal trade treaty program. This program is aimed at promoting international trade through reducing tariffs.

Warns Of Dangers Ahead

The report on the United Nations summed up the organization's first year, and said:

"The justifiable hope and confidence, to which the great progress of the United Nations in the past year has given rise, can be betrayed and lost. The difficulties and dangers that lie before us are many and serious."

One of the main tasks of the United Nations this year, the President said, is the development and application of the principles of international control of atomic energy. He added:

"To succeed, we must at the same time build the other essential foundations of a general system of collective security. The nations can safely lay aside their arms only insofar as their security is protected by other means."

Marshall Lists Congress "Musts"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall put aid for the world's hungry at the top today of a list of 27 matters concerned with foreign relations on which he wants congressional action.

More specifically, he said he wants Congress to provide funds for American relief abroad after the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration shuts down operations March 31. President Truman's budget calls for $250,000,000 for that purpose.

No. 2 on the list: Senate approval of the Balkan peace treaties to be signed in Paris February 10.

Among other items: Authorization for the controversial St. Lawrence seaway, legislation for entry of displaced persons into this country, diplomatic immunity for United Nations delegates, and tax exemption for gifts to United Nations.

The last-named matter was among those Marshall classed as "urgent."

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has offered the United Nations $8,500,000 to be used in acquiring some six blocks of land in New York city for a permanent site. The United Nations' General Assembly voted to take up the offer.

"Preliminary" Stage Finished, Gromyko Says

Delegates Accept French Compromise

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—The United States and Soviet Russia were reported tonight to have yielded considerably on stubbornly-fought positions in the United Nations Security Council jam on arms limitation.

Despite these concessions, however, an informal committee of six delegates failed to agree on a final resolution and adjourned after six hours discussion until 11 a. m. EST tomorrow.

The major points remaining to be settled, it was said authoritatively, were:

1. The relationship between the proposed arms limitation commission and the already-functioning United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

2. Just who will draw up the rules of procedure for the proposed Arms Commission.

Earlier, the six delegates were said to have accepted a French resolution as a working paper and plunged into a drafting session.

Delegates and observers said that a "considerable area of agreement" had been reached.

Austin Studies Belgian Plan

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Russian delegate, told newsmen that "the preliminary stage has been completed." He would not comment further.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, who with Gromyko has taken principal part in the debate, was in frequent consultation with Washington as the closed session progressed.

It was reported from the committee room that Austin was seriously considering a compromise offered by Fernand Van Langenhove, Belgian delegate and council president, on the rules impasse. This would provide that the arms commission be created immediately and instructed to report to the Security Council its plans for its work.

Thus the commission would draw up its own rules, subject to council approval, without having a committee of the whole created to make them. The United States has been insisting on a committee making the rules for the arms body.

Austin was said to have called the State Department for instructions on the rules provision.

On the other difference, Austin was reported to feel strongly that the final resolution must stipulate that the commission's work would not infringe on the work of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Gromyko, it was reported, pointed out this stipulation was not necessary.

Action On Atom Report Looms

The United States has been adamant throughout all arms discussion on the position that the work of the Atomic Energy Commission must continue unhampered.

Gromyko, it was said, was not standing too strongly on his previous position that the Atomic Energy Commission's report be considered when it comes up on the council agenda instead of immediately, as the United States has demanded.

Chinese Reds To Give Americans Safe Passage

PEIPING, Feb. 5 (AP) — The Chinese communists promised today to give Americans evacuating Peiping truce headquarters safe passage to Tangku port.

Simultaneously, they strengthened their attack toward Fenyang in Shansi Province, but themselves faced the probable loss within a few days of their big Southern Shantung Province base, Lini.

The Communist commissioner at truce headquarters told the Associated Press his party's chiefs at Yenan had ordered Communist troops to cease their attacks on the Peiping-Tientsin railroad as soon as the Americans announce their departure date. The date is expected to be announced tomorrow.

Committee To Consider Tax Cut Bill Feb. 18

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — Chairman Knutson (R-Minn), of the House Ways and Means Committee, announced tonight the tax-framing group would take up February 18 his bill calling for a 20 per cent "across the board" income tax cut.

He added that tax legislation probably will come to a vote in the House the last week in February.

"I think the bill is in a better position today than it has ever been," he told reporters.

Plane Search Turns To Richmond Area; Wreckage Reported Sighted

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 5 (AP) — Search for a missing Navy transport plane with a crew of four and six passengers aboard turned to the Richmond area tonight on the report of an Army pilot that he had sighted wreckage of "a DC-3" transport in a swampy almost inaccessible area 10 miles southeast of Richmond.

Coast Guard headquarters here, conducting a saturation air search to the west of Chincoteague Island where the plane reported it was lost in the icy gales of last night, said the Army flier's identification of the wreckage had not been verified but "we are taking it as a good lead." The missing ship bears the Navy classification of R4D, the equivalent of the Army's C-47 and the commercial DC-3.

The Army airman, on a routine local flight, gave the position as 10 miles south, southeast, from the Richmond base which would put the wreckage in Henrico or Charles City county on the north banks of the James river. At the request of the Coast Guard, the Army ordered another plane to fly over the area but darkness precluded any protracted search and the communications tower at the Richmond base said nothing further could be done by air until morning.

The general search for the missing craft will be continued, the Coast Guard said, but a helicopter will be sent to the Richmond area from the Elizabeth City, N. C., base tomorrow. The Navy plans to send a couple of "weasels" amphibious, tracked, combat vehicles, to get into the swampy peninsula tomorrow, the Coast Guard said.

Until today the Navy here said the plane was carrying a crew of four and possibly two Marine passengers. But the list was revised upward on word from Portsmouth, N. H., that five Navy men and a Marine embarked as passengers.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Of 15 Is Advised Not To Waste Time On "No-Good" Boy Of 16

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 15 and I like a boy of 16 very much. I have gone out with him about twice.

My girl friends tell me to forget him; that he is no good, and that he is not decent either in talk or in actions. I have seen some things about him that agree with this, but I still like him. I think he is swell. But every time I mention him to my girl friends they say the same things, and I don't know what to do. Should I try to forget him, like my girl friends say, or should I keep on liking him and go with him?

"HEARTBROKEN."

Now this is one of the silliest things I have ever heard of. In the first place, it is nonsense to label yourself "Heartbroken" over a boy you have only gone out with twice. And in the second place, a girl 15 is —or certainly should be—old enough to have some standards of conduct to which she would expect any boy she went out with to measure up. And if he didn't measure up to them, she should have enough common sense, and enough self-respect, not to waste any time on him, let alone any emotions.

You don't really mean to tell me that you think a boy who has earned the type of reputation this one evidently has, is "swell," do you? Because if you do, then I am very much afraid you are either so childish for your age that you have fallen for a "line," and don't know enough to judge character, or else you need to get a new set of standards yourself. Either way, your ideas need to undergo considerable change, and if I were you, I'd begin working on them right away.

Letters Written To This Column

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I read your column every day, and I want to know if you publish every letter you get.

I would like to consult you about my problem.

"E. W."

No, I certainly do not publish every letter written to me. Only a very small number of letters I receive appear in print.

In the first place, I try to publish only those that are of the greatest interest to the greatest number. In other words, if a letter contains a problem of a type which comes in frequently, I know that it is one which affects many people and that they will be interested in what I have to say about it. Also, if the problem is an unusual one, I feel sure that, too, will be of general interest.

In the second place, my mail is so heavy that there wouldn't be sufficient space available in the newspaper to print all the letters. And in the third place, many people write me about problems of such an intimate nature that they would not like to see them in print and then I am glad, if they request it, to write a private, personal reply.

I cannot make out from this letter whether the writer wishes to be certain that any letter written to me will be discussed in this column, or whether he, or she, wants to know if there is a chance of having a personal reply. I think perhaps the above will answer this question in either case, but I might add this: If you have a problem so urgent that it cannot wait until it might be answered in the paper, or if for personal reasons you are reluctant to have it appear in print, I will be glad to write you an individual letter if you will enclose with yours a stamped, addressed envelope.

Coal Industry Can Take Hope From New Undertaking

The days of the steam-powered type of railroad locomotive might be numbered but those in the Georges Creek region and elsewhere who depend on mining for a livelihood can take new hope if they have entertained any thought that this might bring about a drastic reduction in the consumption of coal.

It is true that railroads are fast abandoning coal burners for reasons of efficiency and economics, and to meet regulations of a growing list of cities campaigning against excessive smoke, because last year Class I systems of the nation placed 480 Diesel engines in service compared with only 83 steam units, while at the first of this year, 534 oil burners were on order, compared with but 84 steam locomotives.

The more glamorous Diesel engine has proven its efficiency so conclusively that to overcome this trend away from coal burners the coal industry and a group of railroads have set about developing a coal-fired turbine unit which would outperform the oil burner. Such an undertaking is only natural because of the fact that coal-hauling by railroads is one of their major sources of revenue, and it is to their advantage that production of coal be kept high.

The new gas turbine that would burn powdered coal holds great promise of lowering locomotive operating costs well below that of the Diesels. If that becomes a reality, and there is no reason why it should not, then the mining industry will be spared serious setbacks despite the threat offered by oil-burning engines and by a growing surplus of gas for industrial and domestic uses.

If, as reported, uranium has been discovered on the Chinese side of the boundary line between China and Russia, the boundary line is in danger of being moved.

Hopeful Agreement In Construction Industry

The move by organized contractors and nineteen AFL unions to set up a national joint committee for the purpose of settling labor-management disputes in the construction industry is a hopeful and important step. We think it justifies the enthusiasm with which President Truman announced it, but it would be a mistake to expect too much, because all it means so far is that those involved have agreed to create arbitration machinery which can prevent strikes and lockouts if employers and unions are willing to use it.

It does indicate a realization on both sides that industrial warfare does not pay. The parties to the agreement worked it out voluntarily, without Government pressure. They promised to try hard to settle disputes in the localities where they arise, and to "exert every effort" to have the new machinery used when such disputes can not be adjusted locally.

On the other hand, the agreement offers little hope of solving such problems—even more serious in the building industry than in most others—as secondary boycotts and jurisdictional strikes. These, we believe, are among the problems that demand corrective legislation.

This country, as Mr. Truman's announcement said, has had some other good labor news in recent days. He mentioned developments in the steel and rubber industries as evidence of a growing willingness to "resolve industrial disputes without resort to force" and of movement toward "our ideals of free collective bargaining."

We hope the welcome trend described by Mr. Truman is not due, in part, to labor's fear that a wave of strikes just now would bring drastic action by Congress. Whether or not that be the case, the whole industrial picture is much brighter than it was a year ago, because free collective bargaining was impossible last year due to the Government controlling prices and, indirectly, wages. And, because at that time, the President was encouraging strikes.

Mr. Truman adopted as official Government policy the unsound theory that wages could and must be raised without raising prices. He intervened, personally, to establish patterns for wage increases. He gave union leaders and members every cause to expect Administration support in enforcing their demands. The situation has changed largely because Mr. Truman's own attitude has changed. He is a wiser, better friend of labor, now that he no longer is inviting unions to depend on Government for help in winning strikes.

And there is encouraging evidence that some union leaders are becoming aware that dependence on Government must lead, eventually, to loss of labor's freedom.

The Warmup Before The Start Of The 1947 Season

Wintertime faithful of the national pastime are finding some choice fuel for the glowing embers of the hot stove league. While four of baseball's great—Allegany County's own Robert (Lefty) Grove, Carl Hubbell, Frankie Frisch and Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane—were being elected by sports writers to the Coopertown Hall of Fame, Leo Durocher, who has never been obliged to hire a hall, was acquiring fame of another kind.

Few will argue with the choices for baseball immortality, but likely some of the sport's more conservative followers will look askance at Leo the Lip. They may wonder what old Kenesaw Mountain Landis might have had to say about the Brooklyn extrovert and his goings-on. Landis didn't like his boys to be in the press, unless it was strictly baseball.

Other notes of a more professional nature, however, are at hand. Hank Greenberg goes to the Pittsburgh Pirates in one of the surprise deals of the year; Pepper Martin, whose base stealing put the 1931 World Series pitchers on the verge of nervous hysteria, will be a field man in the Dodger's farm organization, and the New York Yankees proudly announce they have 35 players already signed and sealed for the 1947 season.

In the background of this exquisite scene is a hospital room drama of interest to any one who ever heard of baseball. In a hospital room in New York, Babe Ruth is making a comeback after a serious operation. He's improving, and he's getting letters by the hundreds, wishing him the best.

And when the first ball is thrown out for the opening of the baseball season, surely the old Bambino will be there to see it, even if he isn't swinging at them anymore.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

GLANDULAR SWELLING IN MUMPS

THE moon faced boy with a cloth wound around the jaws and tied at the top of the head is a familiar caricature. Since the neck region abounds in glands that are prone to enlarge for any number of reasons, mumps is blamed all too often. But the virus responsible for the condition is choosey and selects only a few of these structures, a fact which is helpful in making the diagnosis.

The parotids are involved most frequently. These glands are located just over the hinge of the lower jaw and furnish saliva. Ordinarily they cannot be felt but once infection sets in, swelling is noticeable in front and slightly below the ear.

As with many contagious maladies, mumps is passed from one individual to another thru direct contact. A physician who had escaped the disease in childhood asked a young patient to open his mouth and say "ah." When he placed the tongue depresser in the child's mouth and bent forward to take a better look, the boy coughed suddenly. Since the medico was unable to duck in time, he received the full effect of the spray. Two and one-half weeks later he came down with the ailment—the interval which commonly elapses between exposure and the beginning manifestations.

Symptoms of a nondescript nature may appear from 12 to 48 hours before glandular puffiness. They includ a rise in temperature, headaches, loss of appetite, vomiting, and general soreness. Then swelling in the region of the affected gland is noted. Usually one side is attacked first and the other follows suit in a day or two.

As a rule, some degree of distress is present. The gland may be tender to the touch and aching accompanies any attempt to chew. This is especially true when acid or sour substances are held in the mouth, and expains the aversion to pickles, olives, and lemon juice. Fever generally disappears at the end of five or six days and glandular enlargement a week or two therefter.

The course that mumps runs is not always so simple. Peculiar events can arise which will prove exasperating to the parents. Involvement of the opposite side may not take place on schedule, being delayed for two or three weeks. Naturally, the period of quarantine is doubled. Salivary glands other than the parotids, situated under the jaw in the area of the lower molars, can become infected. Now and then spread to the reproductive organs occurs, presenting a more serious problem inas much as sterility may result.

The majority of patients require little care. By remaining quietly in bed, particularly while fever and swollen glands are exhibited, compications are often avoided. Pain is controled by applying heat or cold depending upon which affords more comfort. Since chewing is difficult, a liquid or semi-solid diet is best, eliminating acid-tasting foods. New symptoms should be reported to the physician immediately as measures for the prevention of sterility are sometimes possible. Vaccines are of value occasionally and this angle is now being studied extensively.

ORIGIN IS OBSCURE

R. T. writes: Where do beauty marks come from?

REPLY

A CONVULSIVE POUCH

C. F. writes: What is spasmodic stomach?

REPLY

An overactive structure which contracts too vigorously. As a rule, the valves at the entrance or exit of the stomach are at fault. When they clamp down, the gastric pouch must work harder to empty itself.

VINCENT'S ORGANISMS

G. W. writes: Can trench mouth affect the intestinal tract?

REPLY

Yes, in the sense that we consider the mouth the first part of the digestive system. The causative organisms rarely extend below the throat although now and then they reach the lungs and the rectum.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

W. H. HUDSON

One of the strangest, shyest, and most solitary of human beings who have enriched the literature of the world was W. H. Hudson, the English naturalist. And yet few have been more beloved by those who caught something of the vital and scintillating personality that was his. John Galsworthy once stated that he was one of the greatest of all English writers.

The epitaph on his grave reads thus: "He loved birds and green places, and the wind on the heath, and saw the brightness of the skirts of God." No matter from what angle you study this unusual writer, he must be reckoned as a genius. His fame—so late in arriving—is now worldwide. His appeal, however, will probably always remain for those of selective tastes in literature, and to those who are most interested in nature.

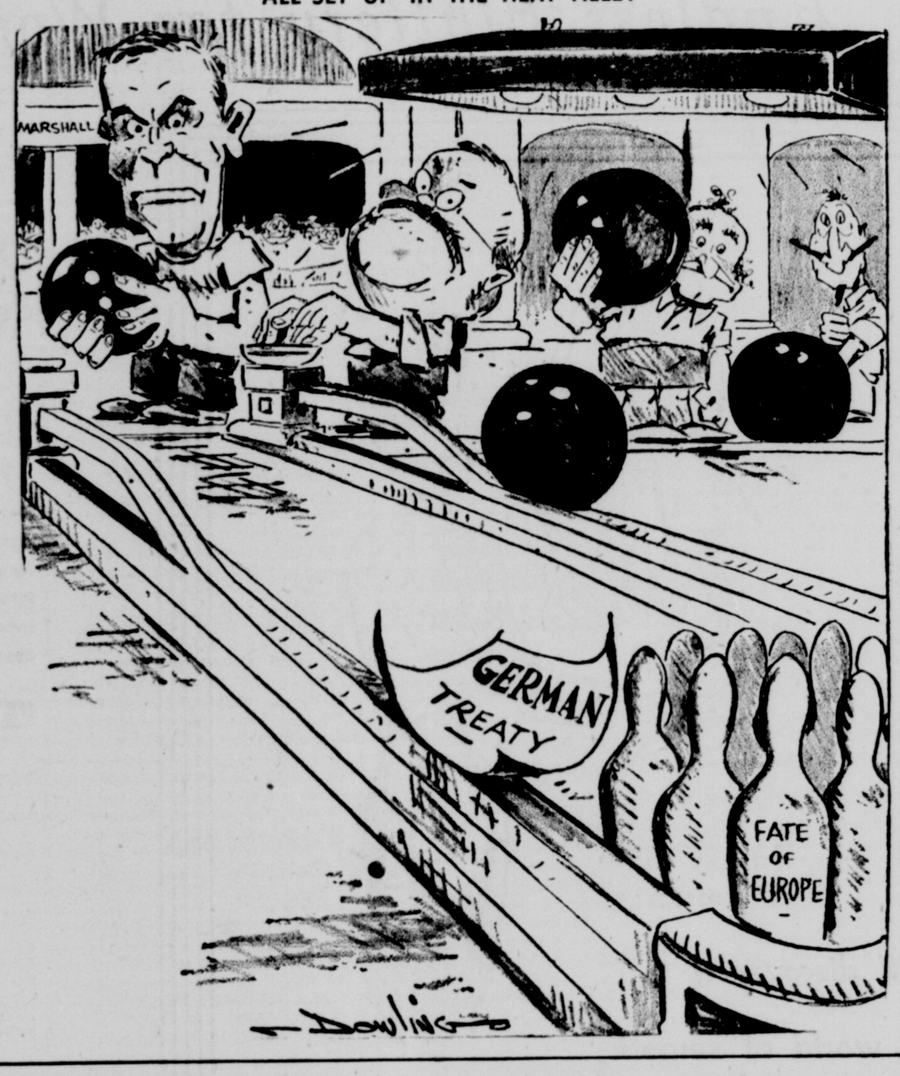

"Oh, those wild, beautiful cries of the golden plover," he once wrote. And, again, he said: "I could exclaim with Hafiz, with but one word changed: 'If after a thousand years that sound should float o'er my tomb, my bones uprising in their gladness would dance in the sepulchre!'" That's how inseparable nature and he were. The quotation is taken from his book "Far Away and Long Ago," one of the most beautiful and moving of all writings about a man's youth. He stated that "it was natural to cling to life and feel immortal."

Hudson loved life, every bird, every ower, every movement in nature, every sound and every waft of the wind. He was truly one with nature. His essay in his book "A Traveler in Little Things" on "The Return of the Chiff-chaff" is one of the undying gems in all literature. He humanized the birds that he wrote about—and he wrote about them all. They and he were akin, and akin to all mankind—if mankind but knew. He made birds intimate to the world because he loved them.

Hudson was born in the Argentine and loved to ride over the pampas. The breadth and solitude of it stirred him and his imagination, and it inspired several of his earlier books. His parentage was American, but most of his life was spent in England, where he wrote and died. A Hyde Park Bird Sanctuary was created as a memorial to him.

U. S. Ambassador To England Will Be A Second John Hay; De Seversky Gets Belated Recognition; Senator Bilbo's Next Move; Patterson Rights Wrong

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON,—Today, ex-Governor O. Max Gardner of North Carolina sails for his new post as American ambassador to the Court of St. James. Ambassador Gardner has done a lot of varied and difficult things in his life, from hoeing corn to running the United States treasury, but this is the first time he has tried his hand at diplomacy.

It is not, however, the first time he has visited England. Exactly 42 years ago, Max landed in England under somewhat different circumstances. He had crossed on a cattle boat as "nursemaid" to 500 sea-sick steers. (His old friend, Bob Reynolds, later Senator from North Carolina, had recruited Max as a cattle hand and then bossed the job.)

Arriving in London on the day the British were holding memorial services for the late U. S. Ambassador John Hay, Gardner hailed a hansom cab and drove out to St. Paul's Cathedral to attend the ceremony. En-route he got into conversation with the cab driver who inquired regarding the identity of John Hay.

Gardner might have explained that Hay was former secretary of State and former ambassador to Great Britain. Instead, he replied: "Hay is the man who wrote 'Little Breeches'."

Loafing Around Throne

Then the future U. S. ambassador to Great Britain recited from memory John Hay's famous poem, "Little Breeches," the story of an Indiana youngster who got lost in a snowstorm when his team stampeded and was finally found asleep in a haymow. The last stanza concludes:

"How did he get thar? Angels.
He could never have walked in that storm;
They jest scooped down and toted him
To whar it was safe and warm.
And I think that saving a little child,
And fotching him to his own,
Is a darned sight better business
Than loafing around the throne."

Little did the 23-year-old Gardner dream, as he recited "Little Breeches" to that London hansom driver, that 42 years later he was to be selected as he now describes it, to "loaf around the throne."

The fact that Ambassador Gardner has the sense of humor to tell this story on himself, however, indicates that he will come close to being another John Hay at the Court of St. James.

Righting An Old Wrong

Secretary of War Patterson has a long memory when it comes to mistakes—especially if he makes them himself. When Patterson makes a mistake, he will do his best to rectify it.

Probably it was a lucky thing for GI's that Patterson pulled a boner about Army discharges in a press conference on Guam. For, having made an error, Patterson did his best to make it up to the GI's and the special board to revamp the caste system was one result.

Earlier, the Army made a bad mistake on long-range pursuit planes. Major de Seversky, the hard-hitting ex-Russian flier, had begged and implored the Air Corps to build long-range fighter planes, also urged armor plate for bombers. In return he got a slap in the face from General Hap Arnold, then chief of the Air Corps.

Later, Pearl Harbor caught us with no long-range fighters and with only a start toward putting armor plate on bombers. The mistake not only delayed the war, but cost lives.

Secretary Patterson was not responsible for that mistake, but realizing it had been made, he set out to rectify it. Toward the end of the war he called in Major de Seversky, asked him to undertake an all-battle-front study of U. S. air services.

And to further atone for the kicking around given to de Seversky, Patterson today is giving him the Medal of Merit for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service to the United States."

Note—Speaking of rectifying mistakes, Air Force officers this week take exception to a recent statement in this column that the Air Forces aren't enthusiastic over their sub-Cabinet rank in the proposed Army-Navy merger. They state that, on the contrary, they are delighted to accept this arrangement. The column is glad to make this correction.

Bilbo's Next Move

Senator-elect Theodore G. Bilbo, of Mississippi, now drawing his monthly salary of $1,250 while rendering no service to the Nation; is sure to get an additional 30 days in which to recuperate—at the expense of the taxpayer, of course.

On January 4, the Senate, by unanimous consent, laid Bilbo's contested credentials on the table for a period of 60 days.

This backstage arrangement had been worked out GOP and Democratic leaders after Bilbo told Dixie colleagues he was "flat broke and in desperate need of hospitalization." Both sides accepted the compromise in order to break a filibuster at the very opening of the 80th Congress.

Bilbo's 60 days "on the table" expires March 5 and he is slated to appear in the Senate March 6 to take his oath and seat, something GOP leaders now find it expedient to postpone for at least another 30 days.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, has calculated that at just the time Bilbo is due to appear, the Senate will be debating major labor legislation which he very much wants the Senate to pass prior to March 31—the date on which John L. Lewis' strike "truce" expires. The last thing Taft wants at this time is a Bilbo filibuster.

Therefore, Sen. Alben Barkley will ask and obtain unanimous consent to carry Bilbo on the payroll for another thirty days on the ground that another month is necessary for Bilbo's recuperation.

Labor Law Foreseen To Make Private Ownership Workable

By MARK SULLIVAN

Both the big national labor organizations, CIO and AFL, oppose the labor legislation now being formulated, as a matter of course. Of the two, AFL is more temperate. On past occasions, when the House made attempts to amend the Wagner Act (all of which were frustrated), AFL recognized the need of modifying the Act. This does not alter AFL's present deep concern about the legislation now being written. Its attitude, however, is not one of undiscriminating opposition to anything and everything. Carefully stated objections by AFL to some details, such as the proposal to forbid the closed shop completely, will get open-minded consideration in Congress.

Congress makes a distinction between AFL as a national body and the actions of some of its constituent unions. On two occasions Congress has enacted statutes aimed directly to restrain practices of some AFL unions. Nor is the disposition in Congress to listen understandingly to AFL reduced by the fact that Mr. John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers are now a part of that body. Actions of Mr. Lewis, especially the strike last fall which the Administration regarded as a strike against the government, were a large part of the precipitating cause of the present legislation. But Congress thinks of Mr. Lewis as an individual, one who goes his own way and tries to be a law unto himself. So far as it associates Mr. Lewis with either of the big national organizations, it is more likely to remember that he was the organizer of CIO and for five years its head.

Early CIO Attitude Bitter

The early attitude of CIO toward the proposed labor legislation was one of headlong hammer-and-tongs opposition. In January it put out a letter by CIO Head Philip Murray, addressed to every member of Congress, accompanying a pamphlet to which CIO gave the title "The Drive Against Labor." The outgiving was dotted with such phrases as "legislation to destroy American unionism," "false issues," "attack of reaction," "tactics of tyranny," "tissue of fabrications."

This was not likely to ameliorate the temper of a Congress which already had strong feeling about CIO. The spirit in which CIO was addressing a new Congress, committed by the November elections to writing new labor legislation, was the same it had practiced toward the former Congress. Congress remembers the raucous drives of CIO, against measures it disapproved, in behalf of measures it wanted. It remembers that, before the election, CIO dedicated itself to defeat of certain members, and to election of members endorsed.

Congress Line of Thinking

Congress thinks of CIO—and CIO has invited it to so think—as not merely a labor organization in the ordinary sense. It thinks of CIO as being, through its Political Action Committee, a political organization which concerns itself with matters outside the field of labor. This accounts for the difference in attitudes on the part of Congress toward CIO and AFL. In Congress, and in the country, CIO is due for a rough time. It is a question whether, in order to survive as a labor organization, CIO may not be obliged to dissociate itself from the widespread political activities of its Political Action Committee.

The central fact which will determine what Congress does is that it does not feel any need to defer to either CIO or AFL. Within Congress the majority favoring legislation is so large that it can write its own ticket. Nevertheless it will give attention to arguments from labor, so far as they deal intelligently and sincerely with one aspect of proposals, the workability of them.

Underlying all that Congress does about all that it will deal with, labor and everything else, is one broad point of view. It is determined that America is to be a country in which industry and business are carried on upon the traditional American economic system of private ownership. It was a question whether private ownership could function successfully and survive, with labor-management relations as they were under existing statute, and administrative practices and court decisions which had arisen under the existing laws. Congress is determined to enact such changes as will make private ownership workable. At the same time it is on guard against making any innovations which might raise new impediments to workable labor-management relations.

New Dealism Still Spreads Its Socialistic Aims Over Capital

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—Now that it seems apparent that there will be a substantial cutting of the federal budget, a significant controversy has arisen over the question of whether to make a flat percentage reduction in taxes or to graduate it so that the lower income groups will get the maximum benefit.

What is significant about it is that New Dealism still spreads its socialistic flavor over the Washington scene. So many Washingtonians, including some Republicans, have been indoctrinated with the idea that the tax system should be used either for punitive purposes or to bring nearer the days of state socialism that the advocates of a free enterprise system and a system of taxation primarily for revenue purposes find themselves up against the same insidious propaganda as was prevalent before the radicals were repudiated in the 1946 elections.

The proponents of the graduated scale of reductions are sending forth the usual demagogic arguments that there are more votes in the lower brackets and that the so-called "rich" would be too much benefitted by a "straight across the board" cut. The reading public, who for the most part do not know the facts about taxes in relation to business, are led to believe that there are no arguments on the other side at all.

During the war the incomes of taxpayers in the middle and upper brackets were cut proportionately deeper by taxes than those of any other group and it is, therefore, only equitable that the relationship between rates should go back to the peacetime pattern.

Actual Amount Relatively Small

Actually, the amount of money involved in a flat percentage reduction "straight across the board" is relatively small but the principle back of the idea of treating everybody alike and removing the penalties on thrift and enterprise is far more important.

It is to the interest of sponsors of state socialism and to the communists to break down the private enterprise system in America. One way to do it is to destroy incentive and level off everybody's income so that when business expansion is balked and there is depression the state steps in and, by "pump priming," adds to the public debt, making it possible for the administration which hands out the money to continue in power and pursue revolutionary schemes.

Ever since the New Deal began in 1933, the tax system has been abused. It has been utilized to persecute the successful and to penalize leadership. There were times when even the language of the advocates of governmental intervention in private affairs was unashamedly the language of "revolution," in which the end is supposed to justify the means.

The national capital still contains, inside and outside of government, the devotees of New Dealism who look askance at the idea of treating rich and poor alike, not only on taxes but in the courts. Class prejudice is so deeply ingrained that Republicans now are being told they do not dare vote for a flat percentage reduction in taxes lest they be punished at the polls.

Incentive Needs Be Encouraged

The truth is business expansion and the creation of jobs and the development of technological improvements in production so as to help bring prices and the cost of living down depend on what incentive there is for the white-collar workers of America—the business management and professional class. The number of persons who derive their incomes from clipping coupons is too small to be a factor in deciding a broad policy of incentives as against those who earn their incomes themselves.

It is being said in some quarters that when the Republicans reduced the surtaxes in the 1920's a boom ensued and a terrible depression followed—as if there was any connection whatsoever between the two things. Actually, the government collected more rather than less revenues in the 20's when it changed the tax rates so as to introduce new incentives. Actually also, the panic of 1929 was to a large extent the result of the speculation of the little fellow in the markets and was due to the fact that there were no laws to control effectively the issuance and sale of securities. To say that the economic upheaval of 1929 and 1930 was due to some tax law in the United States is to ignore the conditions then prevailing in Europe as well as the specluative fever of persons of small income.

Much Distortion Will Be Heard

But in the next few months such distortions will be heard again and again. The test will come when the conservative Republicans and the conservative Democrats are challenged to stand up for incentives in the private-enterprise system as against the demogoguery involved in a plan to remove millions of persons from the tax rolls altogether so that as citizens they will contribute nothing to their national government. The issue may appear to be political, but it is basically economic. If the socialistic theory or levelling off and standardizing everybody's pay is to prevail—as advocated by industrial unions in the matter of wages—then the craft workers of the AFL and the non-organized professions have much to fear from any legislative support for such a doctrine. If incomes must be brought down constantly to a lower and lower level of standardization irrespective of thrift, ingenuity, resourcefulness or ability, the rest of the road to communism is not distant.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

If everything written about the housing problem were pounded into pulp and rolled out in inch-thick slabs, there would be material for enough pre-fabricated houses to solve the shortage.

The experts have suggested everything from abandoned viaducts to hollowed-out tree trunks. Everything, it seems, except building houses. These higgledy-piggledy solutions remind me of a story. Congressional Record please copy.

Billy Rose

A soda jerk named Homer Schnook had a terrible ringing in his ears. He mentioned it to the fellow who made the sandwiches.

"Maybe your mother was frightened by a telephone," cracked his friend. "If I were you, I'd go and see Dr. Guelph."

Schnook did. "I've got an awful lot of ringing in my ears," he told the doctor.

"Hrumph," said Dr. Guelph. "strip."

He gave Schnook a careful going over, took pictures of his chest, and tapped him with a little hammer.

"Go to the hospital immediately," said the doctor. "Report to surgery. I'll have to collapse a lung."

Schnook hurried to the hospital and was wheeled to the operating room, where Dr. Guelph went to work. The operation was a great success. Three weeks later the patient was discharged.

The next day he was back at the doctor's office. "Lungs feel fine," he told the medicine man, "but I still got an awful lot of ringing in my ears."

"Hrumph," said the doctor. "Strip." This time Dr. Guelph made him swallow a lighted bulb, and measured his head with calipers. "Report to surgery immediately," he said. "I'll have to remove part of your skull, and replace it with plastic."

"Holy smoke!" said Schnook. "Is such an operation possible?"

"That," said Dr. Guelph cheerfully, "is what we're about to discover."

Schnook was under the ether for 14 hours. As Guelph's skillful fingers removed a piece of skull and replaced it with a piece of plastic bearing the duPont label, the assistants and nurses broke into a low cheer.

Two months later, the soda jerk walked out of the hospital. When Dr. Guelph got to his office the next morning, Schnook was sitting on the doorstep.

"My head feels fine," he told the doctor, "but I still got an awful lot of ringing in the ears."

"Hrumph," said the doctor. "Strip." When the examination was finished, Dr. Guelph looked very grave. "It's your stomach," he said. "It's got to come out."

The operation took 20 hours. Doctors came from several states and sat in tiers like at a bullfight to watch. When Dr. Guelph triumphantly waved Schnook's stomach aloft, the operating room sounded like the Yale bowl after a hundred yard run.

When the patient come to, he said, "How can I ever repay you for what you've done?"

"By cash, check or money order," said the doctor crisply.

"When will I get the bill?" asked Homer Schnook.

"Later," said Guelph. "You're not strong enough for that yet."

Six months later, Schnook left the hospital, walked three blocks, turned left, and went right into Dr. Guelph's office. He stripped as he walked up the stairs.

"I've got an awful lot of ringing in the ears," he said, softly.

The doctor examined him and shook his head sadly. "Medical science can do no more for you, my boy," he said. "How did you ever get in such shape?"

"Darned if I know," said Schnook.

"I may as well be frank with you," the doctor went on. "You don't figure to live more than six months."

Schnook took it well. "If that's how it's got to be," he said, "I may as well have a little fun. Ive saved up a couple of thousand, and I'm going to have myself a time. Clothes, girls, everything."

The soda jerk went straight to the the finest haberdashery in town. "Shirts, socks, ties," he announced. "Best you've got. Let's start with shirts—custom-made."

The proprietor himself took the measurements.

"Thirty-four sleeve," he sang out.

"Thirty-four sleeve," repeated an assistant.

"Thirty-six chest."

"Thirty-six chest."

"Fifteen-and-a-half neck."

"Fifteen-and-a-half neck."

"Hold on a minute," said Schnook. "I take a size fourteen."

The proprietor looked at the tape measure. "Fifteen and a half," he insisted.

"I don't care what the tape measure says," Schnook protested. "I've been wearing fourteen shirts for 20 years."

The proprietor sighed. "You can have a fourteen collar if you want it," he said, "but you're going to have an awful lot of ringing in the ears."

Dr. Anderson Talks To B And P Women On Health Program

The Business and Professional Women's Club had Dr. Richmond Anderson as the guest speaker at its regular dinner-meeting, Tuesday night at the Y. The program was under the direction of the Health committee, Miss Anne Tennant, chairman.

Dr. Anderson, a representative of the Public Health Service, used as his topic, "Nutrition in Relation to Public Health." Dealing mainly with school children, the speaker explained that a study is being made from a physical standpoint, laboratory testing and diet records.

He noted as facts of interest brought out in the study in physical testing in Cumberland a noticeable number of rickets; changes in the tongue caused by a lack of vitamin B; and decayed teeth. Dr. Anderson pointed out that of two schools examined in Cumberland, one showed 92 per cent of teeth decay and the other 93 per cent; according to laboratory testing anemia showed positive, a lack of vitamin C.

After summarizing these points he placed emphasis on the study of teeth. Dr. Anderson stated that the surveys showed that nutrition was not in the primary building. This was discovered after making a study in India, North Carolina and Mexico, where evidence showed that florine prevents decay; good teeth may be a racial factor; and too much sugar and carbohydrates cause decay.

As a final conclusion the speaker emphasized the fact that dental care is not sufficient. Cleaning teeth improves the gums, but does not prevent decay and urged an educational program for better understanding of the care of teeth to prevent decay.

Miss Anna Nicht presided at the short business session following the program. Major legislation problems, which are to be supported by the Business and Professional Women's Clubs were discussed and committee reports were given.

A which time the local members distributed packages of oranges, writing paper and cigarets to several hundred of the 425 veterans there. She reported a request that members write to the boys who have no immediate families; and suggested they send occasional gifts to them, as part of the unit's rehabilitation program.

THOSE ONLY LOVE—

Those only love
Who dare to let love go.

The basic laws of life
Are few and simple
As the soil
To love—
To share—
And walk in tolerance,
Arming ourselves
Against our natural fears
And weaknesses
With fighting faith—
These are the ventures
All great souls must make
And of them all
The greatest is to love.

But love is not
The easy thing we think—
It does not mean
That we may have or hold
For our own pleasure
Or our private gain—
Love is a service,
Not a slavery—
And those who try to use it
As a tool to power
Defile its purpose
And defeat its aim.

Those only love
Who dare to let love go.

No life, however dear,
Should bear our brand.
No bond bestows
The grim authority
To shape or bind
Another's destiny.
Each mortal has the right
To seek the truth
By his own inner light
And mold himself
Within his own design
For weal or woe.

Those only love
Who dare to let love go.

We may walk through
Our life times
Side by side,
Our interests wedded
In one happy dream,
But always there are
Unseen walls
Which must divide
Each separate soul.
Walls which we reverence
If we truly care.

Those only love
Who hold love free as air.

And when the time has come
To step beyond that veil
Which parts these shadows
From another dawn,
If we clutch or wail
Or wring our empty hands
In hopeless pain
We fail them cruelly.
We have not lost them
For they were not
Ours to lose—
They were their own;
They go upon the rightful
Trail of their release.
We have but one last gift,
One final proof of love,
To let them pass in peace.

They only love
Who let their love
Go free!

The Valley Road Homemakers Club formulated plans for two meetings in March, at the regular session yesterday at the Girl Scout Little House, with Mrs. John S. Cook, Sr., presiding.

The 21st anniversary of the club will be celebrated with a special program, March 5, at the Little House, after which the monthly meeting will be held.

Mrs. E. C. Ford, Garden chairman, announced that the annual Garden Club meeting would be held March 26. It will be at Mrs. Cook's home in Bowling Green, and will be an all day affair, beginning at 10:30 in the morning, with a covered dish luncheon at noon.

The meeting opened with the group singing of "America," and "God of Our Fathers," the latter, the hymn the club will sing in the Homemakers pageant, "Hands Around the World," May 5. Mrs. George Kraft directed the singing with Mrs. Frank Perdew at the piano.

Roll call was answered with "household problems". Among the outstanding suggestions made was the use of old wax candles, for polishing hardwood floors, for ironing, or to melt to mold wax flowers. The principal cause of cocoanut custard pies "running" was given as either too much sugar or too hot an oven.

After Mrs. Cook opened the meeting with a poem "My Choice," reports were given. Mrs. E. C. Kilroy, for the auditing committee; Mrs. William J. Edwards, the executive meeting of the County Council; and routine reports by Mrs. Theresa Coleman and Mrs. G. Frank Malin.

Miss Maude A. Bean gave an illustrated talk on a kitchen-laundry combination and outlined the 10 essentials for step savings, with basic work centers in the kitchen.

Twenty-eight members and one guest, Mrs. Alice Scott attended.

Handwork Marks Omicron Meeting

Needlework and making favors for the Valentine dance featured the program at the meeting of the Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Tuesday night at the Girl Scout little house.

Mrs. Hary Bowman presided and as part of the educational program members worked on needlepoint, knitting and crocheting.

The Valentine dance will be held February 14, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Mrs. Ambrose McKenzie is chairman of arrangements. Her committee includes Mrs. John Lyons, Mrs. James Rice and Miss Helene Shultz. Guests will be received by Mrs. Clifford E. Gainer, social sponsor and Miss Catherine Lippold, director.

Officers Club Plans Chapter Anniversary

Plans for the 46th anniversary of McKinley Chapter, OES were discussed at the meeting of the Collins-Schanning Officers Club Tuesday night.

A social concluded the evening and Mrs. Emma Miller won the award for bridge; Frank Kautz, setback; and Mrs. Dorothy Cornwell, 500. The Valentine motif was carried out in the decorations. Mr. and Mrs. David Allender, Mrs. Rose Kautz and Mrs. Bernadette Williams was in charge.

AFL Council Raps Anti-Labor Bills, Winds Up Session

Arbitration Tribunal System Is Endorsed

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP) — The AFL Executive Cuncil voted today to utilize fully all the "resources and facilities" of the AFL to fight off anti-labor legislation but moved to cut down the number of strikes with a system of arbitration tribunals.

The council concluded one of its shortest winter meetings on record with a severe attack on congressional and state legislative proposals to restrict unions. A three-man committee was clothed with full authority to conduct the fight.

Green Heads Commitee

AFL President William Green, heading the committee, told a news conference that using the AFL's entire resources might include mass meetings or demonstrations on a grand scale. Green averted a direct answer about the possibility of a general strike as a demonstration against the harsher measures now pending in Congress. He said the committee would decide what to do.

With him on that committee are William L. "Big Bill" Hutcheson, head of the carpenters, and George Meany, AFL secretary-treasurer.

Despite the militant resolution adopted by the council on legislation, it got behind an arbitration plan proposed by the Screen Actors Guild at the October AFL convention—but applied it to all industry.

Will Contact Unions

Green is to contact every national and international union in the AFL to enlist their efforts to set up arbitration tribunals in their particular industries along the lines announced by President Truman last Saturday for the building and construction industry.

The intermittent jurisdictional strikes in Hollywood led to the actors' plea to the convention. The council took the second step today by authorizing Green to request all unions to see what could be done to create voluntary arbitration plans to insure peace for themselves.

The legislative resolution bore the unmistakable markings of a John L. Lewis product.

Truman Offers Proposal On Presidency Succession

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) —President Truman asked Congress again today to change the 60-year-old law of succession for the presidency, and Republican leaders, though undecided on the best formula, promised quick congressional action.

Under Mr. Truman's proposal, the succession would fall first to the Vice President—if that office were not vacant as it is now—then to the speaker of the House. Third in line would be the presiding officer of the Senate.

If the President's recommendations are approved, the No. 1 heir to the White House now would be 62-year-old Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, speaker of the Republican-controlled House.

Tributaries Committee is to meet tomorrow to discuss that and the Senate-approved bill to try in Maryland courts all Virginians accused of illegal oystering in the river.

Chairman Brinsfield (D-Dorchester) predicted approval of both the resolution and the bill, with final action by the House to take place next week.

The Senate received from Sen. Stromberg (D-Howard) a bill to curb utility strikes in Maryland. The measure would give the Public Service Commission authority to settle disputes, with compulsory arbitration to follow if the commission could not effect a settlement.

The Senator, a Howard county newspaper publisher, said his bill was intended to avoid anything such as the prolonged power strike in Pittsburgh last fall.

1947 Air Show Being Planned By Jr. Association

The 1947 Cumberland Air Show, sponsored annually by the Cumberland Junior Chamber of Commerce is being planned for June 15, it was disclosed at last night's meeting of th organization at the Shrine Club.

John Chapman, manager of the Cumberland Municipal Airport spoke to the membership and outlined preliminary plans. Chapman said the show should be better than the one presented last year, which attracted the largest crowd ever seen locally, and that a number of new and sensational exhibits are planned.

There was some discussion on means of handling traffic to and from the airport, and representatives of the Jaycees will talk with city officials on the possibility of providing one-way traffic on Virginia Avenue the day of the Show.

David Kauffman, president announced that the Maryland State Jaycee convention will be held here in May, and named John M. Robb, general chairman for the conclave.

A state meeting of Jaycees will be held in Baltimore February 15-16, for officers and committeemen, and a number of local members plan to attend, Kauffman announced.

Plans were also discussed for the Jaycee's annual city-wide Clean-Up Campaign, to be held in Cumberland April 15. More details about the campaign are to be announced later.

A model traffic ordinance has been prepared by the Jaycees Traffic Committee and will be submitted for consideration to city officials.

A number of new members were presented and each was given an opportunity to talk on his "pet projects" for city improvement. Foremost among the ideas projected was a broad recreation program. Next was the local traffic problem, and third the need for more local industries.

Negro Accused Of Rape Removed To Harford Jail

Charged With Attack On Easton, Md., Nurse

EASTON, Md., Feb. 5 (AP)—Officers sped a 20-year-old negro more than a hundred miles to the Hardford county jail at Bel Air early today in face of feeling generated among townspeople by his arrest on a charge of raping a Memorial Hospital nurse.

State's Attorney Harry E. Clark identified the accused as William E. Copper, handyman and war veteran living on the south outskirts of Easton.

State Trooper Charles Pritchett and Sheriff A. Raymond Carroll, of Talbot county, arrested him at his home last night after a sub rosa investigation that started early last Friday morning.

Nurse's Story

Clark said he had pieced together this story of the attack on the nurse:

She came off duty at Memorial Hospital just after midnight Friday morning, got into her car parked nearby, and started driving south toward her home on the Cambridge-Matapeake highway.

About two miles south of Easton, someone grabbed her about the throat from behind and a man's voice demanded that she stop the car or be killed.

A negro climbed into the front seat with her. Later he forced her out of the car and dragged her into the back seat, where he choked her unconscious and attacked her.

After the attack, he forced her back to the front seat and drove south, with one hand around her throat. He then doubled back toward Easton on the old road.

Tumbled Out Of Car

The nurse opened a door and tumbled out of the car when he needed both hands to negotiate a turn and shift gears at the main highway. The car still was going about 25 miles an hour. The nurse somersaulted four or five times into a ditch.

The negro stopped the car, but apparently decided the girl was dead and drove on. She went to a nearby house and called police.

Returned to the hospital, the nurse was treated for lacerations about the neck, and a head wound and severe body bruises, apparently received in the tumble from the car. She remained in the hospital two days.

Bill Would Ban Utility Strikes

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 5 (AP) — Withdrawal of the right of public utility workers to strike in Maryland, with compulsory arbitration as the alternative, was proposed in the State Senate today.

Sen. P. G. Stromberg, Howard county Democrat and newspaper publisher, sponsored the bill which declared in its preamble:

"The State of Maryland, exercising herein its police and sovereign power, declares that the right to strike or threaten to strike in connection with disputes between the owners of public utilities and their employes in order to secure a settlement for adjustments of complaints or demands, is herewith withdrawn, and that procedures for the adjustment of such disputes with due regard to the respective rights of the employees and employers are hereby provided."

Stromberg, who said his measure was aimed at preventing any such tieup as occurred in Pittsburgh last fall, proposed that the Public Service Commission be given jurisdiction in settlement of utility disputes.

Prison Looked Good

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5—(AP)—A man who said he was a fugitive from a Virginia prison camp found the near zero temperature too much for him early today and told police he wanted to go back and "face the music." Patrolman Bert Arnold saw the man, who identified himself as Hugh Grimm Gorbin, 23, standing in a doorway thoroughly chilled.

Two Freed In Fatal Beating Of Veteran

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 5—(AP)—Henry C. Arnold, 44, Paris, and Clifford M. Sanderson, 27, Lexington, charged with murder in connection with the fatal beating of an aged mental patient at the United States veterans hospital here, were acquitted by a federal court jury today.

The men, former employes of the hospital, were accused of beating to death 56-year-old James S. Cuddy, a veteran of World War I from Hazard, Ky.

The Russian delegate, one informant said, accepted the major portions of the French compromise as a working base. This carried a provision for fast action on the stymied atomic report.

Gromyko did object, it was added, to a French suggestion that the council order the military staff committee, comprising representatives of the chiefs of staff of the five great powers, to submit a report within three months. The French were said to have dropped tthat suggestion.

The main points of the French compromise provide for creation of an arms limitation commission to draw up proposals for the Security Council and for the council to take quick action of the Atomic Energy Commission report so that it may instruct the atomic commission on its next phase. The atomic commission presently is marking time.

Pilot Is Killed In Plane Crash

HARRINGTON, Del., Feb. 5—(AP)—A twin-engine plane crashed into a wooded area near here today killing the pilot and injuring the co-pilot.

The dead man was identified by state police as Albert George Buhl, 31, Cortland, N. Y.

The co-pilot, Truman Conell, 31, West Palm Beach, Fla., was taken to nearby Milford Hospital, where attaches were unable immediately to determine the extent of his injuries.

A third crewman, Edward Boyle, North Plainsfield, N. J., escaped injury.

$20,000 Asked For State Parks

State Forester Joseph F. Kaylor said yesterday that plans are being made to handle anticipated record-breaking crowds in state parks during the coming season, and that the Forestry Department has asked the state for $20,000 with which to take care of the park system for the next two years.

Kaylor said the amount would be used for paying guards and other personnel necessary to maintain and police the park areas.

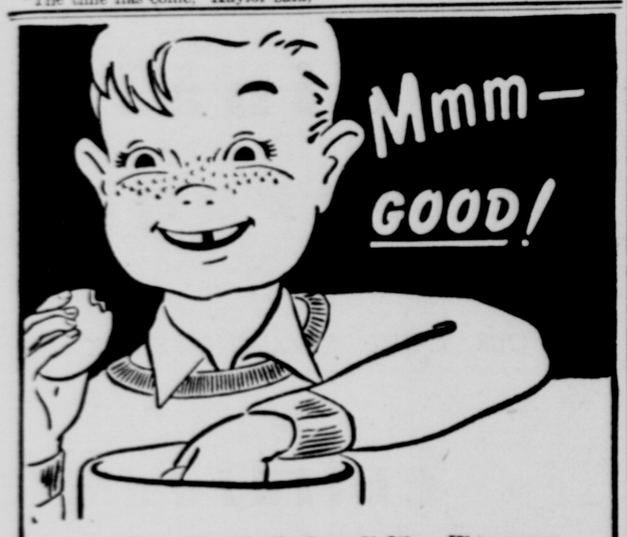

With an appropriation of this amount, Kaylor said his department will be in a position to carry out its obligation in regard to state parks as imposed by law.

If funds are not furnished it may be necessary for the Commission of State Forests and Parks to revert to a parking fee as a means to obtain needed funds, Kaylor said. Several years ago, in the absence of such funds, the commission established a fee of 50 cents for parking on state recreational areas. Since four or five persons ordinarily visit these areas in a single car, the charge would have amounted to hardly more than ten cents per person.

Opposition to the plan was encountered in certain districts, and later on the commission rescinded it, Kaylor said. This was done after assurance had been received from state officials that money would be appropriated from emergency funds. No appropriation was ever made, Kaylor declared. Faced with this situation, the commission may be forced to return to the fee system. "The time has come," Kaylor said, "when responsible state officials should recognize the high social value of public recreational areas and make adequate provision for them. Such a policy is bound to pay dividends in improved public health and morals."

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.
To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Allegany-Garrett Sportsmen Oppose Closing Of College

Eckhart Delegation Backs Resolution

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Feb. 5—The Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association, meeting last night in Firemen's Hall, unanimously approved a resolution offering the complete co-operation of its members to any group appointed by the Mayor and City Commissioners to resist the proposal to have Frostburg State Teachers College abandoned, as recommended in a report recently submitted to Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., by the Maryland Commission on Higher Education.

The meeting was attended by a delegation from the Eckhart Square Circle Association, which also supported the resolution.

During the discussion, the sportsmen were informed that the present site of the college was presented to the State of Maryland with funds donated by citizens of the Frostburg area. The soliciting campaign, they were told, was in charge of the late Charles H. Walker, a former postmaster of Frostburg, and the late Rev. Alexander C. Haverstick, a former rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, who had workers canvass all the stores and private homes in the community and through all the coal mines of the Frostburg area. Merchants and miners alike were generous and when sufficient money was collected, the site was purchased from the Beall estate and presented to the State of Maryland.

Former Mayor Fred Crowe and Hon. Jonathan Sleeman, former member of the Maryland House of Delegates, urged the members of the association to attend all public meetings called for the purpose of protecting the interests of the college.

Following the passage of the resolution, it was recalled that the school, originally established as a State Normal School with a two-year course, was changed to the equivalent of a junior college with a four-year course, by an act of the Maryland General Assembly of 1935, under the administration of the late Gov. Harry W. Nice.

The sportsmen were also informed that many of the students at the college since 1935 attended without pledging to become teachers in the Maryland school system, being able to secure part of their college education at home by paying the required tuition fee. It was also pointed out by Sleeman and Crowe that Frostburg was originally selected as a proper site for the college because of its central location in the county, easily accessible to students from towns of the Georges Creek region and Garrett county.

The association went on record in opposition to Bill S.332 introduced in the United States Senate January 24 by Senator Wiley of Wisconsin. This bill was referred to as a "popgun law," which attacks a citizen's constitutional rights to own firearms. It provides that no citizen may own any gun other than a .22 rimfire rifle or a shotgun, without government permission and that a person cannot buy a gun without securing government permission. The provisions of the bill include search and seizure, with penalties up to a $500 fine and a year in prison.

West Va. Apple Commission Urged

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 5 —(AP)—The West Virginia Horticultural Society approved by an overwhelming voice vote today a proposal for a West Virginia apple commission with power to tax commercial apple production one cent per bushel.

Malcolm M. Brown, Martinsburg, presented the committee report on the proposed bill, which originated at last year's session of the society.

Cecil W. Wood, local producer, declared the bill was "coercion," with more at stake than the apple industry. The bill is now before the Agriculture Committees of the Legislature.

Attendance at the 54th annual two-day meeting of the society was cut down to approximately 250 growers largely as a result of near-zero temperatures.

The proposed apple commission bill calls for a five-man board of growers appointed by the Governor to conduct an apple promotion campaign.

Dr. E. C. Sherwood, plant pathologist from Winchester, Va., warned growers today against a recurrence of cedar rust due in the area this year. He said leaf roller disease also would present a major problem, worse than the coddling moth destruction, which has been considerably checked by DDT.

President J. Howard Rannells, Romney, presided at the session.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Aldridge, West Loo street, at which time each member will present an original valentine.

Frostburg Personals

Miss Mildred E. Willison, supervisor of county elementary school teachers, and Miss Virginia Boyle, Mt. Savage, a teacher at the Oldtown School, were visitors today at Beall Elementary School.

Miss Eva H. Jeffries, West Main street, is a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where she was admitted Sunday night.

Miss Estelle D. Williams, a seventh grade teacher at Beall Elementary School, is ill at her home, Maple street. Her position is being filled temporarily by Mrs. Sue Kreider.

N. And W. To Modernize Line In West Virginia

ROANOKE, Va., Feb. 5 (AP) —Norfolk and Western Railway officials announced here today an estimated $12,000,000 improvement and modernization program on its main line in the mountains of West Virginia.

The project, expected to get under way in mid-summer of this year, includes the re-locating and building of 5.27 miles of new line between Lick Branch and Cooper, 11 miles west of Bluefield, W. Va., the construction of a new, double track tunnel 6,900-feet long and the elimination of historic Elkhorn tunnel; the erection of two new steel bridges and the rebuilding of a third. Four Cases Are Disposed Of In Court At Keyser

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 5 — Four cases were disposed of in Circuit Court here today. The first was the State vs. Raymond W. Orndorff, in which the State sought to confiscate a 1938 sedan in which Orndorff was alleged to have had more than one gallon of intoxicating liquors when arrested and tried for driving the car while intoxicated, in June 1946.

The arrest was made by Constable Barncord in Frankfort District. Orndorff appeared before C. A. Jewell, justice of the peace, in Ridgeley and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was assessed a fine of $100 which was paid. His car was impounded for a period of six months and his license revoked for a like period.

The West Virginia Liquor Commission claimed that having liquor in the car in a quantity exceeding one gallon was sufficient cause for the permanent confiscation of the car. The case was presented to the jury and verdict denying the right of confiscation was returned.

The contest between E. G. Kimmell and R. P. Hott involving damages in the sum of $25 allowed Kimmell by George C. Ludwig, Justice of the peace, was appealed to the court. A settlement was reached outside of court and the case ordered dismissed.

In a paternity case between Helen Ferrebee vs. Herbert J. Russell, the defendant Russell agreed to pay $600 for the support of the child. It was agreed by the plaintiff Helen Ferrebee that the payment of that sum would satisfy all obligations of the defendant Russell. The case was dismissed.

Andrew J. Landis, the defendant in a paternity case, agreed to pay $500 for the support of a child born to Dorothy Mae Pyles, who agreed to accept that payment as fulfilling the obligation of the defendant Landis. The case was dismissed.

The Mineral County Farm Women's Council has published and distributed a 39 page booklet covering the plan of work for the county organization and the several clubs of the county. In addition the personnel of the state organization, the county organization and the community clubs including the membership roll of each club is given.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5.—Charles Vidor made his first appearance today at Columbia Studios since his law suit with Harry Cohn which brought nation-wide publicity. I'll say for Columbia everything possible was done to ease any embarrassment for their $2,500 a week director. Charles did all his business with Ben Kahane, who offered him scripts from three other studios. None of them met with Vidor's approval. He said he'd do them but he wasn't interested. So now he'll stay at Columbia.

Judy Garland

Columbia is giving Vidor "The Man From Colorado" the story which Eddie Goulding worked on and which will star Glenn Ford and Melvyn Douglas. Jules Shermer is the producer.

There's not a very friendly feeling existing between Vidor and Ford since Ford was Cohn's witness, but Glenn asked that they let bygones be bygones and everybody do the best he can. I hope it isn't true that Vidor is taking his case to a higher court. That's an argument that should have been settled behind the studio walls and not with the public listening in.

I had a tear in my eye after I read Ann Warner's enthusiastic letter from Cannes. Ann said, "this spot is so beautiful and Grace Moore has been so sweet to Jack and me. She is urging us to buy a place near her villa which is really beautiful. But of course, California is our home."

The letter was written the day before Grace's death.

The Warners leave this month for home and Hollywood after four months in France and England.

Chatter in Hollywood: When Judy Garland and Vincente Minnelli had a little family argument, such as go on in American homes everyday, Judy couldn't have been more surprised to have everyone telephoning to ask if she and Vincente had separated.

I think that query, more than anything else, showed both Judy and Vincente that you just can't have a family spat in Hollywood without the whole world looking in as referee. You could battle in Podunk or Keokuk, Iowa, or elsewhere without a ripple, but let there be even an argument in Hollywood and it becomes front page news.

At least 10 people called to ask me if I'd heard that Judy and Vincente had separated. Separated my eye. Those two are in love. It's only the people who really are in love who quarrel now and then.

Those swanky new offices being redecorated on the Ben Bogeaus lot are for Ida Lupino who moves over to General Service Studio as a producer as well as star.

She and Ben have formed the Arcadia Productions, with Ida set for one film a year for the next three years. They have not yet selected Ida's first.

I'll say for Bogeaus that he tries to keep his stars happy by letting them have their say about their movies. Gregory Peck has a "piece" of "Macomber Affair" and Burgess Meredith is co-producer of "A Miracle Can Happen", and several other pictures he's made with Ben.

Very unhappy indeed was my friend William Burnett, the author, when he telephoned to me today.

He said. "why, we're going to have 'Vendetta' out in another two weeks. We spent three months remaking it."

Was my face red? He says Stuart Heisler did re-make the picture as I said, for Howard Hughes, but it's all been done and the new stuff is all right with Hughes. Is this all right with you, Billy?

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Virginia Cherrill (Lady Jersey) arrives in Hollywood this week. Through some complication or other she was unable to get her expected divorce from her wealthy English husband.

The William Goetzs have given up all hope of building for the present. They have just bought the Ann Miller-Reese Lewellyn Milner mansion, which was vacated when Ann left her very rich husband.

Dolores Moran, who has been sick ever since she and Ben Bogeaus came back from the east, may go to the Mayo Clinic. She is suffering from an allergy which brings on terrific sinus headaches.

Jerrilyn Jessel, age five, accompanied by Papa George called on Eddie Cantor to wish him a happy birthday. She presented Eddie with a leather case containing two pictures, both of Al Jolson, with the inscription "America's greatest entertainer."

The career of Mrs. Dick Haymes, which at one time caused a separation, is once more in jeopardy. Mrs. Haymes is expecting her third baby so she will retire as Joanna Dru.

While in New York, Jimmy Stewart made a wonderful impression on the press with his speech at the first dinner of the Air Force Association. General Doolittle was the host of the evening.

The Sunday quietness at a Sunset Strip Cafe was considerably shaken when Joan Caulfield and Greg Bautzer walked in and soon behind them came Joan Crawford and Freddie De Cordova. Needless to say, they did not sit together.

Same night, Keenan Wynn and Marie Windsor at Ciro's.

Bing Crosby at a stag dinner with the four little Crosby's at Arthur, formerly Otto's. All five ordered heman steaks and all five had more fun.

That's all today.

MALVERN, England (AP) — A schoolmarm has recommended that the British boys ought to share dishwashing and baby minding chores with their sisters so the girls would have a chance to invade such manly avocations as woodworking.

The teacher, Miss M. E. Marsh, won adoption by the National Union of Women Teachers' Conference of her resolution urging the same school training for both boys and girls.

"Boys and girls both should have a general training in all subjects—domestic science, needlework, woodwork and general science," she argued.

Deaf Whistle Tester

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP) — Nick San Fillipo, a deaf mute celebrated his 25th anniversary — as chief whistle tester of toy electric trains. San Fillipo, employed by the Lionel Corporation, "hears" the whistles with his fingers by feeling the vibrations.

West Virginia Stream Pollution Report Made

The West Virginia Water Commission has reported to Gov. Clarence W. Meadows that satisfactory progress is being made toward the elimination of pollution in the Eastern Panhandle.

The commission, headed by E. W. Buchanan, Huntington, reports that the Potomac River Area in West Virginia is not contributing nearly the amount of other states in the basin.

The report praises a new, modern sewage treatment plant in Romney which has remedied "serious stream-pollution conditions originally created by the raw sewage from this municipality."

Brunswick B. And O. Worker Is Injured

Ross Working, 46-year-old Brunswick B. and O. worker, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for treatment and X-rays of undetermined injuries suffered when he fell in the cab of a locomotive. His condition was satisfactory.

Raphael H. Grabenstein, 37, Oldtown Road, was treated Tuesday night in Allegany Hospital for a severe laceration of the right wrist. Attaches said he was cut by a pane of glass on the seat of the Cement Products Company truck he was driving.

Thomas Griffith, 32, Route 2, received treatment early yesterday for dog bite wounds of both legs. He was able to return home.

A schoolboy, Kent Powell, 12, son of J. W. Powell, 222 Columbia Street, was treated yesterday morning for a left wrist injury sustained in a fall.

Welfare Board

ed one of the little girls was suffering from a hernia.

Yesterday, a representative of the Welfare Board interviewed Mr. and Mrs. Fazenbaker at the County Jail, and they agreed to an operation and medical care for the child. They also agreed to have the Welfare Board provide foster homes for the children for the six months they will be in prison.

Mrs. Westerfeld reported however, that Mrs. Fazenbaker is quite determined that she will start over again and establish a home for her family, and give them proper care, as soon as her sentence is completed.

With the children running around the Court House corridors Tuesday, finally being taken to the basement kitchen in the County jail, and numerous officials trying to find a place for them for the night, Judge Barnard, Sheriff Edward R. Muir, his four deputies, Probation Officer Hugh Hotchkiss, Chief of Police Burza Hanlin of Westernport, Mrs. Westerfeld, and numerous others expressed the opinion that the Board of County Commissioners should act to prevent situations such as this by providing a Juvenile Home in the county.

Judge Blames County

Judge Barnard declared, "the people of Allegany County should rise up and demand the establishment of a detention home for juveniles in the county that would put an end to the necessity of incarcerating small children in the county jail." He added that the county-owned property across the street from the Court House, next door to the library, suitable for such a home.

Establishment of this home, he continued, would provide a comfortable place where children could be cared for while the court and its investigators are given ample opportunity to handle every case.

"This would eliminate the necessity of acting hastily, merely to dispose of children," Judge Barnard continued, "and the court would be given time to make more satisfactory disposition of delinquency cases."

Judge Barnard said the County Commissioners have been authorized by the State Legislature to sell bonds up to $100,000 to build, buy or provide such a Juvenile home, but the Board has never appropriated the money or issued the bonds.

The bill Judge Barnard referred to was known as House Bill 756 and was passed at the 1943 session of the General Assembly, and became law on June 1, 1943.

Children Real Sufferers

Judge Barnard, obviously upset by the situation which he has faced on numerous occasions, declared, "it isn't the parents I worry about. Once they are sentenced, they are assured food, clothing, shelter and care. But the children, especially the little ones, are the big problem.

"No one can say what terrible effects may be produced in a child's mind by being taken to a jail," he continued. "I know of no better way to turn citizens into Communists, and to turn children into anti-social individuals, than to continue to send young, innocent children to jails for lack of any better place to put them.

"The County Commissioners definitely should act and act fast in this problem," Judge Barnard stated. Then he referred to the "county building across the street," and declared, "this place could be fixed up at little cost and put into use quickly. The real sufferers are the children, and they are the very ones this court is supposed to protect," he concluded.

ANOTHER COLD WAVE threatens GAS supply!

Once again severe cold weather threatens to imperil gas service throughout this area. Gas supply lines, taxed to capacity even in normal winter weather, are now seriously overburdened as a result of this cold weather. Gas pressures in the lines are running dangerously low.

Remember—there is no shortage of natural gas. There is plenty of gas at the source, in the gas wells of Texas, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The shortage exists in the capacity of the supply and distribution lines that bring the gas from the wells to your home.

Your gas company is doing everything possible to keep up with the ever increasing demand for gas. Our expansion program would have been adequate and in time had it not been for shortages of pipe, fittings, compressors and other vital materials needed to complete our planned expansion of distribution facilities.

In the meantime, during the present shortage—and particularly during this extreme cold weather—it is vitally necessary that everyone cooperate by using less gas. We have already drastically reduced industrial consumption, so this plea is directed at domestic users.

What you do to save gas may not seem a great deal . . . perhaps saving only a few cubic feet. But when you multiply your saving by the saving of your friends and neighbors, and then by thousands and thousands of other gas users—the total can be considerable.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP PREVENT A CRITICAL SHORTAGE

1. Don't use your gas range to heat your kitchen.
2. If you heat with gas, set your thermostat at 65 degrees, still lower at night.
3. Shut off rooms not in use, particularly attics and second floor bed rooms. Place a rug at bottoms of doors.
4. Close bedroom doors at night. Turn off heat by closing registers or radiators.
5. Conserve hot water; use it sparingly. Set your hot water thermostat or flame as low as possible.

Sentinels Top Davis; LaSalle Edges Romney

Fort Hill Cagers Rack Up 14th Win Of Season, 53-31

Freeland And Dean Score 33 Points

DAVIS, W. Va., Feb. 5—Fort Hill High School, of Cumberland, braved the sub-zero blasts of mountainous Tucker county tonight to keep a date with its old rival, Davis High School, and warmed up to the tune of twenty field goals in turning back Coach Bill Talbott's Wildcats by the score of 53 to 31.

The victory gave the Sentinels of Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh a clean sweep of the series, the score of the opener having been 53 to 27. It was also the Cumberlanders' 14th triumph of the season against five defeats.

When the Fort Hill team arrived here for tonight's game the mercury registered 12 degrees below zero. And there came near being no game due to the fact that the local gymnasium is heated by circulating gas heaters and the gas company had requested that gas be conserved due to the low pressure. In view of the fact that Fort Hill had made the long trip the gas company relented and permitted the use of the gas heaters for the varsity game only.

It took Fort Hill a full quarter of the ball game to thaw out as Davis stepped away to a 15-10 lead in the opening stanza. The Marylanders, however, shook loose the icicles and forged to the front at the half, 30-21, and boosted their advantage to 18 points when the third quarter ended, with the count 46-28.

Milford Dean and Elmer Freeland were the main bombardiers for Fort Hill with 17 and 16 points to their credit while Heath racked up 11 for the Wildcats. Good foul shooting marked the game, Fort Hill converting 13 of 20 throws while Davis connected 15 times in 29 tries. Lineups:

Rocky Graziano Will Be Heard By Commission

Boxer Says Attorney Distorted Statement

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—Witnesses from the district attorney's office admitted today that no police were sent out to find the would-be fixers who offered Rocky Graziano $100,000 to throw a fight and that Rocky, himself, had accused an assistant district attorney of distorting his voluntary statement concerning the bribe attempt.

This testimony, following up an admission by Assistant District Attorney Alfred Scotti yesterday that he never took up Graziano's offer to try to point out the attempted bribers, was brought out today as the State Athletic Commission's case against the middleweight title contender for failure to report the offer was completed.

The commission concluded its side of the hearing after calling Scotti, Detective Lieutenant William Grafenecker and Detective John McNichol to testify. Graziano's portion of the case, growing out of an offer to "go into the tank" in his scheduled bout with Ruben Shank last December 27—which never was fought—will begin tomorrow, with Rocky taking the stand, along with his trainer, Whitey Bimstein; his co-managers, Irving Cohen and Jack Healy, and State Athletic Commission Physician Dr. Sym Newman.

Dr. Newman diagnosed the back ailment which forced Rocky to call off the Shank fight as a sacro-iliac condition. Scotti, in his testimony, insisted Rocky told him he used the sore back "as an excuse to pull out of the match."

Most of today's second session of the commission hearing was devoted to attempts by Graziano's attorney, former assistant district attorney Jacob S. Rosenblum, to bring out discrepancies in testimony by the witnesses, to show that Rocky was actually "under restraint" when he was questioned for 17 hours January 25 and 26, despite Scotti's declaration to the contrary, and to elicit testimony that Scotti's contention that Graziano was lying when he said he did not know the would-be fixers by name was solely Scotti's personal belief and not based on factual information.

Stotler's Goal Gives Explorers 33 To 31 Verdict

"Moon" Breaks Tie With 1:15 To Play

ROMNEY, W. Va., Feb. 5—LaSalle High School of Cumberland eked out a 33 to 31 decision over Romney High School tonight when Jack "Moon" Stotler heaved in a corner shot to break a 31-31 deadlock 1 minute and 15 seconds before the final whistle.

Coach "Chuck" Collette's outfit had the better of the argument during the first half, leading 6-5 at the quarter and 17-12 at the intermission, but LaSalle forged to the front in the third quarter at 25-21 only to have Romney come back and make it an even-Stephen affair until Stotler's set shot decided the issue. With slightly more than a minute left to play Coach John J. Long's team "froze" the ball.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Explorers who have been rolling since they caught fire against Allegany High School last Friday night. It was also the 10th win in 19 starts for the Longmen.

Cumberland officials—Van Roby and Fearer—handled the game and called a total of 17 personal fouls —10 on the winners and 7 on the home team.

LaSalle outscored the Pioneers 15 to 12 in field goals but was outpointed at the charity stripe, 7 to 3.

Bobby Vanderhout, the stringbean guard, paced the LaSalle scorers with an even dozen tallies while Karl Muller accounted for eight. Harmison headed Romney with 12 points while Rannells scored eight. Lineups:

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Lem's Dogs vs Thad's Chickens

Running a newspaper, you get to know a lot about human nature.

Thad Phipps was in the other day, all burned up. Wanted me to run an item on how Lem Martin's dog had raided his chickens again, and ought to be put away by law.

I told him: "Lem was in on Saturday. Said you shouldn't be allowed to keep those chickens so close to his house—and in a residential zone, at that."

Thad shuts up right pronto then. And that very evening I see him making his peace with Lem at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern—over a friendly glass of beer.

From where I sit, anyone can find something in his neighbor to complain about. (Some folks may even disagree with Thad's right to enjoy that glass of beer with Lem.) But where would we be if everybody tried to have a law passed against everything they disagreed with? We wouldn't have many neighbors left!

PUPP DECLINES OFFER FROM PRO QUINT

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 5 (AP)—Kentucky Basketball Coach Adolph Rupp disclosed late today that he had declined to consider an offer to coach a Louisville professional team until the end of the current collegiate season.

Rupp said a "very attractive offer" was made by a delegation of men representing the proposed team.

"I told them I felt highly honored but that I was interested now only in directing my entire effort toward bringing the current season to successful conclusion," Rupp said.

Ohio State Grid Coach May Get Colgate Job

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 5 — (AP) — Paul O. Bixler, head football coach at Ohio State University, has been offered a similar position at Colgate University and probably will accept, the Ohio State Journal said tonight.

The offer was made by Athletic Director William A. Reid of the Hamilton, N. Y., school, the Journal said, adding that it learned Reid would make an official statement at 11 a. m. tomorrow on the appointment.

Fred Schott Goes Limit, Loses To Mauriello

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 5 (AP)—Tami Mauriello, 203½, of the Bronx pounded out a ten-round decision over Freddie Schott, 210¼, of Paterson before 3,000 people tonight in the Newark armory.

Is it possible to put FRESH RAW LIVER IN DRY DOG FOOD? yes! BRESKO DOG FOOD NOW HAS IT

We have discovered a special new process, by which we cook fresh raw liver into the famous BRESKO, making it even more palatable and more nourishing than ever.

BRESKO is a correct blend of the needed meat meal vitamins and other essentials.

Don't confuse Fresh Raw Liver with Liver Meal. Fresh Raw Liver is vastly better since the valuable liver juices are preserved. Liver is invaluable for body and blood building in certain dietary deficiencies.

To give your dog the benefit of this essential food to the fullest degree, you must give him BRESKO. He'll like it so well that he'll beg you for more.

Musial Wants Substantial Raise But Declines To Name His Figure

Can't See Eye-To-Eye With Cards' President

BY ORLO ROBERTSON

DONORA, Pa., Feb. 5—(AP)—Stan Musial, having proved he can play first base as well as he operated in the outfield, would like to get some of the big money that is being handed out to baseball stars but so far he and President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals haven't seen it eye-to-eye.

The National League's most valuable player, comfortable as near zero winds whipped around the corners of his little brick home high above the Monongahela River, would not disclose the salary he wanted but added:

"Naturally, I think I am entitled to a substantial increase."

The St. Louis Star - Times had quoted him as saying he had set $30,000 as his minimum price on a one-year contract or "otherwise, I'm afraid I'll not play ball with the Cardinals."

Musial has had two conferences with Breadon, the latest in New York last week end. He plans to leave Friday, with his wife, for St. Petersburg for a short vacation before reporting to training camp March 1.

"I don't anticipate any more from Mr. Breadon until I get to Florida," said Stan. "I know that a player can't report for spring training until he has signed his contract but I am hopeful that we'll come to terms before that time rolls around."

While refusing to give the salary expected, Musial previously had indicated he thought he was entitled to a 100 per cent increase over last year which would put him close to $30,000.

Breadon, who has an established policy of silence on contract matters, stated he had "no comment."

33 Yanks Will Train At Puerto Rico Camp

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP) — Manager Bucky Harris selected 33 players today to open the spring baseball training season of the New York Yankees at San Juan, Puerto Rico, Feb. 15 — concentrating on pitchers with whose work he is not familiar.

Included in the list, however, were such Yankee stars as Floyd Bevens, Aaron Robinson, George Stirnweiss, Charles Keller and Joe DiMaggio.

The balance of the Yankee squad will report at St. Petersburg, Fla., the pitchers and catchers on Feb. 20 and the infielders and outfielders on Feb. 28.

Harris was optimistic over hospital reports on DiMaggio, who underwent an operation for the removal of a spur from his heel.

"He is now walking with a cane," said Harris of his outfielder. "He is anxious to make the trip, but after all, it's his heel, and he knows best what he can do."

Zazula To Aid Aiken

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Alberta Snyder, who passed away ten years ago, February 6, 1937.
We do not need a special day
To bring you to our mind.
The days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
If all the world were ours to give,
We would give it, yes and more,
To see the face of our dear Mother
Come smiling through the door.
By her loving CHILDREN

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Republican Congress And The F.C.C.

About a year ago (March 7, 1946), the Federal Communications Commission issued a report on the public service responsibility of the broadcasters, a document which almost immediately became known as the Blue Book. The Blue Book clearly showed how radio had become increasingly commercial in the five years of war, and went on to remind the broadcasters they had made specific promises in their applications for licenses. When the time came to renew those licenses, the Federal Communications Commission warned that the promises would be compared with the actual performance.

The Blue Book made public a great many things not generally known outside the trade. Among other things, it listed the promises made by broadcasters to devote a specified number of hours to the broadcasting of news, good music, discussion of public issues and to live local talent. These unprofitable programs were the price the broadcaster agreed to pay in exchange for a lease on a chunk of public air, which belongs not to the broadcaster or to the government, but to you and me—the listeners.

The performances listed side by side with these promises were unappetizing. Instead of the church programs, the discussion of public issues, the live local talent, the stations presented hour after hour of recorded Bing Crosby, interspersed with appeals from the Bon Ton Department Store and manufacturers of headache powders.

The Blue Book was the first time the F.C.C. has ever showed its muscles and threatened to use them It gave the broadcasters a bad case of the jitters from which they have not yet fully recovered. Listeners, even those who were not entirely happy about government interference in radio, were heartened at the idea that some of radio's worst excesses might be curbed. Well, a year has passed and it is high time to inquire into the effect of the Blue Book on radio programming.

Unhappily, there haven't been any effects. The F.C.C. has not followed any of the policies it enunciated in the Blue Book and the prospects of these policies ever being carried out are dimmer than ever. The commission has continued with the routine business of renewing licenses as if it never heard of their own document. Not a single license has failed to be renewed. Among the radio stations whose licenses to broadcast were renewed were two, one in Los Angeles, the other in San Antonio, Texas, both of which had been cited in the Blue Book as particularly horrible examples. Though their broadcast log was an almost uninterrupted succession of recordings and spot commercial announcements, they were relicensed.

If the F.C.C. has not dared enforce its policies by now, the chances of their ever being enforced are almost non-existent. The commission's relations with Congress have never been too happy. From the new Republican Congress, the commission may expect outright hostility. At the time the Blue Book was issued, Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican National Committee, bellowed that the F.C.C. was attempting to tamper with the right of free speech on the air. Several other Republicans rumbled along the same lines. This distant thunder was not particularly ominous at the time since the Republicans were then the minority party.

Well, times have changed and the present position of the F.C.C. is precarious. There are several movements afoot in Congress to clip the wings of the commission. No matter which one succeeds, it is almost certain that the F.C.C.'s supervisory powers will be limited considerably.

(This is the first of two articles on the Republican Congress and the F. C. C. The second will appear tomorrow.)

Governor Green's Address To Cancel Haley Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—When Governor Dwight Green of Illinois delivers the address at the annual Lincoln day dinner in Washington Thursday night it will go on the air at 9:30. This means that the Jack Haley show is being cancelled to make way. The Governor's topic is "Reconstruction Problems of 1947."

Another NBC special will be Myron C. Taylor, the president's representative at the Vatican, in a 6:15 report on "present conditions in Italy."

Still another special, this one for MBC at 10:30, is to be a panel discussion on "Business Outlook for 1947" by a group of business paper editors.

Question seeeking an answer in the American Town meeting is "what is the best solution to the Palestine problem?" This ABC 8:30 debate will have four speakers, one of which is to be picked up from London.

Instead of the usual drama, World Security Workshop of ABC at 10 is to have a reading of the recent magazine article by Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war, on "Decision to Use the Atomic Bomb." The narration will be supplied by a single reader, similar to the method used last fall when the story of Hiroshima was put on the air.

Dr. Frank Black, leading the weekly Story of Music concert on NBC at 11:30, is to go into "famous overtures in opera. Among composers to be presented are Mozart, Wagner, and Massenet.

Severe Cold Wave Continues; Some Relief Forecast

Temperatures Are Rising Slowly

A cold wave that engulfed the tri-state area Tuesday afternoon kept the temperature below zero in many sections, but showed some signs of breaking late last night as the mercury made a slow but steady rise.

Throughout Allegany County roads were reported clear, but recurring cloudiness held a constant threat, while in neighboring Garrett County many sections were still suffering from sub-zero weather and light snow flurries were reported.

State police said roads in Garrett were still "icy in spots" and advised motorists traveling on side roads to continue using chains. Temperature readings in Oakland at 10 p. m. were "around zero," and at Big Savage Mountain, where a 12 below was recorded Tuesday night, a warmer but still cold 4 degrees below zero was reported.

Pinzel, where residents shivered under a record low of 18 degrees below the previous night was still suffering from the sub-zero readings but reported the temperature had risen to 10 below at 10 p. m., after hovering around 12 below zero at 6 p. m.

Asked To Conserve Gas

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, fearful of pressure shortage if the cold wave continues, sent out appeals to business houses, using gas fuel to reduce store and building temperatures to between 55 and 60 degrees, and curtailed production in at least three industrial plants in the immediate area.

The Queen City Glass Company, Long, was forced to cease production when the gas fuel was limited and the Celanese and Baltimore and Ohio Boal and Forge Shops, were forced to curtail some production that depends on gas, it was reported last night.

In Cumberland where early readings showed 10 degrees above, near midnight the reading showed a 2 degree rise to "12 above." The skies were reported cloudy, though, and the City Water Department gave indications of damage caused by the previous nights 3 above zero weather, with a report that between 30 and 35 water lines into private homes were frozen Wednesday morning, and at least 15 water meters had to be removed for repairs.

Residents were requested to wrap sacks around water meters in cold basements to keep them from freezing.

Schools Not Affected

High School and elementary principals in both Allegany and Garrett Counties said attendance at school was not effected by the cold wave but some West Virginia and Pennsylvania education centers that use gas heat were asked to close today, gas company officials said in an effort to conserve all of the possible fuel for home use. Cafeterias and water heating units in Allegany County will not be disturbed, however, the officials added.

In Frostburg, police reported that temperatures were around zero, at 11 o'clock last night, but declared it represented a slight rise over 6 p. m. recordings. A high wind was reported blowing along with frequent snow squalls.

Mt. Savage, where residents shivered under 4 below weather Tuesday night, also reported a slight rise at 11 o'clock last night, but declared it was still "zero," accompanied by a fine snow and high wind.

Thomas, W. Va., and Deal, Pa., recorded zero reading at 10 p. m., but earlier reports showed 2 below in Deal and 3 below in Thomas. Both communities were reported "free of snow", and the "wind settling."

At Westernport where firemen answered to calls to extinguish blazes caused by overheated stoves, near-midnight records showed 12 above as compared with zero weather the previous night.

In Davis, W. Va., where the Fort Hill High School Basketball team went to play a scheduled game the weatherman almost forced a postponement, but a last minute decision by gas company officials, permitted school authorities to heat the 12 degrees below zero gym "for the last time until the cold spell breaks."

The weatherman gave some hope to the tri-state area's shivering citizenry also with a prediction of fair and "not so cold today." Friday, however, he says will bring "occasional rains."

State Adjutant Jack Tribby of Baltimore will come here to present the charter and to greet the new members. Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, will have its initiation team present to conduct the ceremony. The team includes Samuel A. Graham, as commander; Paul Weisenmiller, first vice commander; Harry E. Bogler, second vice commander; Clarence A. Eyre, past commander; Earl Brooks, sergeant at arms; Raymond T. Lavall, chaplain and Russell E. Paupe, adjutant.

Arrangements for the dance have been made by Paul Thompson, chairman of the post social committee. Music will be furnished by Arty Brill's Orchestra, and refreshments will be served.

House Passes Bill To End Property Qualifications

House Bill 150 to eliminate the property ownership requirement for qualification as candidates for mayor and councilman for Cumberland, which was introduced by Delegate Charles M. See, was passed yesterday by the House of Delegates and sent to the Senate.

The law in effect now requires that a candidate for mayor must have $1,000 worth of assesssable property for a period of two years next preceding the election and taxes on the property must be paid. The law also requires that a candidate for City Council must have $500 worth of assessable property for a period of two years next preceding the election with taxes paid.

Cumberland Town Meeting Of Air Plans Discussed

Representatives of five local service clubs and three women's civic groups, meeting last night at Station WTBO, discussed preliminary plans to sponsor a series of weekly broadcasts for a Cumberland town meeting of the air.

W. Earle Cobey, president of the Kiwanis Club, presided and outlined the project, and a temporary chairman and steering committee were asked to meet next Monday at 8 p. m. at the radio station to discuss program topics, submit a list of possible moderators for the broadcasts, and make tentative plans for the first program.

Temporary Chairman Named

Mrs. John A. Cupler, II, education chairman of the Cumberland branch, American Association of University Women, was named temporary chairman, Mrs. Aurelia S. Becker of Station WTBO will assist the group with technical details.

Under present plans, it is hoped to begin the series in March, with an introductory program tentatively scheduled for Sunday, March 2. The programs, dealing with topics of interest in Cumberland and Allegany County, will go on the air each Sunday from 4:30 to 5 p. m.

The proposed introductory program on March 2 would consist of a series of questions and answers regarding the nature of the series, which is planned to provide a forum for public opinion on matters of local interest.

At present it is planned to continue the programs for three months, and to resume them next fall if they prove successful. Suggestions for program topics may be submitted to the permanent committee after it is established, and a wide range of speakers is planned.

Mrs. Becker expressed deep interest in the project and promised the support of the WTBO staff in assisting in technical aspects of the broadcasts. She said that the only restrictions from a broadcasting standpoint are that topics be nonsectarian, non-racial, and nonpolitical as far as possible.

Summaries To Be Given

Both sides of each topic will be discussed from prepared scripts. The moderator, who will be selected according to the type of subject to be discussed, will assign various aspects of the topic to the speakers in advance so that a well-rounded discussion will be possible. Summaries of the material will be given at the end of each program.

Mrs. John J. Hafer, president of the AAUW, said she felt she could speak for her organization in approving the project. Mrs. Arthur C. Bright said she would bring the matter up at the executive meeting of the Woman's Civic Club on February 13.

The five service clubs represented at the meeting were the Exchange Club, with John M. Robb, Daniel D'Amicol and George Tederick; the Lions Club, George W. Sellers, president; the Optimist Club, Hugh Funkhouser; the Rotary Club, Porter D. Collins; and the Kiwanis Club, Cobey and William E. Landefeld.

Committees Named

Miss Anne W. Tennant and Miss Anna M. Nicht represented the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Committees of two have already been named by all of the service clubs except the Optimists. They are Robb and Tederick, Exchange Club; Collins and James Perrin, Rotary; James W. Bishop and Norman Goldblatt, Kiwanis; and J. K. Snyder and Alvin E. Yaste, Lions.

Presidents of the organizations and their committees are asked to attend the meeting next Monday. The women's organizations and the Optimist Club will name their committees within the near future.

Mrs. Hafer invited those attending last night's meeting to attend the discussions on recreation and smoke control, sponsored by the AAUW, to be held February 12 and 19, respectively.

Juvenile Home Problem To Be Viewed By Board

Two members of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, in telephone conversations with the News last night commented on the situation created yesterday over publicity given the plight of the Fazenbaker children, after their parents were sentenced to serve six months each for neglecting their family.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president of the Board, said he had read newspaper accounts and realized that this is a deplorable condition, when small children must be placed in the County Jail for lack of other facilities.

He said he recalls that the State Legislature passed a bill authorizing the county to sell bonds up to $100,000 for the purpose of providing a Juvenile Home. But he explained the bill was passed in 1943, during the war, and the county has done no building, and considered no building since then, because of shortage of materials and general conditions. Wilkinson stated that he would prefer to make no further statement until the entire Board had discussed the problem and said, "I will bring it up at our meeting Friday."

Commissioner James Holmes also referred to the fact that the bond issue bill for the home was passed in 1943 during the war and the county has been unable to get material for building since. He declared that the condition as published in the papers is an unfortunate one and ventured the opinion, "I don't think sending able bodied men to jail for failure to care for their children is a good answer. They ought to be made to work and support their family like most people have to do. Situations like this just put their responsibilities on other people."

Commissioner Holmes said he realizes it is the children who suffer most in circumstances of this kind, and he also believes the county must take steps to avoid, if possible, a repetition of such situations.

He explained the board's failure to proceed with building or acquiring a Juvenile home as due to general conditions brought about by the war. He recalled that the previous Board had discussed the problem on several occasions but could not build at that time.

Holmes expressed the opinion that "with the rigid requirements of the state on institutions of this kind, it would be impossible to build anything adequate with $100,000 under present costs."

He stated that there had been consideration given to building a wing or addition to the County Infirmary to care for juveniles, but this program had also been abandoned by the war.

Commissioner Holmes said the Board would probably study the situation and see what can be worked out. There are many problems involved, he concluded, but the little children must not be permitted to suffer, if anything will prevent it.

An effort was made to reach Commissioner William H. Lemmert, the new member of the present board, but he could not be contacted by telephone.

Board Will Study Plane Mill Appeal

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night decided to investigate further the appeal of Mrs. Josephine V. Smith, Flintstone, for an occupancy permit to use Lot No. 529, Potomac Street, for a small planing mill.

Arlie Nelson, a neighbor, raised the question as to whether the proposed planing mill would have the effect of increasing fire insurance rates in the neighborhood, and the board decided to continue the case pending investigation of the matter.

John R. Treiber withdrew his appeal for a permit to use the first story of a two-story brick building at 431-433 North Mechanic street as a storeroom. The board said it could not act on the case because the prospective occupant of the premises was not specified.

Theb oard granted the appeal of Roy A. Combs, 724 Frederick Street, to use a one-story frame building at 335 Bedford street for his electrical contracting business, since the premises are already being used for business purposes and the residential restriction does not apply.

The appeal of Mrs. E. E. Broadrup, filed January 6 and taken under advisement by the board January 22, for permit to use the basement at 609 Kent avenue for a beauty shop, was granted.

Motion For New Trial Filed In Hebner Case

Motion for a new trial was filed in Circuit Court yesterday, by Walter C. Capper and William S. Jenkins, attorneys for the defendants in the appeal case of Charles O. Hebner, 48.

On Monday, a jury returned a verdict ruling that Hebner is totally disabled as the result of an injury sustained February 22, 1943, while employed by the Kelly-Springfield Engineering Company here. The jury also agreed that Hebner had filed his claim for compensation within the required 12 months period. The case had been appealed by Hebner after the State Industrial Accident Commission had ruled against him.

Capper said yesterday defense believes the verdict is not a proper one against the weight of evidence and explained that a motion for a new trial has been filed.

Optimist Club Wants Action On Juvenile Home

The Cumberland Optimist Clui went on record last night at their regular weekly meeting in Central YMCA, favoring a broadened program of recreation in the city and immediate action on the part of county officials to provide a home for juveniles.

After discussing the situation which was reported from Juvenile Court here yesterday, involving the placing of six small children in the County Jail because there were no other emergency facilities available, the club drew a resolution recommending that a civic movement be started to promote a home for Juveniles here.

Members of the club expressed the opinion that some provision should be made to handle emergency situations such as the one which occurred here this week.

A resolution was also passed endorsing the program of the newly formed Recreational Group, of which Edgar M. Lewis is chairman.

Guest speaker at last night's meeting was Rev. Donald Brake, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church.

Speaking on the subject of "Service," Rev. Brake emphasized the task and importance of Service clubs in the community. He said the objectives of these organizations and their interest in community problems, makes for better communities.

The exchange of ideas with clubs of other cities and towns, helps promote progress and advancement. The spread of these community ideas eventually affects the life of the entire nation and if carried through, will spread throughout the world, he declared. "Service and the ideals of Service Clubs," he stated, "put into widespread action will assure permanent world peace and happiness."

Mountain Legion District Shows Membership Drop

The Mountain District, American Legion, composed of posts in Allegany and Garrett counties, is one of two districts in the Maryland Department showing a membership decline on February 1, this year, as compared to the same period last year, a state report shows.

Although seven new posts have received charters in the Mountain District region since February 1, 1946, the membership shows a decrease of 288 members when compared with the same date this year.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, suffered the biggest loss, according to the report as it now has only 826 paid-up members as compared to 1,150 members in good standing on Feb. 1, 1946.

Much of the post's membership drop can be explained, however, by the fact that many of the newly organized posts have caused former Post 13 members to join units nearer their homes. Farrady Post, Frostburg, was next on the list, showing a membership drop of 239 members, leaving 400 former soldiers in good standing in that post.

The only "oldtime" post under Mountain District jurisdiction that showed an increase in members is Proctor-Kildow Post, Oakland, where the February 1 membership of 144 jumped to 187 as of the first of the present month.

The seven new posts that have received charters during the past year represents a total membership of 514. Of these Chilcot-Cresap Post, Cresaptown, is the largest with 130 members while the Grantsville post is second with 113.

LaVale, the newest of the units, which will receive its charter soon, already shows a membership of 35, representing a larger enrollment that the Fulton-Myers Post in this city which dropped from 101 in 1946 to 21 members now on the paid-up list. Fulton Myers is listed as an "old" post, or one that was formed prior to World War II.

Baltimore City District, with 53 posts under its jurisdiction is the only other Maryland district to show a membership decline. In 1946 they reported 8,601 paid-up members as compared with 8,567 at the present time.

Other districts in the state, all of which reported membership increases during the past year include, Southern Maryland, an increase of 401; Western Maryland, 701; North Central, 670; South Eastern Shore, 298; and North Eastern Shore 356.

Extinguish Flue Fires

Central Fire Company extinguished a fire fire at the home of C. A. Luck, 24 Orchard street, last night at 6:30 o'clock.

South End Company extinguished a flue fire at the home of H. W. McCumbee, 637 Maryland avenue yesterday at 3:09 p. m. There was no damage from either blaze.

County Liquor Law Termed Invalid In Case Before Court Of Appeals

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 5—(AP)—Allegany county's 13-year-old liquor law was attacked as unconstitutional before the Court of Appeals today, on the ground that it confers administrative duties upon the Allegany Circuit Court.

The act, passed late in 1933 after repeal, is defended by the State with the contention that the business of determining facts and holding hearings to make decisions on granting of licenses is a judicial task.

Eldred A. Cromwell, who sought a license for the Elda Inn on Braddock Road near Cumberland, brought the appeal after his application for a license was rejected by the Allegany Circuit Clerk and that action was upheld by the Circuit Court.

The law passed in the 1933 special session provides that Allegany liquor licenses, other than to clubs, be limited to one for each 1,500 population.

It also stipulated that the Circuit Court, after an application is received, must hold a hearing on the matter.

Robert Jackson, Allegany Circuit Clerk, had declined to accept Cromwell's application on the ground no more licenses could be granted.

Cromwell then asked the Circuit Court for a writ compelling the issuance and for a judgment holding the 1933 Act unconstitutional. The lower court dismissed his application.

On appeal, the plaintiff through his attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and F. Neal Parke, told the Appellate Court that under the 1933 law:

"There is not a single power granted nor duty imposed which could not be fully and completely discharged by an excise commissioner, liquor license board or official.

"The creation of an office or a tribunal to discharge duties involving the determination of facts does not make the office or tribunal a judicial one. If this were not true, the distinction between executive and judicial power would vanish for any executive or administrative officers who have to decide questions of fact and of policy in the discharge of their duties."

Attorney General Hall Hammond, assisted in the case by William C. Walsh, D. Lindley Sloan and Morgan C. Harris, argued:

"The act requires the judges of the Circuit Court for Allegany County to determine a number of facts, and to also use judicial discretion in determining whether or not to direct the clerk of court to issue a liquor license.

"In the first place, a hearing is required on each application, regardless of whether or not a remonstrance is filed."

In the lower court, Cromwell raised the issue that limiting the number of licenses is invalid but did not mention it in the appeal.

The State mentioned it, however, saying that "for many years the courts of this country have unanimously and definitely held that the sale of alcoholic beverages is a privilege and not a right."

Cromwell's attorneys argued that the 1894 Liquor Law Act should control in this case but this was answered by the contention that the 1933 law repealed the older statute.

Telephone Company Is Authorized To Increase Rates Temporarily

Becomes Effective Feb. 10, March 6

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP) — The Public Service Commission today authorized temporary increases which will boost the monthly bills of virtually all Maryland telephone subscribers by from 25 cents to $1.50.

Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, which surveys all but a few small areas of the state, was ordered to make the increases effective on all billings after Feb. 10 and on message toll rates starting March 6.

The increases are temporary, pending a commission decision on higher permanent rates already asked by the company. The commission is to start hearings on the permanent schedules March 18. The increases authorized today in no event will continue for more than nine months.

The Public Service Commission estimated the temporary adjustments will increase the company's income by $3,500,000 on a yearly basis. It required the company to post a $2,700,000 bond to guarantee refunds to subscribers should it later deny the permanent increases.

Cumberland Rates

In Cumberland the flat rate for individual lines for business will be $6.50 per month as against $5.50 now, an increase of $1 per month. A two-party line for business will cost $5.50 per month as compared to $4.50 now, or a $1 increase.

The fee for individual residential lines will be $4 per month, or a 25 cents increase over the present $3.75 per month rate. A two-party residential line will be $3.25 as compared to $3 at present and a four-party residential line will cost $2.75 per month under the new rates as against $2.50 now. The rate on an extension phone for business purposes will be $1.25 per month as against $1 at present and a residential extension will cost 75 cents per month as against 60 cents now.

In asking for the temporary adjustment, the company said its 10 annual operating revenues have increased by $19,000,000 in the past 10 years and its capital investment by $40,000,000; but its annual net operating income dropped by more than $1,000,000.

The commission said it found the temporary increases are "just and reasonable" because the company is earning less than the amount set as a reasonable return on its investment.

The company told the commission it plans a $47,000,000 expansion program in the next two years and has a backlog of 46,000 unfilled telephone orders.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP) — Forty-seven thousand orders for telephone service in Maryland will be filled as soon as new buildings are completed, about 125 switchboards are installed and 23 main cables laid, the Chesapeake and Potomac Company announced today.

Haneke said two-thirds of the unfilled orders are from residents of the Baltimore Metropolitan area. Cumberland has 1,200 orders; Salisbury 1,000; Hagerstown, 750; Annapolis, 500; Westminster, 400; Frederick, 300, and Cambridge has 250.

Of the new switchboards to be installed, four are now being readied for Cumberland with seven more to be put in place later; Hagerstown is getting six new switchboards now and 10 later, while five are being installed at Frederick now.

AAUW To Sponsor Panel Discussion On Smoke Control

A forum discussion on smoke control, sponsored by the Cumberland branch of the American Association of University Women, is scheduled for Wednesday, February 19, at 8 p. m. at the Girl Scout House, Greene street, according to Mrs. John A. Cupler, II.

Mrs. Cupler, AAUW education chairman, will be one of the speakers on the need for smoke control in Cumberland. Mrs. Gilbert Miller, social studies chairman, will preside and act as moderator.

The other speakers will be W. E. Sample, Baltimore, assistant superintendent of fuel conservation for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad; Max Shaffer, engnieer for the Celanese Corporation of America, who has been assisting Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, in collecting material in preparation for drawing up a smoke control ordinance; and James Alfred Avirett, local attorney and chairman of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

Mrs. Cupler, who was named temporary chairman last night of a group from five service clubs and three women's organizations planning a series of radio programs on topics of community interest, invited the committee to attend the smoke control forum.

The AAUW and the Woman's Civic Club are also sponsoring a public meeting on the city's recreation needs, to be held Wednesday, February 12, at City Hall.

"Duckbusters' Dinner" Scheduled Tonight

William A. Gunter, prominent local attorney, will serve as toastmaster at the 23rd annual "duckbusters' dinner," to be held tonight at 6 o'clock at the Cumberland Country Club.

Approximately 150 persons are expected to attend. Dr. A. H. Hawkins will give a brief address of welcome, and Mayor Arthur Hoffa, Barton, will give an informal talk on duck hunting.

Dr. Hawkins and Mayor Hoffa went to Arkansas early last December on a duck hunting trip.

Local Physician Dies From Rifle Wound In Head

Dr. Knight Reynolds Found Near Hospital

Dr. Knight Reynolds, 49, well known local obstetrician, 824 Buckingham Road, was found dead in the front seat of his automobile parked in the physician's area in rear of Memorial Hospital last night about 10 o'clock.

The body was discovered by his wife, Mrs. Evelyn B. Reynolds, and Paul Goldsworthy, Jr., 839 Shriver Avenue, a friend of the family, authorities said.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said that blood was found in the car and that a .22 caliber Winchester rifle was found lying on the floor of the front seat of the automobile.

Dr. Deming said Dr. Reynolds died as a result of an inter-cranial hemmorhage from a gunshot wound about three centimeters above the right ear. Death occurred, he added, about 9:30 p. m.

Mrs. Reynolds, authorities reported, investigated after her husband failed to come home to supper. He had been at the hospital until 5 p. m. taking care of several of his patients. Nobody heard the shot, authorities added.

Dr. Deming said that the death is still being investigated.

Authorities said that Dr. Reynolds has a cottage on the Potomac river and had been in the habit of going there quite often and Dr. Deming said it is possible he planned to go there last night and might have dislodged the hunting gun as he was getting in or out of the car.

Dr. Reynolds was hospitalized about six years ago, authorities said, as a result of a run down condition which they said may have resulted from overwork.

Dr. Reynolds had his offices in the Medical building and was a member of the staff of Memorial Hospital. He was staff physician for the Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Evelyn Reynolds; two daughters, Ann and Frances, and two brothers, Lester Reynolds, Keyser, and F. M. Reynolds, Syracuse, N. Y.

Welfare Board Finds Home For Fazenbakers

Scores Respond To Meet Emergency

A temporary home was obtained yesterday afternoon for the four little Fazenbaker children, who were left homeless when their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fazenbaker, Franklin, this county, were sentenced to serve six months each for contributing to the delinquency of, and neglect of minors.

The Allegany County Welfare Board, according to Mrs. Elinor M. Westerfeld, executive secretary, was able to find temporary foster home for the three girls and their brother, and they will remain together until other homes can be obtained.

Mrs. Westerfeld told the News she and her staff are very grateful for the response of those offering homes to the children, after reading of their plight yesterday morning. Fifteen applications were made as a result of the publicity, she said, by families who offered to take children in emergencies such as this, and several indicated they would provide homes for homeless children by adoption or on a temporary basis, as needed.

She said last night that the Fazenbaker case came at a time all the foster homes were accomodating homeless children, and the board had not a single place licensed or approved. This created an emergency situation, and the children were taken to Memorial Hospital to spend the night. One of the children slept on a mattress on the floor there, because there were insufficient beds, she explained.

Many People Interested

However, the Welfare Board staff went to work yesterday on the situation. Scores of telephone calls were received offering help. Several persons went to the Welfare Board office and filed applications. Others made appointments for today and tomorrow.

Following the placement of the three Collins children in foster homes, the Welfare Board had exhausted its list, and there were no homes available for the Fazenbaker children. But publicity given the case, Mrs. Westerfeld stated, aroused the interest of many people who heretofore did not understand the method of operation, and now new names have been added to the foster home list.

Others will be needed from time to time, she declared, and said that homes must be provided for a 13 year old girl and a 7 year old boy, now in temporary quarters.

Need Is Increasing

There are 56 children, wards of the Welfare Board, now in 28 foster homes in this county, plus the four Fazenbakers. Mrs. Westerfeld says "since the war, the number of homes being broken up, and the number of delinquent parents, has caused an increase in the number of foster homes needed for these unfortunate children."

The Cumberland News received numerous inquiries and offers of homes following the publication yesterday of the story about the Fazenbaker family, and the fact that six minor children, had been taken to the County Jail building because there are no other quarters provided. Members of the News staff were telephoned at their homes by persons offering help.

The Sheriff's office received 25 calls, and 17 were listed by Juvenile Court attaches. Memorial Hospital also received several calls, offering homes for the children. All the calls were referred to the Welfare Board.

The two older of the six Fazenbaker children, Frank 14, and Francis Leo, 12, who were committed by Judge John Barnard, Juvenile Court Judge, to the Maryland Training School for Boys, were taken there yesterday by sheriff's deputies. In the meantime, officials were considering some means of making these committments temporary, until foster homes in the county can be found for the boys.

Judge Barnard sent them to the Training School reluctantly, saying the boys are not criminals, have no bad record and are not delinquents, but there is no place else to put them. Mrs. Westerfeld declared that if the committments can be set aside, her staff will make an effort to find homes for these two lads. She agreed with Judge Barnard that they should not be sent to an institution of this kind.

One Needs Operation

When the four children, Jeannetta, 9, Mary Katherine, 5, Bernard, 3, and Buelah Marie, 2, were being prepared for bed Tuesday night at Memorial Hospital, it was discover-

Nutrition Survey Is Outlined By Dr. R. K. Anderson

A preliminary report on early results of a nutritional survey being made in Western Maryland, was presented to the Junior Association of Commerce last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Club, in an address by Dr. Richmond K. Anderson, medical officer in charge of the United States Public Health Service Nutrition Unit here.

Dr. Anderson, who is also a staff member of the Rockefeller Institute, declared that local nutrition studies are being made in three ways, by use of steady diets, by laboratory tests and by examination of people.

Early surveys indicate there is a very definite nutrition problem here, Dr. Anderson said. There is considerable lack of vitamins C and D evidenced by the study thus far, and much evidence of bad tooth decay among those studied.

Various income brackets here have little bearing on the survey or the nutrition problem, Dr. Anderson explained. Those with low incomes average about the same as those in higher brackets, which would indicate that the problem is mostly one of education, and better food habits.

Dr. Anderson said Cumberland has one of four such Nutrition Survey Units in the country, and about another year will be required to complete the study here. The lecture was illustrated with a number of slide films.

U. S., REDS YIELD ON ARMS ISSUES

State's New Budget, Expected To Run Far Ahead Of Last One, Will Go To Assembly Tonight

Gov. Lane Will Make Personal Appearance

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 5 (AP) — A Maryland budget, which by reason of the Sherbow report and higher costs of everything is expected to run many millions of dollars ahead of the last one, will go to the General Assembly tomorrow night.

Gov. Lane announced today he woud make a personal appearance before joint session at 7:30 p. m. Thursday to deliver the budget and to read at least a part of his budget message.

The details of the document have been kept secret but it has been no secret that the administration has been seeking additional revenue with which to finance the higher government costs.

In his inaugural address January 8, the governor said budget requests at that time totaled $36,000,000 more than in the biennial bill passed in 1945. That act called for expenditures of arqund $66,000,000 for the two years ending next June 30.

Some Requests Pared

The administration has done some paring on requests since it came into office, but some guesses are that by the time supplemental appropriations are added later in the session, the state's spending will go to around $20,000,000 ahead of the old bill.

An advisory commission of citizens, appointed by Lane, has been meeting with the board of revenue estimates and some conclusions on what will be done about taxes are expected to be disclosed next week. Such things as a consumer's sales tax, higher admissions levies, luxury taxes and cigaret taxes have been under discussion.

The Sherbow report, drafted by a commission headed by Judge Joseph Sherbow, of Baltimore, included in its recommendations a distribution of between $12,000,000 and $13,000,000 a year in state funds to Baltimore city and to the counties. Lane made it clear last month that extra money would be needed to effectuate that report.

Budget Schedule Changed

The special legislative session last December approved around $4,000,000 in deficiency appropriations. The current administration is opposed to finding itself in a situation where deficiency appropriations would be needed.

The budget bill had been scheduled to reach the Assembly Friday, but the Governor decided upon the Thursday night appearance after members of the House Entertainment Committee pointed out there would be a legislative dance later tomorrow night and the address could be made to a larger audience.

In addition, considerable numbers of persons are expected to be in Annapolis tomorrow for a series of hearings on taxing cooperatives, repeal of the Declaration of Intentions Act, repeal of the Jim Crow law, and others. Probably some of them will remain for the night session.

Both House and Senate arranged to meet at 2 p. m. as usual, and then recess until evening.

The resolution goes to the House, where the Chesapeake Bay and

Single Sugar Stamp Will Be Valid For 10 Pounds After April 1

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—(AP)—The Office of Temporary Controls announced today it will make 10 pounds of the 1947 sugar ration available for householders on April 1 using a single stamp.

At the same time, the price administration branch of OTC said sugar stamp number 53, currently valid for five pounds of sugar, will expire at midnight, March 31, one month earlier than originally announced.

OPA also said there will be no special sugar allotment for home canning this year.

OPA said it "seems fairly certain" there will be more sugar this year, but gave uncertainty over the size of the increase as the reason for failure to fix the expiration date of the new ration coupon to be valid April 1.

After that date, all coupons validated will be good for 10 pounds of sugar each.

U. S. Government Likely To Enter Portal Pay Suit

Early Opinion Is Promised By Judge

DETROIT, Feb. 5 (AP) — The Mt. Clemens Pottery Company hearing ended today with an indication that the United States government will become a party to the suit, trailblazer for $4,800,000,000 in portal-to-portal claims.

"I am inclined to permit the government to come in," Federal Judge Frank A. Picard said in deferring for 24 hours a definite decision.

He also invited the national CIO to join the case if he permits the government to do so.

Judge Picard warned all parties, however, that testimony in the case is closed.

"I'm going to render an opinion as quickly as I can," the court said. "I'd give it today if I could or by the end of the week if I'm able."

However, Judge Picard told newsmen later that he is not hopeful that the opinion will be ready this weekend.

John F. Sonnett, Assistant United States Attorney General, told the court that the government wants the case returned to the Supreme Court "as soon as possible" regardless of the outcome.

As a party to the suit, the government would have the right to initiate its own appeal to the high court.

It was the Supreme Court's June 10 ruling in the Mt. Clemens case that led to an avalanche of portal pay claims against industry.

Sonnett repeated the plea he made in public hearings before Judge Picard a week ago that the pottery case be dismissed.

He said the government is alarmed because of the "many millions of dollars" in tax refunds and war contract readjustments that hinge on the outcome of the many portal pay suits.

Judge Picard told Sonnett:

"I want this case to go up to the Supreme Court, whatever I decide x x x.

"My opinion is not worth anything in binding any other court without the stamp of approval of the Supreme Court.

"I can't sit here and say that all portal-to-portal suits are good, or none are good or any are good. I don't know.

"If I give the right to you, while I don't put the government on the same basis as a private citizen, I feel the CIO also has the right to enter this case."

Fields Convicted; Faces Jail, Fine

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 — (AP) — A federal district court jury today convicted Benjamin F. Fields of contempt of the House Surplus Property Investigating Committee of the last Congress.

The jury of 11 men and one woman deliberated one hour and three minutes.

District Judge Alexander Holtzoff said Fields will remain at liberty under $500 bond pending sentence February 14.

Conviction on the charge may carry a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a fine of $1,000.

Fields was charged with refusing to give the House committee information last fall on the division of $4,400 profit from the sale of surplus bronze wire screen to an Oklahome City contractor.

Iceberg A. C. Members, Go Bathing In Ocean With Mercury At 7 Above

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Quicker than you can say "double pneumonia," a group of hardy souls clad in nothing warmer than white bathing suits dashed across the icy beach at Coney Island today and plunged into the Atlantic ocean.

It's a daily sight that never fails to amaze winter strollers on the Coney Island boardwalk who aren't familiar with the intrepid code of the Iceberg Athletic Club, composed of 42 men sometimes suspected of having anti-freeze in their veins instead of blood.

It was an even more amazing sight today with New York suffering in a 7-degree temperature, the coldest of the year.

Actually the club members are a diversified group with only two things in common: Abundant good health and a belief that they got that way by frequent bathing in the Atlantic from October 1 to May 1 of each year.

The club is in its 28th year and the members, ranging in age from 21 to 88, frolic in the Coney Island surf in all kinds of weather and then play softball, box or vie with one another in weight lifting contests on the beach.

For some reason—the members are a little vague as to just why—women are barred from membership. But a number of wives or girl friends of the members have infiltrated into the activities regardless.

Ed Sorocki, 47-year-old vegetarian, physical culturist, professional blood donor and guiding spirit of the club, says despite their rigorous life they have "never lost a man yet" to illness resulting from exposure.

New Cold Air Mass Heads For Midwest

Sub-Zero Weather In Half Of Nation

[By The Associated Press]

The third cold wave in seven days raced toward the Midwest from Canada Wednesday as some Eastern and Southeastern sections shivered in the most frigid weather of the season.

The Midwest, still snow-crusted and wind-swept from recent storm, was promised only a 24-hour respite before a new cold wave is borne in on strong winds.

Sub-zero temperatures were recorded across half the nation, Pennsylvania reported its most severe cold wave of the winter and Northern Florida braced for temperatures expected to fall as low as 18 degrees by Thursday morning.

The cold struck a severe blow at industry in five states. Nearly 50,000 persons were forced into idleness when a ban was ordered on the industrial use of natural gas to conserve the fuel for home use.

Cold Increases In East

The industrial shutdowns were ordered in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Kentucky. In the Pittsburgh area alone, approximately 25,000 were idle.

Bemidji, Minn., recorded a low of 30 below zero Wednesday morning before temperature began moderating.

High winds continued across the eastern half of the nation, reaching an average velocity of 25 miles an hour and accentuating the cold.

The cold was increasing along the Eastern Seaboard with Philadelphia reporting five above, Pittsburgh two below, Washington seven above and New York city eight above. Miami, Fla., recorded a minimum of 44 and Jacksonville 26.

At least temporary relief was expected to be felt in the East by Thursday or Thursday night.

Low Readings In Pa.

Freezing weather extended to the Gulf. Thomasville, Ga., a Georgia-Florida border town, had to get along without an official temperature report when the door to the postoffice roof and the official thermometer was frozen shut.

Radio engineers atop White Mountain, 33 miles from Bristol, Tenn., nominated that spot for the coldest in the South when the mercury dropped to 10. The mountain is 5,634 feet above sea level.

Some of the lowest readings in the East were recorded in Pennsylvania, where a woman was frozen to death. Clermont reported an unofficial-22; Brandy Camp -16, Kane -13, and Kersey -11.

Jap Gems Seized; Colonel Is Held

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Seizure of more than $210,000 worth of Japanese diamonds and the arrest of an Army colonel on orders of Gen. MacArthur, was announced today by United States customs.

Col. Edward Murray was in technical custody at his home in Palo Alto, Calif., Customs Collector Paul Leake said, after a report on discovery of the gems had been cabled to Gen. MacArthur at Tokyo.

Leake said Gen. MacArthur was informed the diamonds were found when Col. Murray arrived here Monday aboard the Westminster Victory from Japan.

The technical arrest order was immediately radioed back to San Francisco.

An Army spokesman said the arrest was made on MacArthur's request in order to enable the Army to make its investigation. He said if the Army did not try Col. Murray, his case would be turned over to the customs service.

Regulations On Coal Shipments Withdrawn

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — The Solid Fuels Administration announced today it will withdraw its domestic regulations on soft coal shipments at midnight (EST) tonight.

J. A. Krug, Solid Fuels Administrator, said restrictions on coal exports will continue.

Krug said general distribution regulations are no longer necessary because:

1. A high level of bituminous coal production has been maintained since mining was resumed last December 9.

2. Mild weather during December and January cut coal consumption and supply and distribution have caught up with demand.

Demands For New Labor Laws Flood Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — A flood of demands for changing New Deal labor laws hit Capitol Hill today, along with a blunt statement by President Charles E. Wilson, of General Motors, that he will quit business before he signs a closed shop contract.

Under hottest fire, at spirited separate hearings of the Senate and House Labor Committees were:

The closed shop, under which a man must join a union to get a job, and the Wagner Act, under which the National Labor Relations Board sets up rules for collective bargaining and bans "unfair" labor practices by employers.

OPTIMISTIC—Robert Jones, 18, Rockville, Md., recovering from a high school lab explosion in which he lost both hands, smiles as he views another of the many greetings sent him by well wishers. The nurse is his sister, Virginia. Looking forward to getting artificial hands, Bob points out, "There's a lot of jobs open to me now that weren't before."

Lilienthal Vows To Keep Reds Out Of Atomic Group

Promise Does Not Satisfy McKellar

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—(AP)—David E. Lilienthal promised senators today a flat ban against the employment of Communists in the Atomic Control Commission he has been named to head.

He laid down that policy before the Senate Atomic Committee under a series of questions from Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn), longtime foe of the former Tennessee Valley Authority chairman.

This pledge, however, apparently failed to satisfy McKellar, who has assailed Lilienthal as the "No. 1 Communist" in Tennessee. He arose in the Senate later to assert that President Truman's nominations of Lilienthal and five other commission members means "a fight between Russian Communism on one side and pure, unadulterated Americanism on the other."

Lilienthal Defends Marks

"Those who believe in Russian Communism over pure Americanism will no doubt vote for these nominees," he said. "Those of us who believe that any of these nominees are tinctured with Communism will vote against the confirmation of such nominees."

Previously Lilienthal had testified before the committee that no one could question the complete loyalty to the United States of Herbert Marks, former TVA attorney who has been named as General counsel for the atomic commission.

Marks Seen At Red Meeting

Marks' qualifications came up after McKellar noted that Mrs. Kenneth Malcolm had testified before another Senate committee that she attended a Communist meeting at which Marks was present.

Obviously angered, Lilienthal said if the committee wanted to know about Marks, it ought to call some reputable business and professional men who have associated with him.

Jewish Council Won't Join In Stamping Out Holy Land Terrorism

British Ultimatum Rejected By Group

JERUSALEM, Feb. 5—(AP)—The Jewish National Council rejected tonight a British ultimatum giving official Jewry until Tuesday to join in stamping out Holy Land terrorism, and Irgun Zvai Leumi, underground group, asserted it would "fight to the last breath" against British authority.

In a formal resolution, the National Council (Vaad Leumi) told its 14-member executive to draft a full answer "in accord with the sentiments" of speeches at tonight's council session which unanimously expressed opposition to the ultimatum. Members of the Jewish Agency and mayors of Jewish towns attended the council meeting.

The British, in their ultimatum to the Jewish Agency and National Council, spokesmen for 600,000 Palestine Jews, warned that they face possible imposition of martial law unless they co-operate against underground groups which have resorted to violence against the British.

Irgui's latest expression of defiance, which appealed to "the peoples of the word to come to our help," was contained in a note handed to newspaper correspondents by the underground group.

The note, said to be a script of a secret broadcast in English, French, Russian, and Italian, charged that "Britain at last throws away its mask and becomes an occupying power. We are faced with capitulation or war, and we will not capitulate. We cannot believe the masses of Jewish people in Palestine will become Quislings against us. Irgun will fight to the last breath."

The note from Irgun was received as Royal Air Force Halifaxes, each carrying 17 civilians and one conducting officer, shuttled between Jerusalem and Cairo in the task of evacuating approximately 1,600 British women and children from the Holy Land in line with the order issued by the Palestine government last week. Today about 350 civilians were evacuated by air while 360 others went by train to Egypt, their first stop en route to England.

An unofficial but highly regarded informant said that if the Jewish Agency refuses to give assistance to the British against the underground groups such as Irgun and the Stern Gang, the British will withdraw official recognition from the agency.

This source said such withdrawal would probably be announced in a "white paper" to be issued Tuesday.

Congress Is Asked To "De-Emphasize" Radio "Whodunnits"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—(AP)—Rep. Horan (R-Wash) declared today that radio crime programs are the "narcotics of the air waves" and called upon Congress to "de-emphasize" spine-chillers.

The radio "whodunnits," he told reporters, are disturbing many parents worried about Junior gluing his ears to one radio mystery thriller after another.

Moran introduced a bill which would authorize the House Commerce Committee to investigate whether "in the public interest, restrictions should be placed upon the radio broadcasting of crime programs which, by reason of their character and large number, may have the effect of stimulating juvenile delinquency and law violations in the United States."

Soldier Is Questioned In "Black Dahlia" Death

FORT DIX, N. J., Feb. 5 (AP)—Cpl. Joseph Dumais, 29, Claremont, N. H., a military policeman and a veteran of the European war theater, was questioned by Army investigators today about the torture-slaying last month of attractive brunette Elizabeth Short, the "Black Dahlia," in Los Angeles.

Maj. Cornelius T. Morris, post public relations officer who identified Dumais, said dark stains inside a pocket of his trousers had been analyzed by state police chemists and found to be blood.

Knutson Orders Review Of U. S. Trade Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — Chairman Knutson (R-Minn), of the House Ways and Means Committee, today ordered a review of the administration's reciprocity program for boosting world trade, a field in which President Truman says bi-partisan attitudes are needed.

Knutson's announcement came after the committee's Republican members met with Speaker Martin (R-Mass) behind closed doors.

The meeting followed by several hours a United Nations report from the President in which Mr. Truman said:

"Our policy of supporting the United Nations 'with all the resources that we possess' must be given effective practical application on a genuinely national, bipartisan basis in every activity of the United Nations.

"This is just as necessary in the economic and social field as it is in the political field.

"We must pursue without hesitation bi-partisan policies of economic cooperation with the rest of the world in such matters as economic reconstruction and development and the expansion of world trade and employment."

When this report hit Capitol Hill, there was speculation that Mr. Truman's remarks on bi-partisan handling of world trade might reflect concern over some Republican criticism of the State Department's reciprocal trade program.

Knutson set the hearing for February 24, and said representatives of the State Department—presumably led by under Secretary Will Clayton—will be called in to explain the operations of the program.

"We can't determine our course until we get their reports," said the Minnesota legislator.

Pending before the committee are at least two resolutions calling on President Truman to halt further reciprocal trade pacts until the tariff commission has reviewed those already in operation and reported back to Congress.

Both are aimed at delaying — at least temporarily — a 19-member trade conference in April at Geneva called under State Department sponsorship to write a multilateral trade agreement.

Committee To Consider Tax Cut Bill Feb. 18

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — Chairman Knutson (R-Minn), of the House Ways and Means Committee, announced tonight the tax-framing group would take up February 18 his bill calling for a 20 per cent "across the board" income tax cut.

He added that tax legislation probably will come to a vote in the House the last week in February.

"I think the bill is in a better position today than it has ever been," he told reporters.

Hasty Arms Cut Opposed By President

Development Of U. S. Policy Emphasized

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—President Truman told Congress today that hasty disarmament would be dangerous.

He said the nations of the world "can safely lay aside their arms only insofar as their security is protected by other means."

This assertion, made in a report on the United States role in the United Nations, emphasized the development of a broad American policy on disarmament.

In contrast to Russian demands for a direct and specific attack on the disarmament problem by itself, the emerging American view is that the problem can only be solved as other United Nations measures are taken to preserve peace and prevent aggression.

Peace Depends On U. N. Ability

"In the last analysis," Mr. Truman wrote in his report, "control and reduction of armaments can be effective only so far as genuine collective security and a peaceful political atmosphere are firmly established."

At the same time, the President said that the achievement of lasting peace "will depend in large part upon the ability of the United Nations" to put over world economic recovery and cooperation.

He urged "bi-partisan policies of economic cooperation with the rest of the world in such matters as economic reconstruction and development and the expansion of world trade and employment."

His declaratios on this point possibly reflected concern over some Republican criticism of the State Department's reciprocal trade treaty program. This program is aimed at promoting international trade through reducing tariffs.

Warns Of Dangers Ahead

The report on the United Nations summed up the organization's first year, and said:

"The justifiable hope and confidence, to which the great progress of the United Nations in the past year has given rise, can be betrayed and lost. The difficulties and dangers that lie before us are many and serious."

One of the main tasks of the United Nations this year, the President said, is the development and application of the principles of international control of atomic energy. He added:

"To succeed, we must at the same time build the other essential foundations of a general system of collective security. The nations can safely lay aside their arms only insofar as their security is protected by other means."

Marshall Lists Congress "Musts"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall put aid for the world's hungry at the top today of a list of 27 matters concerned with foreign relations on which he wants congressional action.

More specifically, he said he wants Congress to provide funds for American relief abroad after the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration shuts down operations March 31. President Truman's budget calls for $250,000,000 for that purpose.

No. 2 on the list: Senate approval of the Balkan peace treaties to be signed in Paris February 10.

Among other items: Authorization for the controversial St. Lawrence seaway, legislation for entry of displaced persons into this country, diplomatic immunity for United Nations delegates, and tax exemption for gifts to United Nations.

The last-named matter was among those Marshall classed as "urgent."

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has offered the United Nations $8,500,000 to be used in acquiring some six blocks of land in New York city for a permanent site. The United Nations' General Assembly voted to take up the offer.

"Preliminary" Stage Finished, Gromyko Says

Delegates Accept French Compromise

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—The United States and Soviet Russia were reported tonight to have yielded considerably on stubbornly-fought positions in the United Nations Security Council jam on arms limitation.

Despite these concessions, however, an informal committee of six delegates failed to agree on a final resolution and adjourned after six hours discussion until 11 a. m. EST tomorrow.

The major points remaining to be settled, it was said authoritatively, were:

1. The relationship between the proposed arms limitation commission and the already-functioning United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

2. Just who will draw up the rules of procedure for the proposed Arms Commission.

Earlier, the six delegates were said to have accepted a French resolution as a working paper and plunged into a drafting session.

Delegates and observers said that a "considerable area of agreement" had been reached.

Austin Studies Belgian Plan

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Russian delegate, told newsmen that "the preliminary stage has been completed." He would not comment further.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, who with Gromyko has taken principal part in the debate, was in frequent consultation with Washington as the closed session progressed.

It was reported from the committee room that Austin was seriously considering a compromise offered by Fernand Van Langenhove, Belgian delegate and council president, on the rules impasse. This would provide that the arms commission be created immediately and instructed to report to the Security Council its plans for its work.

Thus the commission would draw up its own rules, subject to council approval, without having a committee of the whole created to make them. The United States has been insisting on a committee making the rules for the arms body.

Austin was said to have called the State Department for instructions on the rules provision.

On the other difference, Austin was reported to feel strongly that the final resolution must stipulate that the commission's work would not infringe on the work of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Gromyko, it was reported, pointed out this stipulation was not necessary.

Action On Atom Report Looms

The United States has been adamant throughout all arms discussion on the position that the work of the Atomic Energy Commission must continue unhampered.

Gromyko, it was said, was not standing too strongly on his previous position that the Atomic Energy Commission's report be considered when it comes up on the council agenda instead of immediately, as the United States has demanded.

Chinese Reds To Give Americans Safe Passage

PEIPING, Feb. 5 (AP) — The Chinese communists promised today to give Americans evacuating Peiping truce headquarters safe passage to Tangku port.

Simultaneously, they strengthened their attack toward Fenyang in Shansi Province, but themselves faced the probable loss within a few days of their big Southern Shantung Province base, Lini.

The Communist commissioner at truce headquarters told the Associated Press his party's chiefs at Yenan had ordered Communist troops to cease their attacks on the Peiping-Tientsin railroad as soon as the Americans announce their departure date. The date is expected to be announced tomorrow.

Plane Search Turns To Richmond Area; Wreckage Reported Sighted

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 5 (AP) — Search for a missing Navy transport plane with a crew of four and six passengers aboard turned to the Richmond area tonight on the report of an Army pilot that he had sighted wreckage of "a DC-3" transport in a swampy almost inaccessible area 10 miles southeast of Richmond.

Coast Guard headquarters here, conducting a saturation air search to the west of Chincoteague Island where the plane reported it was lost in the icy gales of last night, said the Army flier's identification of the wreckage had not been verified but "we are taking it as a good lead." The missing ship bears the Navy classification of R4D, the equivalent of the Army's C-47 and the commercial DC-3.

The Army airman, on a routine local flight, gave the position as 10 miles south, southeast, from the Richmond base which would put the wreckage in Henrico or Charles City county on the north banks of the James river. At the request of the Coast Guard, the Army ordered another plane to fly over the area but darkness precluded any protracted search and the communications tower at the Richmond base said nothing further could be done by air until morning.

The general search for the missing craft will be continued, the Coast Guard said, but a helicopter will be sent to the Richmond area from the Elizabeth City, N. C., base tomorrow. The Navy plans to send a couple of "weasels" amphibious, tracked, combat vehicles, to get into the swampy peninsula tomorrow, the Coast Guard said.

Until today the Navy here said the plane was carrying a crew of four and possibly two Marine passengers. But the list was revised upward on word from Portsmouth, N. H., that five Navy men and a Marine embarked as passengers.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Of 15 Is Advised Not To Waste Time On "No-Good" Boy Of 16

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 15 and I like a boy of 16 very much. I have gone out with him about twice.

My girl friends tell me to forget him; that he is no good, and that he is not decent either in talk or in actions. I have seen some things about him that agree with this, but I still like him. I think he is swell. But every time I mention him to my girl friends they say the same things, and I don't know what to do. Should I try to forget him, like my girl friends say, or should I keep on liking him and go with him?

"HEARTBROKEN."

Now this is one of the silliest things I have ever heard of. In the first place, it is nonsense to label yourself "Heartbroken" over a boy you have only gone out with twice. And in the second place, a girl 15 is —or certainly should be—old enough to have some standards of conduct to which she would expect any boy she went out with to measure up. And if he didn't measure up to them, she should have enough common sense, and enough self-respect, not to waste any time on him, let alone any emotions.

You don't really mean to tell me that you think a boy who has earned the type of reputation this one evidently has, is "swell," do you? Because if you do, then I am very much afraid you are either so childish for your age that you have fallen for a "line," and don't know enough to judge character, or else you need to get a new set of standards yourself. Either way, your ideas need to undergo considerable change, and if I were you, I'd begin working on them right away.

Letters Written To This Column

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I read your column every day, and I want to know if you publish every letter you get.

I would like to consult you about my problem.

"E. W."

No, I certainly do not publish every letter written to me. Only a very small number of letters I receive appear in print.

In the first place, I try to publish only those that are of the greatest interest to the greatest number. In other words, if a letter contains a problem of a type which comes in frequently, I know that it is one which affects many people and that they will be interested in what I have to say about it. Also, if the problem is an unusual one, I feel sure that, too, will be of general interest.

In the second place, my mail is so heavy that there wouldn't be sufficient space available in the newspaper to print all the letters. And in the third place, many people write me about problems of such an intimate nature that they would not like to see them in print and then I am glad, if they request it, to write a private, personal reply.

I cannot make out from this letter whether the writer wishes to be certain that any letter written to me will be discussed in this column, or whether he, or she, wants to know if there is a chance of having a personal reply. I think perhaps the above will answer this question in either case, but I might add this: If you have a problem so urgent that it cannot wait until it might be answered in the paper, or if for personal reasons you are reluctant to have it appear in print, I will be glad to write you an individual letter if you will enclose with yours a stamped, addressed envelope.

Coal Industry Can Take Hope From New Undertaking

The days of the steam-powered type of railroad locomotive might be numbered but those in the Georges Creek region and elsewhere who depend on mining for a livelihood can take new hope if they have entertained any thought that this might bring about a drastic reduction in the consumption of coal.

It is true that railroads are fast abandoning coal burners for reasons of efficiency and economics, and to meet regulations of a growing list of cities campaigning against excessive smoke, because last year Class I systems of the nation placed 480 Diesel engines in service compared with only 83 steam units, while at the first of this year, 534 oil burners were on order, compared with but 84 steam locomotives.

The more glamorous Diesel engine has proven its efficiency so conclusively that to overcome this trend away from coal burners the coal industry and a group of railroads have set about developing a coal-fired turbine unit which would outperform the oil burner. Such an undertaking is only natural because of the fact that coal-hauling by railroads is one of their major sources of revenue, and it is to their advantage that production of coal be kept high.

The new gas turbine that would burn powdered coal holds great promise of lowering locomotive operating costs well below that of the Diesels. If that becomes a reality, and there is no reason why it should not, then the mining industry will be spared serious setbacks despite the threat offered by oil-burning engines and by a growing surplus of gas for industrial and domestic uses.

If, as reported, uranium has been discovered on the Chinese side of the boundary line between China and Russia, the boundary line is in danger of being moved.

Hopeful Agreement In Construction Industry

The move by organized contractors and nineteen AFL unions to set up a national joint committee for the purpose of settling labor-management disputes in the construction industry is a hopeful and important step. We think it justifies the enthusiasm with which President Truman announced it, but it would be a mistake to expect too much, because all it means so far is that those involved have agreed to create arbitration machinery which can prevent strikes and lockouts if employers and unions are willing to use it.

It does indicate a realization on both sides that industrial warfare does not pay. The parties to the agreement worked it out voluntarily, without Government pressure. They promised to try hard to settle disputes in the localities where they arise, and to "exert every effort" to have the new machinery used when such disputes can not be adjusted locally.

On the other hand, the agreement offers little hope of solving such problems—even more serious in the building industry than in most others—as secondary boycotts and jurisdictional strikes. These, we believe, are among the problems that demand corrective legislation.

This country, as Mr. Truman's announcement said, has had some other good labor news in recent days. He mentioned developments in the steel and rubber industries as evidence of a growing willingness to "resolve industrial disputes without resort to force" and of movement toward "our ideals of free collective bargaining."

We hope the welcome trend described by Mr. Truman is not due, in part, to labor's fear that a wave of strikes just now would bring drastic action by Congress. Whether or not that be the case, the whole industrial picture is much brighter than it was a year ago, because free collective bargaining was impossible last year due to the Government controlling prices and, indirectly, wages. And, because at that time, the President was encouraging strikes.

Mr. Truman adopted as official Government policy the unsound theory that wages could and must be raised without raising prices. He intervened, personally, to establish patterns for wage increases. He gave union leaders and members every cause to expect Administration support in enforcing their demands. The situation has changed largely because Mr. Truman's own attitude has changed. He is a wiser, better friend of labor, now that he no longer is inviting unions to depend on Government for help in winning strikes.

And there is encouraging evidence that some union leaders are becoming aware that dependence on Government must lead, eventually, to loss of labor's freedom.

The Warmup Before The Start Of The 1947 Season

Wintertime faithful of the national pastime are finding some choice fuel for the glowing embers of the hot stove league. While four of baseball's great—Allegany County's own Robert (Lefty) Grove, Carl Hubbell, Frankie Frisch and Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane—were being elected by sports writers to the Coopertown Hall of Fame, Leo Durocher, who has never been obliged to hire a hall, was acquiring fame of another kind.

Few will argue with the choices for baseball immortality, but likely some of the sport's more conservative followers will look askance at Leo the Lip. They may wonder what old Kenesaw Mountain Landis might have had to say about the Brooklyn extrovert and his goings-on. Landis didn't like his boys to be in the press, unless it was strictly baseball.

Other notes of a more professional nature, however, are at hand. Hank Greenberg goes to the Pittsburgh Pirates in one of the surprise deals of the year; Pepper Martin, whose base stealing put the 1931 World Series pitchers on the verge of nervous hysteria, will be a field man in the Dodger's farm organization, and the New York Yankees proudly announce they have 35 players already signed and sealed for the 1947 season.

In the background of this exquisite scene is a hospital room drama of interest to any one who ever heard of baseball. In a hospital room in New York, Babe Ruth is making a comeback after a serious operation. He's improving, and he's getting letters by the hundreds, wishing him the best.

And when the first ball is thrown out for the opening of the baseball season, surely the old Bambino will be there to see it, even if he isn't swinging at them anymore.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

GLANDULAR SWELLING IN MUMPS

THE moon faced boy with a cloth wound around the jaws and tied at the top of the head is a familiar caricature. Since the neck region abounds in glands that are prone to enlarge for any number of reasons, mumps is blamed all too often. But the virus responsible for the condition is choosey and selects only a few of these structures, a fact which is helpful in making the diagnosis.

The parotids are involved most frequently. These glands are located just over the hinge of the lower jaw and furnish saliva. Ordinarily they cannot be felt but once infection sets in, swelling is noticeable in front and slightly below the ear.

As with many contagious maladies, mumps is passed from one individual to another thru direct contact. A physician who had escaped the disease in childhood asked a young patient to open his mouth and say "ah." When he placed the tongue depresser in the child's mouth and bent forward to take a better look, the boy coughed suddenly. Since the medico was unable to duck in time, he received the full effect of the spray. Two and one-half weeks later he came down with the ailment—the interval which commonly elapses between exposure and the beginning manifestations.

Symptoms of a nondescript nature may appear from 12 to 48 hours before glandular puffiness. They includ a rise in temperature, headaches, loss of appetite, vomiting, and general soreness. Then swelling in the region of the affected gland is noted. Usually one side is attacked first and the other follows suit in a day or two.

As a rule, some degree of distress is present. The gland may be tender to the touch and aching accompanies any attempt to chew. This is especially true when acid or sour substances are held in the mouth, and expains the aversion to pickles, olives, and lemon juice. Fever generally disappears at the end of five or six days and glandular enlargement a week or two therefter.

The course that mumps runs is not always so simple. Peculiar events can arise which will prove exasperating to the parents. Involvement of the opposite side may not take place on schedule, being delayed for two or three weeks. Naturally, the period of quarantine is doubled. Salivary glands other than the parotids, situated under the jaw in the area of the lower molars, can become infected. Now and then spread to the reproductive organs occurs, presenting a more serious problem inas much as sterility may result.

The majority of patients require little care. By remaining quietly in bed, particularly while fever and swollen glands are exhibited, compications are often avoided. Pain is controled by applying heat or cold depending upon which affords more comfort. Since chewing is difficult, a liquid or semi-solid diet is best, eliminating acid-tasting foods. New symptoms should be reported to the physician immediately as measures for the prevention of sterility are sometimes possible. Vaccines are of value occasionally and this angle is now being studied extensively.

ORIGIN IS OBSCURE

R. T. writes: Where do beauty marks come from?

REPLY

A CONVULSIVE POUCH

C. F. writes: What is spasmodic stomach?

REPLY

An overactive structure which contracts too vigorously. As a rule, the valves at the entrance or exit of the stomach are at fault. When they clamp down, the gastric pouch must work harder to empty itself.

VINCENT'S ORGANISMS

G. W. writes: Can trench mouth affect the intestinal tract?

REPLY

Yes, in the sense that we consider the mouth the first part of the digestive system. The causative organisms rarely extend below the throat although now and then they reach the lungs and the rectum.

Today's Talk

W. H. HUDSON

One of the strangest, shyest, and most solitary of human beings who have enriched the literature of the world was W. H. Hudson, the English naturalist. And yet few have been more beloved by those who caught something of the vital and scintillating personality that was his. John Galsworthy once stated that he was one of the greatest of all English writers.

The epitaph on his grave reads thus: "He loved birds and green places, and the wind on the heath, and saw the brightness of the skirts of God." No matter from what angle you study this unusual writer, he must be reckoned as a genius. His fame—so late in arriving—is now worldwide. His appeal, however, will probably always remain for those of selective tastes in literature, and to those who are most interested in nature.

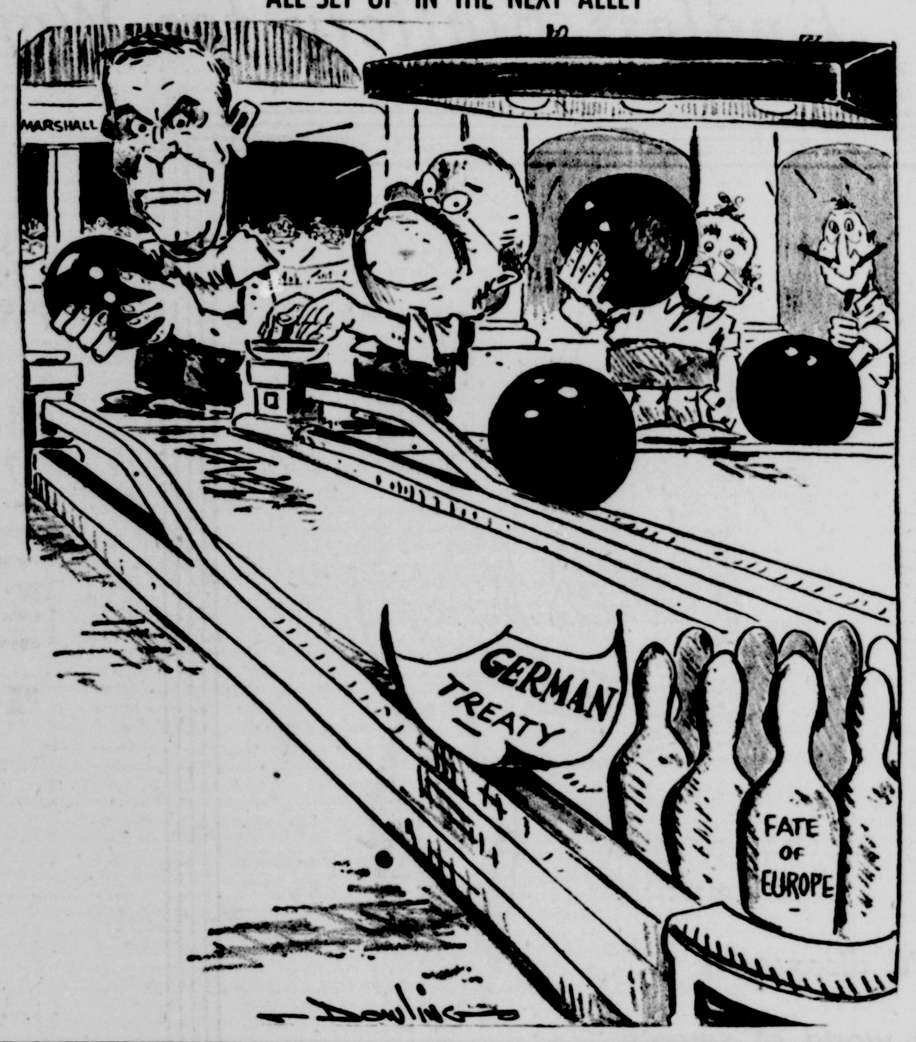

"Oh, those wild, beautiful cries of the golden plover," he once wrote. And, again, he said: "I could exclaim with Hafiz, with but one word changed: "If after a thousand years that sound should float o'er my tomb, my bones uprising in their gladness would dance in the sepulchre!'" That's how inseparable nature and he were. The quotation is taken from his book "Far Away and Long Ago," one of the most beautiful and moving of all writings about a man's youth. He stated that "it was natural to cling to life and feel immortal."

Hudson loved life, every bird, every ower, every movement in nature, every sound and every waft of the wind. He was truly one with nature. His essay in his book "A Traveler in Little Things" on "The Return of the Chiff-chaff" is one of the undying gems in all literature. He humanized the birds that he wrote about—and he wrote about them all. They and he were akin, and akin to all mankind—if mankind but knew. He made birds intimate to the world because he loved them.

Hudson was born in the Argentine and loved to ride over the pampas. The breadth and solitude of it stirred him and his imagination, and it inspired several of his earlier books. His parentage was American, but most of his life was spent in England, where he wrote and died. A Hyde Park Bird Sanctuary was created as a memorial to him.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Ambassador To England Will Be A Second John Hay; De Seversky Gets Belated Recognition; Senator Bilbo's Next Move; Patterson Rights Wrong

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—Today, ex-Governor O. Max Gardner of North Carolina sails for his new post as American ambassador to the Court of St. James. Ambassador Gardner has done a lot of varied and difficult things in his life, from hoeing corn to running the United States treasury, but this is the first time he has tried his hand at diplomacy.

It is not, however, the first time he has visited England. Exactly 42 years ago, Max landed in England under somewhat different circumstances. He had crossed on a cattle boat as "nursemaid" to 500 sea-sick steers. (His old friend, Bob Reynolds, later Senator from North Carolina, had recruited Max as a cattle hand and then bossed the job.)

Arriving in London on the day the British were holding memorial services for the late U. S. Ambassador John Hay, Gardner hailed a hansom cab and drove out to St. Paul's Cathedral to attend the ceremony. En-route he got into conversation with the cab driver who inquired regarding the identity of John Hay.

Gardner might have explained that Hay was former secretary of State and former ambassador to Great Britain. Instead, he replied: "Hay is the man who wrote 'Little Breeches'."

Loafing Around Throne

Then the future U. S. ambassador to Great Britain recited from memory John Hay's famous poem, "Little Breeches," the story of an Indiana youngster who got lost in a snowstorm when his team stampeded and was finally found asleep in a haymow. The last stanza concludes:

"How did he get thar? Angels.
He could never have walked in that storm;
They jest scooped down and toted him
To whar it was safe and warm.
And I think that saving a little child,
And fotching him to his own,
Is a darned sight better business
Than loafing around the throne."

Little did the 23-year-old Gardner dream, as he recited "Little Breeches" to that London hansom driver, that 42 years later he was to be selected as he now describes it, to "loaf around the throne."

The fact that Ambassador Gardner has the sense of humor to tell this story on himself, however, indicates that he will come close to being another John Hay at the Court of St. James.

Righting An Old Wrong

Secretary of War Patterson has a long memory when it comes to mistakes—especially if he makes them himself. When Patterson makes a mistake, he will do his best to rectify it.

Probably it was a lucky thing for GI's that Patterson pulled a boner about Army discharges in a press conference on Guam. For, having made an error, Patterson did his best to make it up to the GI's and the special board to revamp the caste system was one result.

Earlier, the Army made a bad mistake on long-range pursuit planes. Major de Seversky, the hard-hitting ex-Russian flier, had begged and implored the Air Corps to build long-range fighter planes, also urged armor plate for bombers. In return he got a slap in the face from General Hap Arnold, then chief of the Air Corps.

Later, Pearl Harbor caught us with no long-range fighters and with only a start toward putting armor plate on bombers. The mistake not only delayed the war, but cost lives.

Secretary Patterson was not responsible for that mistake, but realizing it had been made, he set out to rectify it. Toward the end of the war he called in Major de Seversky, asked him to undertake an all-battle-front study of U. S. air services.

And to further atone for the kicking around given to de Seversky, Patterson today is giving him the Medal of Merit for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service to the United States."

Note—Speaking of rectifying mistakes, Air Force officers this week take exception to a recent statement in this column that the Air Forces aren't enthusiastic over their sub-Cabinet rank in the proposed Army-Navy merger. They state that, on the contrary, they are delighted to accept this arrangement. The column is glad to make this correction.

Bilbo's Next Move

Senator-elect Theodore G. Bilbo, of Mississippi, now drawing his monthly salary of $1,250 while rendering no service to the Nation; is sure to get an additional 30 days in which to recuperate—at the expense of the taxpayer, of course.

On January 4, the Senate, by unanimous consent, laid Bilbo's contested credentials on the table for a period of 60 days.

This backstage arrangement had been worked out GOP and Democratic leaders after Bilbo told Dixie colleagues he was "flat broke and in desperate need of hospitalization." Both sides accepted the compromise in order to break a filibuster at the very opening of the 80th Congress.

Bilbo's 60 days "on the table" expires March 5 and he is slated to appear in the Senate March 6 to take his oath and seat, something GOP leaders now find it expedient to postpone for at least another 30 days.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, has calculated that at just the time Bilbo is due to appear, the Senate will be debating major labor legislation which he very much wants the Senate to pass prior to March 31—the date on which John L. Lewis' strike "truce" expires. The last thing Taft wants at this time is a Bilbo filibuster.

Therefore, Sen. Alben Barkley will ask and obtain unanimous consent to carry Bilbo on the payroll for another thirty days on the ground that another month is necessary for Bilbo's recuperation.

Labor Law Foreseen To Make Private Ownership Workable

By MARK SULLIVAN

Both the big national labor organizations, CIO and AFL, oppose the labor legislation now being formulated, as a matter of course. Of the two, AFL is more temperate. On past occasions, when the House made attempts to amend the Wagner Act (all of which were frustrated), AFL recognized the need of modifying the Act. This does not alter AFL's present deep concern about the legislation now being written. Its attitude, however, is not one of undiscriminating opposition to anything and everything. Carefully stated objections by AFL to some details, such as the proposal to forbid the closed shop completely, will get open-minded consideration in Congress.

Congress makes a distinction between AFL as a national body and the actions of some of its constituent unions. On two occasions Congress has enacted statutes aimed directly to restrain practices of some AFL unions. Nor is the disposition in Congress to listen understandingly to AFL reduced by the fact that Mr. John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers are now a part of that body. Actions of Mr. Lewis, especially the strike last fall which the Administration regarded as a strike against the government, were a large part of the precipitating cause of the present legislation. But Congress thinks of Mr. Lewis as an individual, one who goes his own way and tries to be a law unto himself. So far as it associates Mr. Lewis with either of the big national organizations, it is more likely to remember that he was the organizer of CIO and for five years its head.

Early CIO Attitude Bitter

The early attitude of CIO toward the proposed labor legislation was one of headlong hammer-and-tongs opposition. In January it put out a letter by CIO Head Philip Murray, addressed to every member of Congress, accompanying a pamphlet to which CIO gave the title "The Drive Against Labor." The outgiving was dotted with such phrases as "legislation to destroy American unionism," "false issues," "attack of reaction," "tactics of tyranny," "tissue of fabrications."

This was not likely to ameliorate the temper of a Congress which already had strong feeling about CIO. The spirit in which CIO was addressing a new Congress, committed by the November elections to writing new labor legislation, was the same it had practiced toward the former Congress. Congress remembers the raucous drives of CIO, against measures it disapproved, in behalf of measures it wanted. It remembers that, before the election, CIO dedicated itself to defeat of certain members, and to election of members endorsed.

Congress Line of Thinking

Congress thinks of CIO—and CIO has invited it to so think—as not merely a labor organization in the ordinary sense. It thinks of CIO as being, through its Political Action Committee, a political organization which concerns itself with matters outside the field of labor. This accounts for the difference in attitudes on the part of Congress toward CIO and AFL. In Congress, and in the country, CIO is due for a rough time. It is a question whether, in order to survive as a labor organization, CIO may not be obliged to dissociate itself from the widespread political activities of its Political Action Committee.

The central fact which will determine what Congress does is that it does not feel any need to defer to either CIO or AFL. Within Congress the majority favoring legislation is so large that it can write its own ticket. Nevertheless it will give attention to arguments from labor, so far as they deal intelligently and sincerely with one aspect of proposals, the workability of them.

Underlying all that Congress does about all that it will deal with, labor and everything else, is one broad point of view. It is determined that America is to be a country in which industry and business are carried on upon the traditional American economic system of private ownership. It was a question whether private ownership could function successfully and survive, with labor-management relations as they were under existing statute, and administrative practices and court decisions which had arisen under the existing laws. Congress is determined to enact such changes as will make private ownership workable. At the same time it is on guard against making any innovations which might raise new impediments to workable labor-management relations.

New Dealism Still Spreads Its Socialistic Aims Over Capital

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—Now that it seems apparent that there will be a substantial cutting of the federal budget, a significant controversy has arisen over the question of whether to make a flat percentage reduction in taxes or to graduate it so that the lower income groups will get the maximum benefit.

What is significant about it is that New Dealism still spreads its socialistic flavor over the Washington scene. So many Washingtonians, including some Republicans, have been indoctrinated with the idea that the tax system should be used either for punitive purposes or to bring nearer the days of state socialism that the advocates of a free enterprise system and a system of taxation primarily for revenue purposes find themselves up against the same insidious propaganda as was prevalent before the radicals were repudiated in the 1946 elections.

The proponents of the graduated scale of reductions are sending forth the usual demagogic arguments that there are more votes in the lower brackets and that the so-called "rich" would be too much benefitted by a "straight across the board" cut. The reading public, who for the most part do not know the facts about taxes in relation to business, are led to believe that there are no arguments on the other side at all.

During the war the incomes of taxpayers in the middle and upper brackets were cut proportionately deeper by taxes than those of any other group and it is, therefore, only equitable that the relationship between rates should go back to the peacetime pattern.

Actual Amount Relatively Small

Actually, the amount of money involved in a flat percentage reduction "straight across the board" is relatively small but the principle back of the idea of treating everybody alike and removing the penalties on thrift and enterprise is far more important.

It is to the interest of sponsors of state socialism and to the communists to break down the private enterprise system in America. One way to do it is to destroy incentive and level off everybody's income so that when business expansion is balked and there is depression the state steps in and, by "pump priming," adds to the public debt, making it possible for the administration which hands out the money to continue in power and pursue revolutionary schemes.

Ever since the New Deal began in 1933, the tax system has been abused. It has been utilized to persecute the successful and to penalize leadership. There were times when even the language of the advocates of governmental intervention in private affairs was unashamedly the language of "revolution," in which the end is supposed to justify the means.

The national capital still contains, inside and outside of government, the devotees of New Dealism who look askance at the idea of treating rich and poor alike, not only on taxes but in the courts. Class prejudice is so deeply ingrained that Republicans now are being told they do not dare vote for a flat percentage reduction in taxes lest they be punished at the polls.

Incentive Needs Be Encouraged

The truth is business expansion and the creation of jobs and the development of technological improvements in production so as to help bring prices and the cost of living down depend on what incentive there is for the white-collar workers of America—the business management and professional class. The number of persons who derive their incomes from clipping coupons is too small to be a factor in deciding a broad policy of incentives as against those who earn their incomes themselves.

It is being said in some quarters that when the Republicans reduced the surtaxes in the 1920's a boom ensued and a terrible depression followed—as if there was any connection whatsoever between the two things. Actually, the government collected more rather than less revenues in the 20's when it changed the tax rates so as to introduce new incentives. Actually also, the panic of 1929 was to a large extent the result of the speculation of the little fellow in the markets and was due to the fact that there were no laws to control effectively the issuance and sale of securities. To say that the economic upheaval of 1929 and 1930 was due to some tax law in the United States is to ignore the conditions then prevailing in Europe as well as the specluative fever of persons of small income.

Much Distortion Will Be Heard

But in the next few months such distortions will be heard again and again. The test will come when the conservative Republicans and the conservative Democrats are challenged to stand up for incentives in the private-enterprise system as against the demogoguery involved in a plan to remove millions of persons from the tax rolls altogether so that as citizens they will contribute nothing to their national government. The issue may appear to be political, but it is basically economic. If the socialistic theory or levelling off and standardizing everybody's pay is to prevail—as advocated by industrial unions in the matter of wages—then the craft workers of the AFL and the non-organized professions have much to fear from any legislative support for such a doctrine. If incomes must be brought down constantly to a lower and lower level of standardization irrespective of thrift, ingenuity, resourcefulness or ability, the rest of the road to communism is not distant.

If everything written about the housing problem were pounded into pulp and rolled out in inch-thick slabs, there would be material for enough pre-fabricated houses to solve the shortage.

The experts have suggested everything from abandoned viaducts to hollowed-out tree trunks. Everything, it seems, except building houses. These higgledy-piggledy solutions remind me of a story Congressional Record please copy.

A soda jerk named Homer Schnook had a terrible ringing in his ears. He mentioned it to the fellow who made the sandwiches.

"Maybe your mother was frightened by a telephone," cracked his friend. "If I were you, I'd go and see Dr. Guelph."

Schnook did. "I've got an awful lot of ringing in my ears," he told the doctor.

"Hrumph," said Dr. Guelph. "strip."

He gave Schnook a careful going over, took pictures of his chest, and tapped him with a little hammer.

"Go to the hospital immediately," said the doctor. "Report to surgery. I'll have to collapse a lung."

Schnook hurried to the hospital and was wheeled to the operating room, where Dr. Guelph went to work. The operation was a great success. Three weeks later the patient was discharged.

The next day he was back at the doctor's office. "Lungs feel fine," he told the medicine man, "but I still got an awful lot of ringing in my ears."

"Hrumph," said the doctor. "Strip." This time Dr. Guelph made him swallow a lighted bulb, and measured his head with calipers. "Report to surgery immediately," he said. "I'll have to remove part of your skull, and replace it with plastic."

"Holy smoke!" said Schnook. "Is such an operation possible?"

"That," said Dr. Guelph cheerfully, "is what we're about to discover."

Schnook was under the ether for 14 hours. As Guelph's skillful fingers removed a piece of skull and replaced it with a piece of plastic bearing the duPont label, the assistants and nurses broke into a low cheer.

Two months later, the soda jerk walked out of the hospital. When Dr. Guelph got to his office the next morning, Schnook was sitting on the doorstep.

"My head feels fine," he told the doctor, "but I still got an awful lot of ringing in the ears."

"Hrumph," said the doctor. "Strip." When the examination was finished, Dr. Guelph looked very grave. "It's your stomach," he said. "It's got to come out."

The operation took 20 hours. Doctors came from several states and sat in tiers like at a bullfight to watch. When Dr. Guelph triumphantly waved Schnook's stomach aloft, the operating room sounded like the Yale bowl after a hundred yard run.

When the patient come to, he said, "How can I ever repay you for what you've done?"

"By cash, check or money order," said the doctor crisply.

"When will I get the bill?" asked Homer Schnook.

"Later," said Guelph. "You're not strong enough for that yet."

Six months later, Schnook left the hospital, walked three blocks, turned left, and went right into Dr. Guelph's office. He stripped as he walked up the stairs.

"I've got an awful lot of ringing in the ears," he said, softly.

The doctor examined him and shook his head sadly. "Medical science can do no more for you, my boy," he said. "How did you ever get in such shape?"

"Darned if I know," said Schnook. "I may as well be frank with you," the doctor went on. "You don't figure to live more than six months."

Schnook took it well. "If that's how it's got to be," he said, "I may as well have a little fun. Ive saved up a couple of thousand, and I'm going to have myself a time. Clothes, girls, everything."

The soda jerk went straight to the the finest haberdashery in town. "Shirts, socks, ties," he announced. "Best you've got. Let's start with shirts—custom-made."

The proprietor himself took the measurements.

"Thirty-four sleeve," he sang out.

"Thirty-four sleeve," repeated an assistant.

"Thirty-six chest."

"Thirty-six chest."

"Fifteen-and-a-half neck."

"Fifteen-and-a-half neck."

"Hold on a minute," said Schnook. "I take a size fourteen."

The proprietor looked at the tape measure. "Fifteen and a half," he insisted.

"I don't care what the tape measure says," Schnook protested. "I've been wearing fourteen shirts for 20 years."

The proprietor sighed. "You can have a fourteen collar if you want it," he said, "but you're going to have an awful lot of ringing in the ears."

Dr. Anderson Talks To B And P Women On Health Program

The Business and Professional Women's Club had Dr. Richmond Anderson as the guest speaker at its regular dinner-meeting, Tuesday night at the Y. The program was under the direction of the Health committee, Miss Anne Tennant, chairman.

Dr. Anderson, a representative of the Public Health Service, used as his topic, "Nutrition in Relation to Public Health." Dealing mainly with school children, the speaker explained that a study is being made from a physical standpoint, laboratory testing and diet records.

He noted as facts of interest brought out in the study in physical testing in Cumberland a noticeable number of rickets; changes in the tongue caused by a lack of vitamin B; and decayed teeth. Dr. Anderson pointed out that of two schools examined in Cumberland, one showed 92 per cent of teeth decay and the other 93 per cent; according to laboratory testing anemia showed positive, a lack of vitamin C.

After summarizing these points he placed emphasis on the study of teeth. Dr. Anderson stated that the surveys showed that nutrition was not in the primary building. This was discovered after making a study in India, North Carolina and Mexico, where evidence showed that florine prevents decay; good teeth may be a racial factor; and too much sugar and carbohydrates cause decay.

As a final conclusion the speaker emphasized the fact that dental care is not sufficient. Cleaning teeth improves the gums, but does not prevent decay and urged an educational program for better understanding of the care of teeth to prevent decay.

Miss Anna Nicht presided at the short business session following the program. Major legislation problems, which are to be supported by the Business and Professional Women's Clubs were discussed and committee reports were given.

Mrs. Brinkman told of the trip to Newton Baker hospital by members of three units of the state in conjunction with the three chapters, to ascertain what the unit could do for the patients. A which time the local members distributed packages of oranges, writing paper and cigarets to several hundred of the 425 veterans there. She reported a request that members write to the boys who have no immediate families; and suggested they send occasional gifts to them, as part of the unit's rehabilitation program.

A Victor victrola was donated by Mrs. Hamburg to be given by the unit, where it will be most used. The next meeting of the unit will be held February 17.

THOSE ONLY LOVE—

Those only love
Who dare to let love go.

The basic laws of life
Are few and simple
As the soil
To love—
To share—
And walk in tolerance,
Arming ourselves
Against our natural fears
And weaknesses
With fighting faith—
These are the ventures
All great souls must make
And of them all
The greatest is to love.

But love is not
The easy thing we think—
It does not mean
That we may have or hold
For our own pleasure
Or our private gain—
Love is a service,
Not a slavery—
And those who try to use it
As a tool to power
Defile its purpose
And defeat its aim.

Those only love
Who dare to let love go.

No life, however dear,
Should bear our brand.
No bond bestows
The grim authority
To shape or bind
Another's destiny.
Each mortal has the right
To seek the truth
By his own inner light
And mold himself
Within his own design
For weal or woe.

Those only love
Who dare to let love go.

We may walk through
Our life times
Side by side,
Our interests wedded
In one happy dream,
But always there are
Unseen walls
Which must divide
Each separate soul.
Walls which we reverence
If we truly care.

Those only love
Who hold love free as air.

And when the time has come
To step beyond that veil
Which parts these shadows
From another dawn,
If we clutch or wail
Or wring our empty hands
In hopeless pain
We fail them cruelly.
We have not lost them
For they were not
Ours to lose—
They were their own;
They go upon the rightful
Trail of their release.
We have but one last gift,
One final proof of love,
To let them pass in peace.

They only love
Who let their love
Go free!

Valley Road Club Plans Garden Party, Anniversary

The Valley Road Homemakers Club formulated plans for two meetings in March, at the regular session yesterday at the Girl Scout Little House, with Mrs. John S. Cook, Sr., presiding.

The 21st anniversary of the club will be celebrated with a special program, March 5, at the Little House, after which the monthly meeting will be held.

The meeting opened with the group singing of "America," and "God of Our Fathers," the latter, the hymn the club will sing in the Homemakers pageant, "Hands Around the World," May 5. Mrs. George Kraft directed the singing with Mrs. Frank Perdew at the piano.

Roll call was answered with "household problems". Among the outstanding suggestions made was the use of old wax candles, for polishing hardwood floors, for ironing, or to melt to mold wax flowers. The principal cause of cocoanut custard pies "running" was given as either too much sugar or too hot an oven.

After Mrs. Cook opened the meeting with a poem "My Choice," reports were given. Mrs. E. C. Kilroy,

AFL Council Raps Anti-Labor Bills, Winds Up Session

Arbitration Tribunal System Is Endorsed

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP) — The AFL Executive Cuncil voted today to utilize fully all the "resources and facilities" of the AFL to fight off anti-labor legislation but moved to cut down the number of strikes with a system of arbitration tribunals.

The council concluded one of its shortest winter meetings on record with a severe attack on congressional and state legislative proposals to restrict unions. A three-man committee was clothed with full authority to conduct the fight.

Green Heads Committee

AFL President William Green, heading the committee, told a news conference that using the AFL's entire resources might include mass meetings or demonstrations on a grand scale. Green averted a direct answer about the possibility of a general strike as a demonstration against the harsher measures now pending in Congress. He said the committee would decide what to do.

With him on that committee are William L. "Big Bill" Hutcheson, head of the carpenters, and George Meany, AFL secretary-treasurer.

Despite the militant resolution adopted by the council on legislation, it got behind an arbitration plan proposed by the Screen Actors Guild at the October AFL convention—but applied it to all industry.

Will Contact Unions

Green is to contact every national and international union in the AFL to enlist their efforts to set up arbitration tribunals in their particular industries along the lines announced by President Truman last Saturday for the building and construction industry.

The intermittent jurisdictional strikes in Hollywood led to the actors' plea to the convention. The council took the second step today by authorizing Green to request all unions to see what could be done to create voluntary arbitration plans to insure peace for themselves.

The legislative resolution bore the unmistakable markings of a John L. Lewis product.

Truman Offers Proposal On Presidency Succession

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) —President Truman asked Congress again today to change the 60-year-old law of succession for the presidency, and Republican leaders, though undecided on the best formula, promised quick congressional action.

Under Mr. Truman's proposal, the succession would fall first to the Vice President—if that office were not vacant as it is now—then to the speaker of the House. Third in line would be the presiding officer of the Senate.

If the President's recommendations are approved, the No. 1 heir to the White House now would be 62-year-old Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, speaker of the Republican-controlled House.

Tributaries Committee is to meet tomorrow to discuss that and the Senate-approved bill to try in Maryland courts all Virginians accused of illegal oystering in the river.

Chairman Brinsfield (D-Dorchester) predicted approval of both the resolution and the bill, with final action by the House to take place next week.

The Senate received from Sen. Stromberg (D-Howard) a bill to curb utility strikes in Maryland. The measure would give the Public Service Commission authority to settle disputes, with compulsory arbitration to follow if the commission could not effect a settlement.

The Senator, a Howard county newspaper publisher, said his bill was intended to avoid anything such as the prolonged power strike in Pittsburgh last fall.

1947 Air Show Being Planned By Jr. Association

The 1947 Cumberland Air Show, sponsored annually by the Cumberland Junior Chamber of Commerce is being planned for June 15, it was disclosed at last night's meeting of th organization at the Shrine Club.

John Chapman, manager of the Cumberland Municipal Airport spoke to the membership and outlined preliminary plans. Chapman said the show should be better than the one presented last year, which attracted the largest crowd ever seen locally, and that a number of new and sensational exhibits are planned.

There was some discussion on means of handling traffic to and from the airport, and representatives of the Jaycees will talk with city officials on the possibility of providing one-way traffic on Virginia Avenue the day of the Show.

David Kauffman, president announced that the Maryland State Jaycee convention will be held here in May, and named John M. Robb, general chairman for the conclave.

A state meeting of Jaycees will be held in Baltimore February 15-16, for officers and committeemen, and a number of local members plan to attend, Kauffman announced.

Plans were also discussed for the Jaycee's annual city-wide Clean-Up Campaign, to be held in Cumberland April 15. More details about the campaign are to be announced later.

A model traffic ordinance has been prepared by the Jaycees Traffic Committee and will be submitted for consideration to city officials.

A number of new members were presented and each was given an opportunity to talk on his "pet projects" for city improvement. Foremost among the ideas projected was a broad recreation program. Next was the local traffic problem, and third the need for more local industries.

Negro Accused Of Rape Removed To Harford Jail

Charged With Attack On Easton, Md., Nurse

EASTON, Md., Feb. 5 (AP)—Officers sped a 20-year-old negro more than a hundred miles to the Harford county jail at Bel Air early today in face of feeling generated among townspeople by his arrest on a charge of raping a Memorial Hospital nurse.

State's Attorney Harry E. Clark identified the accused as William E. Copper, handyman and war veteran living on the south outskirts of Easton.

State Trooper Charles Pritchett and Sheriff A. Raymond Carroll, of Talbot county, arrested him at his home last night after a sub rosa investigation that started early last Friday morning.

Nurse's Story

Clark said he had pieced together this story of the attack on the nurse:

She came off duty at Memorial Hospital just after midnight Friday morning, got into her car parked nearby, and started driving south toward her home on the Cambridge-Matapeake highway.

About two miles south of Easton, someone grabbed her about the throat from behind and a man's voice demanded that she stop the car or be killed.

A negro climbed into the front seat with her. Later he forced her out of the car and dragged her into the back seat, where he choked her unconscious and attacked her.

After the attack, he forced her back to the front seat and drove south, with one hand around her throat. He then doubled back toward Easton on the old road.

Tumbled Out Of Car

The nurse opened a door and tumbled out of the car when he needed both hands to negotiate a turn and shift gears at the main highway. The car still was going about 25 miles an hour. The nurse somersaulted four or five times into a ditch.

The negro stopped the car, but apparently decided the girl was dead and drove on. She went to a nearby house and called police.

Returned to the hospital, the nurse was treated for lacerations about the neck, and a head wound and severe body bruises, apparently received in the tumble from the car. She remained in the hospital two days.

Bill Would Ban Utility Strikes

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 5 (AP) — Withdrawal of the right of public utility workers to strike in Maryland, with compulsory arbitration as the alternative, was proposed in the State Senate today.

Sen. P. G. Stromberg, Howard county Democrat and newspaper publisher, sponsored the bill which declared in its preamble:

"The State of Maryland, exercising herein its police and sovereign power, declares that the right to strike or threaten to strike in connection with disputes between the owners of public utilities and their employes in order to secure a settlement for adjustments of complaints or demands, is herewith withdrawn, and that procedures for the adjustment of such disputes with due regard to the respective rights of the employees and employers are hereby provided."

Stromberg, who said his measure was aimed at preventing any such tieup as occurred in Pittsburgh last fall, proposed that the Public Service Commission be given jurisdiction in settlement of utility disputes.

Prison Looked Good

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5—(AP)—A man who said he was a fugitive from a Virginia prison camp found the near zero temperature too much for him early today and told police he wanted to go back and "face the music." Patrolman Bert Arnold saw the man, who identified himself as Hugh Grimm Gorbin, 23, standing in a doorway thoroughly chilled.

Two Freed In Fatal Beating Of Veteran

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 5—(AP)—Henry C. Arnold, 44, Paris, and Clifford M. Sanderson, 27, Lexington, charged with murder in connection with the fatal beating of an aged mental patient at the United States veterans hospital here, were acquitted by a federal court jury today.

The men, former employes of the hospital, were accused of beating to death 56-year-old James S. Cuddy, a veteran of World War I from Hazard, Ky.

"Preliminary"

The Russian delegate, one informant said, accepted the major portions of the French compromise as a working base. This carried a provision for fast action on the stymied atomic report.

Gromyko did object, it was added, to a French suggestion that the council order the military staff committee, comprising representatives of the chiefs of staff of the five great powers, to submit a report within three months. The French were said to have dropped tthat suggestion.

The main points of the French compromise provide for creation of an arms limitation commission to draw up proposals for the Security Council and for the council to take quick action of the Atomic Energy Commission report so that it may instruct the atomic commission on its next phase. The atomic commission presently is marking time.

Pilot Is Killed In Plane Crash

HARRINGTON, Del., Feb. 5—(AP)—A twin-engine plane crashed into a wooded area near here today killing the pilot and injuring the co-pilot.

The dead man was identified by state police as Albert George Buhl, 31, Cortland, N. Y.

A third crewman, Edward Boyle, North Plainsfield, N. J., escaped injury.

State police said the plane, operated by International Air Freight of West Palm Beach, was headed from New York to the Florida city when the right engine went dead.

Buhl tried to land at a small private field but the plane overshot the small area.

Step right up and meet a Sweetheart

It's BUICK for '47!

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, will be supplied at extra cost as soon as available.

Step up now, good people, and meet the fashion master of the new season.

Here's Buick for 1947 — style-wise, performance-wise, quality-wise and value-wise, the sweetest "buy" your dollars are going to find anywhere this year.

Eye well that sparkling new grille —behind it you'll be plainly marked as strictly up to 1947 in your travel standards.

Take in the tapering grace of long, sweep-through fenders — there's the hallmark of a style pattern sure to bring you notice and approval wherever you may go.

Note the reach of the bonnet — long, deep, broad-chested — there's a lifetime of thrills in such bountiful supply of Buick Fireball straight-eight power.

Spot the solid footing of a carriage big as you deserve — the breadth of beam that spells room aplenty — the ready-to-go poise of four coil-sprung wheels ready to level the roughest roads into boulevard smoothness.

And in particular, mark down this:

Not one smart model but nine will present this fresh front to the world this season.

Cars in three series, three wheelbases and three price ranges give you a triple-barreled chance to know Buick size, Buick beauty, Buick ability when you travel.

Choose from two versions of the garage-handy SPECIAL — four of the light-footed SUPER — three of the great-hearted ROADMASTER series.

In each you'll find a rich abundance of the things that make Buick America's most wanted automobile — engines that seem to stay forever young, the matchless buoyancy of BuiCoil springing, the spaciousness of great room, the feathery handling of controls that are always "obediently yours."

Naturally — demand is going to be great; a sweetheart like this is bound to bring suitors flocking.

So how about coming in — right away — and getting your order on our books?

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR on the air twice weekly

$20,000 Asked For State Parks

State Forester Joseph F. Kaylor said yesterday that plans are being made to handle anticipated record-breaking crowds in state parks during the coming season, and that the Forestry Department has asked the state for $20,000 with which to take care of the park system for the next two years.

Kaylor said the amount would be used for paying guards and other personnel necessary to maintain and police the park areas.

With an appropriation of this amount, Kaylor said his department will be in a position to carry out its obligation in regard to state parks as imposed by law.

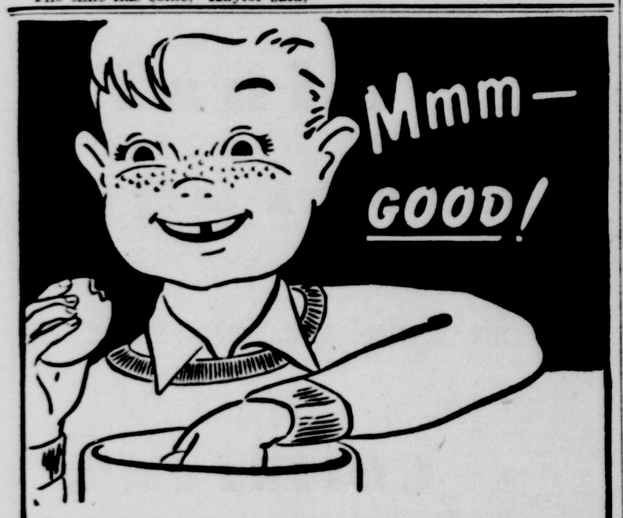

If funds are not furnished it may be necessary for the Commission of State Forests and Parks to revert to a parking fee as a means to obtain needed funds, Kaylor said. Several years ago, in the absence of such funds, the commission established a fee of 50 cents for parking on state recreational areas. Since four or five persons ordinarily visit these areas in a single car, the charge would have amounted to hardly more than ten cents per person.

Opposition to the plan was encountered in certain districts, and later on the commission rescinded it, Kaylor said. This was done after assurance had been received from state officials that money would be appropriated from emergency funds. No appropriation was ever made, Kaylor declared. Faced with this situation, the commission may be forced to return to the fee system.

"The time has come," Kaylor said, "when responsible state officials should recognize the high social value of public recreational areas and make adequate provision for them. Such a policy is bound to pay dividends in improved public health and morals."

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY
Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.
Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.
To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.
Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

The Roaring '40's

It isn't on the official agenda of the Council of Foreign Ministers, but Secretary of State Marshall is expected to bring up the matter of Russia's "little obligation" of $11,297,000,000 in lend lease. . . . That would help us buy Greenland from Denmark, and if that happens, look for Russia to blow her diplomatic top. . . . General Mark Clark won't relinquish his command of troops and U. S. policy in Austria until after the peace treaty for that country has been taken up at Moscow in March . . . The Communist Party in France is undergoing an internal shakeup that will be front page news in about 60 days . . . The Communist Party here will make a bid to publish The Daily Worker as "an independent newspaper," instead of the organ of a foreign power, as it's now listed with the State Department . . . Ex-Governor Arnall's one shot on "Information Please" brought him about 50 offers, in addition to his lecture appearances . . . Senator Ball (Republican, Minnesota) and Senator Magnuson (Democrat, Washington), both on the liberal side, will take opposite stands on the labor question on "Town Meeting of the Air" Feb. 20.

Lady Astor

The Al Paris "fix" investigation may bring in the name of a big theatre man . . . Around Albany they're saying that Gene Tunney could have the job of Special Investigator of boxing in New York if he wants it . . . FBI leaders want Congress to provide for FBI buildings in all major cities, with detention cells, etc., in addition to the proposed FBI headquarters building in Washington . . . Newest technique of the Commies who operate anonymously in trade unions that are being purged is to join the "witch hunt" and capture its control, by denouncing Communists without naming 'em . . . The Detroit CIO in such bad financial shape that there won't be any strikes in the motor capital for a long time . . . The producers of a Broadway smash musical managed to squelch publicity about one of its featured dancers being picked up and booked on a drug charge after an uptown raid . . .

Lady Nancy Astor's agents trying to buy a Virginia farm for Her Ladyship, to be ready when she visits the U. S. this Spring . . . The Duke of Aosta and his wife(sister of the King of Greece), voluntary exiles from Italy, on their way to settle in the southern part of Brazil, where he will be coordinator of Italian immigration there . . . Gracie Fields turned down Florida nite club offers to visit her favorite spot in the world, the Isle of Capri. . . . Frank Wenker, former publicity man for the Metropolitan Opera, sailing Feb. 19 to Europe to arrange appearances of American artists on the Continent . . . That "Life of Pavlova" film, shelved in Hollywood and London, will go before the cameras in Rome this Summer, with Maria Gambarelli, former Radio Music Hall star, in the lead . . . Kurt ("Street Scene") Weill to visit his aged parents in Haifa, Palestine, in March . . . Eleanor Powell and George Murphy to star in a musical movie, "Rhythm Rhapsodies," to be filmed entirely in New York (Broadcast Pictures), with Emil Coleman as musical director.

Warners has dropped "Fall of Valor" as a bad movie bet . . . Coast grapevine is that the movie studio strike will end within three weeks with the Dick Walsh group winning . . . Carole Landis set for a regular weekly radio show here for Ed Byron . . . For the Romance Department; Shelia Bond, the blonde from Bensonhurst, who (with Danny Daniels) stops the show in "Street Scene," is very coy about a department store heir . . . It was Harold Lloyd's daughter Gloria who saw Lieut. David Gimbel off to Yokohama . . . Greer Garson's marital woes aren't her only cause for unhappiness. She doesn't like her new picture, either . . . West Coast radio announcer Bob Moon is straining at the leash. Wants to come East and marry Olga San Juan (who doesn't?) . . . Charlie James, who designs clothes for Mona Williams, Millicent Rogers, Mrs. Harold de Heeren, et al., flying to India [illegible] to "stage" the marriage of the Maharajah of Baroda's daughter . . . Mike Todd has cut his last link with Broadway by selling his five-story building on E. 54th St.

Mayor Seeks To Locate Sgt. Raymond McIntosh

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday he has secured no information as yet regarding the whereabouts of Staff Sgt. Raymond A McIntosh, a Cumberland man stationed during the war in Wallasley England. The mayor of that town has sent Mayor Post a copy of a memorial program intended for Sgt. McIntosh.

In August, 1944, American troops presented Wallasley with a flag, this flag and a memorial tablet were unveiled at a ceremony December 14, 1946. The tablet lists the names of all American troops who were stationed in the community.

Officers Are Chosen By Cycling Club

William Valentine has been elected president of the Cumberland Tiger Motorcycle Club and plans discussed for hill climbs and races during the coming spring and summer.

Other officers are, "Buddy" Paul, vice-president; Helen Paul, secretary-treasurer; Homer Stierstorfer, sergeant-at-arms; James Shoemaker, road captain, and Burgea Twigg, assistant road captain.

The annual banquet of the club will be held next Tuesday night at a place to be announced. Members will meet at Raupach's Garage at 7:30, the night of the banquet.

Eckhart Delegation Backs Resolution

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Feb. 5—The Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association, meeting last night in Firemen's Hall, unanimously approved a resolution offering the complete co-operation of its members to any group appointed by the Mayor and City Commissioners to resist the proposal to have Frostburg State Teachers College abandoned, as recommended in a report recently submitted to Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., by the Maryland Commission on Higher Education.

The meeting was attended by a delegation from the Eckhart Square Circle Association, which also supported the resolution.

During the discussion, the sportsmen were informed that the present site of the college was presented to the State of Maryland with funds donated by citizens of the Frostburg area. The soliciting campaign, they were told, was in charge of the late Charles H. Walker, a former postmaster of Frostburg, and the late Rev. Alexander C. Haverstick, a former rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, who had workers canvass all the stores and private homes in the community and through all the coal mines of the Frostburg area. Merchants and miners alike were generous and when sufficient money was collected, the site was purchased from the Beall estate and presented to the State of Maryland.

Former Mayor Fred Crowe and Hon. Jonathan Sleeman, former member of the Maryland House of Delegates, urged the members of the association to attend all public meetings called for the purpose of protecting the interests of the college.

Following the passage of the resolution, it was recalled that the school, originally established as a State Normal School with a two-year course, was changed to the equivalent of a junior college with a four-year course, by an act of the Maryland General Assembly of 1935, under the administration of the late Gov. Harry W. Nice.

The sportsmen were also informed that many of the students at the college since 1935 attended without pledging to become teachers in the Maryland school system, being able to secure part of their college education at home by paying the required tuition fee. It was also pointed out by Sleeman and Crowe that Frostburg was originally selected as a proper site for the college because of its central location in the county, easily accessible to students from towns of the Georges Creek region and Garrett county.

The association went on record in opposition to Bill S.332 introduced in the United States Senate January 24 by Senator Wiley of Wisconsin. This bill was referred to as a "popgun law," which attacks a citizen's constitutional rights to own firearms. It provides that no citizen may own any gun other than a .22 rimfire rifle or a shotgun, without government permission and that a person cannot buy a gun without securing government permission. The provisions of the bill include search and seizure, with penalties up to a $500 fine and a year in prison.

West Va. Apple Commission Urged

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 5 —(AP)—The West Virginia Horticultural Society approved by an overwhelming voice vote today a proposal for a West Virginia apple commission with power to tax commercial apple production one cent per bushel.

Malcolm M. Brown, Martinsburg, presented the committee report on the proposed bill, which originated at last year's session of the society.

Cecil W. Wood, local producer, declared the bill was "coercion," with more at stake than the apple industry. The bill is now before the Agriculture Committees of the Legislature.

Attendance at the 54th annual two-day meeting of the society was cut down to approximately 250 growers largely as a result of near-zero temperatures.

The proposed apple commission bill calls for a five-man board of growers appointed by the Governor to conduct an apple promotion campaign.

Dr. E. C. Sherwood, plant pathologist from Winchester, Va., warned growers today against a recurrence of cedar rust due in the area this year. He said leaf roller disease also would present a major problem, worse than the coddling moth destruction, which has been considerably checked by DDT.

President J. Howard Rannells, Romney, presided at the session.

Four Cases Are Disposed Of In Court At Keyser

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 5 — Four cases were disposed of in Circuit Court here today. The first was the State vs. Raymond W. Orndorff, in which the State sought to confiscate a 1938 sedan in which Orndorff was alleged to have had more than one gallon of intoxicating liquors when arrested and tried for driving the car while intoxicated, in June 1946.

The arrest was made by Constable Barncord in Frankfort District. Orndorff appeared before C. A. Jewell, justice of the peace, in Ridgeley and pleaded guilty to the charge. He was assessed a fine of $100 which was paid. His car was impounded for a period of six months and his license revoked for a like period.

The West Virginia Liquor Commission claimed that having liquor in the car in a quantity exceeding one gallon was sufficient cause for the permanent confiscation of the car. The case was presented to the jury and verdict denying the right of confiscation was returned.

The contest between E. G. Kimmell and R. P. Hott involving damages in the sum of $25 allowed Kimmell by George C. Ludwig, Justice of the peace, was appealed to the court. A settlement was reached outside of court and the case ordered dismissed.

In a paternity case between Helen Ferrebee vs. Herbert J. Russell, the defendant Russell agreed to pay $600 for the support of the child. It was agreed by the plaintiff Helen Ferrebee that the payment of that sum would satisfy all obligations of the defendant Russell. The case was dismissed.

Andrew J. Landis, the defendant in a paternity case, agreed to pay $500 for the support of a child born to Dorothy Mae Pyles, who agreed to accept that payment as fulfilling the obligation of the defendant Landis. The case was dismissed.

The Mineral County Farm Women's Council has published and distributed a 39 page booklet covering the plan of work for the county organization and the several clubs of the county. In addition the personnel of the state organization, the county organization and the community clubs including the membership roll of each club is given.

KEEPING UP WITH

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 5.—Charles Vidor made his first appearance today at Columbia Studios since his law suit with Harry Cohn which brought nation-wide publicity. I'll say for Columbia everything possible was done to ease any embarrassment for their $2,500 a week director. Charles did all his business with Ben Kahane, who offered him scripts from three other studios. None of them met with Vidor's approval. He said he'd do them but he wasn't interested. So now he'll stay at Columbia.

Judy Garland

Columbia is giving Vidor "The Man From Colorado" the story which Eddie Goulding worked on and which will star Glenn Ford and Melvyn Douglas. Jules Shermer is the producer.

There's not a very friendly feeling existing between Vidor and Ford since Ford was Cohn's witness, but Glenn asked that they let bygones be bygones and everybody do the best he can. I hope it isn't true that Vidor is taking his case to a higher court. That's an argument that should have been settled behind the studio walls and not with the public listening in.

I had a tear in my eye after I read Ann Warner's enthusiastic letter from Cannes. Ann said, "this spot is so beautiful and Grace Moore has been so sweet to Jack and me. She is urging us to buy a place near her villa which is really beautiful. But of course, California is our home."

The letter was written the day before Grace's death.

The Warners leave this month for home and Hollywood after four months in France and England.

Chatter in Hollywood: When Judy Garland and Vincente Minnelli had a little family argument, such as go on in American homes everyday, Judy couldn't have been more surprised to have everyone telephoning to ask if she and Vincente had separated.

I think that query, more than anything else, showed both Judy and Vincente that you just can't have a family spat in Hollywood without the whole world looking in as referee. You could battle in Podunk or Keokuk, Iowa, or elsewhere without a ripple, but let there be even an argument in Hollywood and it becomes front page news.

At least 10 people called to ask me if I'd heard that Judy and Vincente had separated. Separated my eye. Those two are in love. It's only the people who really are in love who quarrel now and then.

Those swanky new offices being redecorated on the Ben Bogeaus lot are for Ida Lupino who moves over to General Service Studio as a producer as well as star.

She and Ben have formed the Arcadia Productions, with Ida set for one film a year for the next three years. They have not yet selected Ida's first.

I'll say for Bogeaus that he tries to keep his stars happy by letting them have their say about their movies. Gregory Peck has a "piece" of "Macomber Affair" and Burgess Meredith is co-producer of "A Miracle Can Happen", and several other pictures he's made with Ben.

Very unhappy indeed was my friend William Burnett, the author, when he telephoned to me today.

He said, "why, we're going to have 'Vendetta' out in another two weeks. We spent three months remaking it."

Was my face red? He says Stuart Heisler did re-make the picture as I said, for Howard Hughes, but it's all been done and the new stuff is all right with Hughes. Is this all right with you, Billy?

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Virginia Cherrill (Lady Jersey) arrives in Hollywood this week. Through some complication or other she was unable to get her expected divorce from her wealthy English husband.

The William Goetzs have given up all hope of building for the present. They have just bought the Ann Miller-Reese Lewellyn Milner mansion, which was vacated when Ann left her very rich husband.

Dolores Moran, who has been sick ever since she and Ben Bogeaus came back from the east, may go to the Mayo Clinic. She is suffering from an allergy which brings on terrific sinus headaches.

Jerrilyn Jessel, age five, accompanied by Papa George called on Eddie Cantor to wish him a happy birthday. She presented Eddie with a leather case containing two pictures, both of Al Jolson, with the inscription "America's greatest entertainer."

The career of Mrs. Dick Haymes, which at one time caused a separation, is once more in jeopardy. Mrs. Haymes is expecting her third baby so she will retire as Joanna Dru.

While in New York, Jimmy Stewart made a wonderful impression on the press with his speech at the first dinner of the Air Force Association. General Doolittle was the host of the evening.

The Sunday quietness at a Sunset Strip Cafe was considerably shaken when Joan Caulfield and Greg Bautzer walked in and soon behind them came Joan Crawford and Freddie De Cordova. Needless to say, they did not sit together.

Same night, Keenan Wynn and Marie Windsor at Ciro's.

Bing Crosby at a stag dinner with the four little Crosby's at Arthur, formerly Otto's. All five ordered heman steaks and all five had more fun.

That's all today.

MALVERN, England (AP) — A schoolmarm has recommended that the British boys ought to share dishwashing and baby minding chores with their sisters so the girls would have a chance to invade such manly avocations as woodworking.

"Boys and girls both should have a general training in all subjects—domestic science, needlework, woodwork and general science," she argued.

West Virginia Stream Pollution Report Made

The West Virginia Water Commission has reported to Gov. Clarence W. Meadows that satisfactory progress is being made toward the elimination of pollution in the Eastern Panhandle.

The commission, headed by E. W. Buchanan, Huntington, reports that the Potomac River Area in West Virginia is not contributing nearly the amount of other states in the basin.

The report praises a new, modern sewage treatment plant in Romney which has remedied "serious stream-pollution conditions originally created by the raw sewage from this municipality."

Brunswick B. And O. Worker Is Injured

Ross Working, 46-year-old Brunswick B. and O. worker, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for treatment and X-rays of undetermined injuries suffered when he fell in the cab of a locomotive. His condition was satisfactory.

Raphael H. Grabenstein, 37, Oldtown Road, was treated Tuesday night in Allegany Hospital for a severe laceration of the right wrist. Attaches said he was cut by a pane of glass on the seat of the Cement Products Company truck he was driving.

Thomas Griffith, 32, Route 2, received treatment early yesterday for dog bite wounds of both legs. He was able to return home.

A schoolboy, Kent Powell, 12, son of J. W. Powell, 222 Columbia Street, was treated yesterday morning for a left wrist injury sustained in a fall.

ed one of the little girls was suffering from a hernia.

Yesterday, a representative of the Welfare Board interviewed Mr. and Mrs. Fazenbaker at the County Jail, and they agreed to an operation and medical care for the child. They also agreed to have the Welfare Board provide foster homes for the children for the six months they will be in prison.

Mrs. Westerfeld reported however, that Mrs. Fazenbaker is quite determined that she will start over again and establish a home for her family, and give them proper care, as soon as her sentence is completed.

With the children running around the Court House corridors Tuesday, finally being taken to the basement kitchen in the County jail, and numerous officials trying to find a place for them for the night, Judge Barnard, Sheriff Edward R. Muir, his four deputies, Probation Officer Hugh Hotchkiss, Chief of Police Burza Hanlin of Westernport, Mrs. Westerfeld, and numerous others expressed the opinion that the Board of County Commissioners should act to prevent situations such as this by providing a Juvenile Home in the county.

Judge Blames County

Judge Barnard declared, "the people of Allegany County should rise up and demand the establishment of a detention home for juveniles in the county that would put an end to the necessity of incarcerating small children in the county jail." He added that the county-owned property across the street from the Court House, next door to the library, suitable for such a home.

Establishment of this home, he continued, would provide a comfortable place where children could be cared for while the court and its investigators are given ample opportunity to handle every case.

"This would eliminate the necessity of acting hastily, merely to dispose of children," Judge Barnard continued, "and the court would be given time to make more satisfactory disposition of delinquency cases."

Judge Barnard said the County Commissioners have been authorized by the State Legislature to sell bonds up to $100,000 to build, buy or provide such a Juvenile home, but the Board has never appropriated the money or issued the bonds.

The bill Judge Barnard referred to was known as House Bill 756 and was passed at the 1943 session of the General Assembly, and became law on June 1, 1943.

Children Real Sufferers

Judge Barnard, obviously upset by the situation which he has faced on numerous occasions, declared, "it isn't the parents I worry about. Once they are sentenced, they are assured food, clothing, shelter and care. But the children, especially the little ones, are the big problem.

"No one can say what terrible effects may be produced in a child's mind by being taken to a jail," he continued. "I know of no better way to turn citizens into Communists, and to turn children into anti-social individuals, than to continue to send young, innocent children to jails for lack of any better place to put them.

"The County Commissioners definitely should act and act fast in this problem," Judge Barnard stated. Then he referred to the "county building across the street," and declared, "this place could be fixed up at little cost and put into use quickly. The real sufferers are the children, and they are the very ones this court is supposed to protect," he concluded.

ANOTHER COLD WAVE threatens GAS supply!

Once again severe cold weather threatens to imperil gas service throughout this area. Gas supply lines, taxed to capacity even in normal winter weather, are now seriously overburdened as a result of this cold weather. Gas pressures in the lines are running dangerously low.

Remember—there is no shortage of natural gas. There is plenty of gas at the source, in the gas wells of Texas, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The shortage exists in the capacity of the supply and distribution lines that bring the gas from the wells to your home.

Your gas company is doing everything possible to keep up with the ever increasing demand for gas. Our expansion program would have been adequate and in time had it not been for shortages of pipe, fittings, compressors and other vital materials needed to complete our planned expansion of distribution facilities.

In the meantime, during the present shortage—and particularly during this extreme cold weather—it is vitally necessary that everyone cooperate by using less gas. We have already drastically reduced industrial consumption, so this plea is directed at domestic users.

What you do to save gas may not seem a great deal . . . perhaps saving only a few cubic feet. But when you multiply your saving by the saving of your friends and neighbors, and then by thousands and thousands of other gas users—the total can be considerable.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP PREVENT A CRITICAL SHORTAGE

1. Don't use your gas range to heat your kitchen.
2. If you heat with gas, set your thermostat at 65 degrees, still lower at night.
3. Shut off rooms not in use, particularly attics and second floor bed rooms. Place a rug at bottoms of doors.
4. Close bedroom doors at night. Turn off heat by closing registers or radiators.
5. Conserve hot water; use it sparingly. Set your hot water thermostat or flame as low as possible.

Sentinels Top Davis; LaSalle Edges Romney

Fort Hill Cagers Rack Up 14th Win Of Season, 53-31

Freeland And Dean Score 33 Points

DAVIS, W. Va., Feb. 5—Fort Hill High School, of Cumberland, braved the sub-zero blasts of mountainous Tucker county tonight to keep a date with its old rival, Davis High School, and warmed up to the tune of twenty field goals in turning back Coach Bill Talbott's Wildcats by the score of 53 to 31.

The victory gave the Sentinels of Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh a clean sweep of the series, the score of the opener having been 53 to 27. It was also the Cumberlanders' 14th triumph of the season against five defeats.

When the Fort Hill team arrived here for tonight's game the mercury registered 12 degrees below zero. And there came near being no game due to the fact that the local gymnasium is heated by circulating gas heaters and the gas company had requested that gas be conserved due to the low pressure. In view of the fact that Fort Hill had made the long trip the gas company relented and permitted the use of the gas heaters for the varsity game only.

It took Fort Hill a full quarter of the ball game to thaw out as Davis stepped away to a 15-10 lead in the opening stanza. The Marylanders, however, shook loose the icicles and forged to the front at the half, 30-21, and boosted their advantage to 18 points when the third quarter ended, with the count 46-28.

Milford Dean and Elmer Freeland were the main bombardiers for Fort Hill with 17 and 16 points to their credit while Heath racked up 11 for the Wildcats. Good foul shooting marked the game, Fort Hill converting 13 of 20 throws while Davis connected 15 times in 29 tries. Lineups:

Rocky Graziano Will Be Heard By Commission

Boxer Says Attorney Distorted Statement

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—Witnesses from the district attorney's office admitted today that no police were sent out to find the would-be fixers who offered Rocky Graziano $100,000 to throw a fight and that Rocky, himself, had accused an assistant district attorney of distorting his voluntary statement concerning the bribe attempt.

This testimony, following up an admission by Assistant District Attorney Alfred Scotti yesterday that he never took up Graziano's offer to try to point out the attempted bribers, was brought out today as the State Athletic Commission's case against the middleweight title contender for failure to report the offer was completed.

The commission concluded its side of the hearing after calling Scotti, Detective Lieutenant William Grafenecker and Detective John McNichol to testify. Graziano's portion of the case, growing out of an offer to "go into the tank" in his scheduled bout with Ruben Shank last December 27—which never was fought—will begin tomorrow, with Rocky taking the stand, along with his trainer, Whitey Bimstein; his co-managers, Irving Cohen and Jack Healy, and State Athletic Commission Physician Dr. Sym Newman.

Dr. Newman diagnosed the back ailment which forced Rocky to call off the Shank fight as a sacro-iliac condition. Scotti, in his testimony, insisted Rocky told him he used the sore back "as an excuse to pull out of the match."

Most of today's second session of the commission hearing was devoted to attempts by Graziano's attorney, former assistant district attorney Jacob S. Rosenblum, to bring out discrepancies in testimony by the witnesses, to show that Rocky was actually "under restraint" when he was questioned for 17 hours January 25 and 26, despite Scotti's declaration to the contrary, and to elicit testimony that Scotti's contention that Graziano was lying when he said he did not know the would-be fixers by name was solely Scotti's personal belief and not based on factual information.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—Edward (Hooks) Mylin, former coach at Lafayette, has been appointed head football coach at New York University, it was announced today by Graduate Manager of Athletics Albert B. Nixon.

Mylin, named "coach of the year" in 1937 when he piloted Lafayette to an all-victorious season, signed a three year contract. He succeeds John J. (Jack) Weinheimer, who resigned in December.

In 22 years of coaching, Mylin teams at Lebanon Valley, Bucknell, Lafayette and at Camp Lee, Va., won 95 games, lost 86 and tied 15.

He had one of his worst seasons at Lafayette last fall when the Leopards won two and lost seven. Besides the unbeaten, untied team of '37, Mylin also coached the 1940 squad which won nine and lost none.

The veteran mentor, who resigned from Lafayette in January, is a graduate of Franklin and Marshall College where he won four football letters from 1913 to 1916.

Stotler's Goal Gives Explorers 33 To 31 Verdict

"Moon" Breaks Tie With 1:15 To Play

ROMNEY, W. Va., Feb. 5—LaSalle High School of Cumberland eked out a 33 to 31 decision over Romney High School tonight when Jack "Moon" Stotler heaved in a corner shot to break a 31-31 deadlock 1 minute and 15 seconds before the final whistle.

Coach "Chuck" Collette's outfit had the better of the argument during the first half, leading 6-5 at the quarter and 17-12 at the intermission, but LaSalle forged to the front in the third quarter at 25-21 only to have Romney come back and make it an even-Stephen affair until Stotler's set shot decided the issue. With slightly more than a minute left to play Coach John J. Long's team "froze" the ball.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Explorers who have been rolling since they caught fire against Allegany High School last Friday night. It was also the 10th win in 19 starts for the Longmen.

Cumberland officials—Van Roby and Fearer—handled the game and called a total of 17 personal fouls—10 on the winners and 7 on the home team.

LaSalle outscored the Pioneers 15 to 12 in field goals but was outpointed at the charity stripe, 7 to 3.

Bobby Vanderhout, the stringbean guard, paced the LaSalle scorers with an even dozen tallies while Karl Muller accounted for eight. Harmison headed Romney with 12 points while Rannells scored eight. Lineups:

Lem's Dogs vs Thad's Chickens

Running a newspaper, you get to know a lot about human nature.

Thad Phipps was in the other day, all burned up. Wanted me to run an item on how Lem Martin's dog had raided his chickens again, and ought to be put away by law.

I told him: "Lem was in on Saturday. Said you shouldn't be allowed to keep those chickens so close to his house—and in a residential zone, at that."

Thad shuts up right pronto then. And that very evening I see him making his peace with Lem at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern—over a friendly glass of beer.

From where I sit, anyone can find something in his neighbor to complain about. (Some folks may even disagree with Thad's right to enjoy that glass of beer with Lem!) But where would we be if everybody tried to have a law passed against everything they disagreed with? We wouldn't have many neighbors left!

Is it possible to put FRESH RAW LIVER IN DRY DOG FOOD? yes! BRESKO DOG FOOD NOW HAS IT

We have discovered a special new process, by which we cook fresh raw liver into the famous BRESKO, making it even more palatable and more nourishing than ever.

BRESKO is a correct blend of the needed meat meal vitamins and other essentials.

Don't confuse Fresh Raw Liver with Liver Meal. Fresh Raw Liver is vastly better since the valuable liver juices are preserved. Liver is invaluable for body and blood building in certain dietary deficiencies.

To give your dog the benefit of this essential food to the fullest degree, you must give him BRESKO. He'll like it so well that he'll beg you for more.

Musial Wants Substantial Raise But Declines To Name His Figure

BY ORLO ROBERTSON

DONORA, Pa., Feb. 5—(AP)—Stan Musial, having proved he can play first base as well as he operated in the outfield, would like to get some of the big money that is being handed out to baseball stars but so far he and President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals haven't seen it eye-to-eye.

The National League's most valuable player, comfortable as near zero winds whipped around the corners of his little brick home high above the Monongahela River, would not disclose the salary he wanted but added:

"Naturally, I think I am entitled to a substantial increase."

The St. Louis Star - Times had quoted him as saying he had set $30,000 as his minimum price on a one-year contract or "otherwise, I'm afraid I'll not play ball with the Cardinals."

Musial has had two conferences with Breadon, the latest in New York last week end. He plans to leave Friday, with his wife, for St. Petersburg for a short vacation before reporting to training camp March 1.

"I don't anticipate any more from Mr. Breadon until I get to Florida," said Stan. "I know that a player can't report for spring training until he has signed his contract but I am hopeful that we'll come to terms before that time rolls around."

While refusing to give the salary expected, Musial previously had indicated he thought he was entitled to a 100 per cent increase over last year which would put him close to $30,000.

Breadon, who has an established policy of silence on contract matters, stated he had "no comment."

33 Yanks Will Train At Puerto Rico Camp

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP) — Manager Bucky Harris selected 33 players today to open the spring baseball training season of the New York Yankees at San Juan, Puerto Rico, Feb. 15 — concentrating on pitchers with whose work he is not familiar.

Included in the list, however, were such Yankee stars as Floyd Bevens, Aaron Robinson, George Stirnweiss, Charles Keller and Joe DiMaggio.

The balance of the Yankee squad will report at St. Petersburg, Fla., the pitchers and catchers on Feb. 20 and the infielders and outfielders on Feb. 28.

Harris was optimistic over hospital reports on DiMaggio, who underwent an operation for the removal of a spur from his heel.

"He is now walking with a cane," said Harris of his outfielder. "He is anxious to make the trip, but after all, it's his heel, and he knows best what he can do."

Zazula To Aid Aiken

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Alberta Snyder, who passed away ten years ago, February 6, 1937.
We do not need a special day
To bring you to our mind,
The days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
If all the world were ours to give,
We would give it, yes and more,
To see the face of our dear Mother
Come smiling through the door.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Republican Congress And The F.C.C.

About a year ago (March 7, 1946), the Federal Communications Commission issued a report on the public service responsibility of the broadcasters, a document which almost immediately became known as the Blue Book. The Blue Book clearly showed how radio had become increasingly commercial in the five years of war, and went on to remind the broadcasters they had made specific promises in their applications for licenses. When the time came to renew those licenses, the Federal Communications Commission warned that the promises would be compared with the actual performance.

The Blue Book made public a great many things not generally known outside the trade. Among other things, it listed the promises made by broadcasters to devote a specified number of hours to the broadcasting of news, good music, discussion of public issues and to live local talent. These unprofitable programs were the price the broadcaster agreed to pay in exchange for a lease on a chunk of public air, which belongs not to the broadcaster or to the government, but to you and me—the listeners.

The performances listed side by side with these promises were unappetizing. Instead of the church programs, the discussion of public issues, the live local talent, the stations presented hour after hour of recorded Bing Crosby, interspersed with appeals from the Bon Ton Department Store and manufacturers of headache powders.

The Blue Book was the first time the F.C.C. has ever showed its muscles and threatened to use them It gave the broadcasters a bad case of the jitters from which they have not yet fully recovered. Listeners, even those who were not entirely happy about government interference in radio, were heartened at the idea that some of radio's worst excesses might be curbed. Well, a year has passed and it is high time to inquire into the effect of the Blue Book on radio programming.

Unhappily, there haven't been any effects. The F.C.C. has not followed any of the policies it enunciated in the Blue Book and the prospects of these policies ever being carried out are dimmer than ever. The commission has continued with the routine business of renewing licenses as if it never heard of their own document. Not a single license has failed to be renewed. Among the radio stations whose licenses to broadcast were renewed were two, one in Los Angeles, the other in San Antonio, Texas, both of which had been cited in the Blue Book as particularly horrible examples. Though their broadcast log was an almost uninterrupted succession of recordings and spot commercial announcements, they were relicensed.

If the F.C.C. has not dared enforce its policies by now, the chances of their ever being enforced are almost non-existent. The commission's relations with Congress have never been too happy. From the new Republican Congress, the commission may expect outright hostility. At the time the Blue Book was issued, Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican National Committee, bellowed that the F.C.C. was attempting to tamper with the right of free speech on the air. Several other Republicans rumbled along the same lines. This distant thunder was not particularly ominous at the time since the Republicans were then the minority party.

Well, times have changed and the present position of the F.C.C. is precarious. There are several movements afoot in Congress to clip the wings of the commission. No matter which one succeeds, it is almost certain that the F.C.C.'s supervisory powers will be limited considerably.

(This is the first of two articles on the Republican Congress and the F. C. C. The second will appear tomorrow.)

Governor Green's Address To Cancel Haley Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—When Governor Dwight Green of Illinois delivers the address at the annual Lincoln day dinner in Washington Thursday night it will go on the air at 9:30. This means that the Jack Haley show is being cancelled to make way. The Governor's topic is "Reconstruction Problems of 1947."

Another NBC special will be Myron C. Taylor, the president's representative at the Vatican, in a 6:15 report on "present conditions in Italy."

Still another special, this one for MBC at 10:30, is to be a panel discussion on "Business Outlook for 1947" by a group of business paper editors.

Question seeeking an answer in the American Town meeting is "what is the best solution to the Palestine problem?" This ABC 8:30 debate will have four speakers, one of which is to be picked up from London.

Instead of the usual drama, World Security Workshop of ABC at 10 is to have a reading of the recent magazine article by Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war, on "Decision to Use the Atomic Bomb." The narration will be supplied by a single reader, similar to the method used last fall when the story of Hiroshima was put on the air.

Dr. Frank Black, leading the weekly Story of Music concert on NBC at 11:30, is to go into "famous overtures in opera. Among composers to be presented are Mozart, Wagner, and Massenet.

Severe Cold Wave Continues; Some Relief Forecast

Temperatures Are Rising Slowly

A cold wave that engulfed the tri-state area Tuesday afternoon kept the temperature below zero in many sections, but showed some signs of breaking late last night as the mercury made a slow but steady rise.

Throughout Allegany County roads were reported clear, but recurring cloudiness held a constant threat, while in neighboring Garrett County many sections were still suffering from sub-zero weather and light snow flurries were reported.

State police said roads in Garrett were still "icy in spots" and advised motorists traveling on side roads to continue using chains. Temperature readings in Oakland at 10 p. m. were "around zero," and at Big Savage Mountain, where a 12 below was recorded Tuesday night, a warmer but still cold 4 degrees below zero was reported.

Pinzel, where residents shivered under a record low of 18 degrees below the previous night was still suffering from the sub-zero readings but reported the temperature had risen to 10 below at 10 p. m., after hovering around 12 below zero at 6 p. m.

Asked To Conserve Gas

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, fearful of pressure shortage if the cold wave continues, sent out appeals to business houses, using gas fuel to reduce store and building temperatures to between 55 and 60 degrees, and curtailed production in at least three industrial plants in the immediate area.

The Queen City Glass Company, Long, was forced to cease production when the gas fuel was limited and the Celanese and Baltimore and Ohio Boal and Forge Shops, were forced to curtail some production that depends on gas, it was reported last night.

In Cumberland where early readings showed 10 degrees above, near midnight the reading showed a 2 degree rise to "12 above." The skies were reported cloudy, though, and the City Water Department gave indications of damage caused by the previous nights 3 above zero weather, with a report that between 30 and 35 water lines into private homes were frozen Wednesday morning, and at least 15 water meters had to be removed for repairs.

Residents were requested to wrap sacks around water meters in cold basements to keep them from freezing.

Schools Not Affected

High School and elementary principals in both Allegany and Garrett Counties said attendance at school was not effected by the cold wave but some West Virginia and Pennsylvania education centers that use gas heat were asked to close today, gas company officials said in an effort to conserve all of the possible fuel for home use. Cafeterias and water heating units in Allegany County will not be disturbed, however, the officials added.

In Frostburg, police reported that temperatures were around zero, at 11 o'clock last night, but declared it represented a slight rise over 6 p. m. recordings. A high wind was reported blowing along with frequent snow squalls.

Mt. Savage, where residents shivered under 4 below weather Tuesday night, also reported a slight rise at 11 o'clock last night, but declared it was still "zero," accompanied by a fine snow and high wind.

Thomas, W. Va., and Deal, Pa., recorded zero reading at 10 p. m., but earlier reports showed 2 below in Deal and 3 below in Thomas. Both communities were reported "free of snow", and the "wind settling."

At Westernport where firemen answered to calls to extinguish blazes caused by overheated stoves, near-midnight records showed 12 above as compared with zero weather the previous night.

In Davis, W. Va., where the Fort Hill High School Basketball team went to play a scheduled game the weatherman almost forced a postponement, but a last minute decision by gas company officials, permitted school authorities to heat the 12 degrees below zero gym "for the last time until the cold spell breaks."

The weatherman gave some hope to the tri-state area's shivering citizenry also with a prediction of fair and "not so cold today." Friday, however, he says will bring "occasional rains."

LaVale Legion Plans Initiation

Valentine Dance To Follow Ceremony

Members of the recently organized LaVale Post No. 219 American Legion at their meeting in LaVale Fire Hall last night made plans for a mass initiation, charter presentation and Valentine dance, February 14.

The initiation, dance and presentation will be open to the public and will begin at 7:45 p. m. according to Sampson Sines, post commander. State Adjutant Jack Tribby of Baltimore will come here to present the charter and to greet the new members. Other guests will include Past Department Commanders George Henderson and Daniel McMullen. Thomas F. Conlon, service will be chairman.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, will have its initiation team present to conduct the ceremony. The team includes Samuel A. Graham, as commander; Paul Weisenmiller, first vice commander; Harry E. Bogler, second vice commander; Clarence A. Eyre, past commander; Earl Brooks, sergeant at arms; Raymond T. Lavall, chaplain and Russell E. Paupe, adjutant.

Arrangements for the dance have been made by Paul Thompson, chairman of the post social committee. Music will be furnished by Arty Brill's Orchestra, and refreshments will be served.

The post passed a resolution last night endorsing a salary increase for public school teachers in Maryland.

House Passes Bill To End Property Qualifications

House Bill 150 to eliminate the property ownership requirement for qualification as candidates for mayor and councilman for Cumberland, which was introduced by Delegate Charles M. See, was passed yesterday by the House of Delegates and sent to the Senate.

The law in effect now requires that a candidate for mayor must have $1,000 worth of assesssable property for a period of two years next preceding the election and taxes on the property must be paid. The law also requires that a candidate for City Council must have $500 worth of assessable property for a period of two years next preceding the election with taxes paid.

Cumberland Town Meeting Of Air Plans Discussed

Representatives of five local service clubs and three women's civic groups, meeting last night at Station WTBO, discussed preliminary plans to sponsor a series of weekly broadcasts for a Cumberland town meeting of the air.

W. Earle Cobey, president of the Kiwanis Club, presided and outlined the project, and a temporary chairman and steering committee were asked to meet next Monday at 8 p. m. at the radio station to discuss program topics, submit a list of possible moderators for the broadcasts, and make tentative plans for the first program.

Temporary Chairman Named

Mrs. John A. Cupler, II, education chairman of the Cumberland branch, American Association of University Women, was named temporary chairman. Mrs. Aurelia S. Becker of Station WTBO will assist the group with technical details.

Under present plans, it is hoped to begin the series in March, with an introductory program tentatively scheduled for Sunday, March 2. The programs, dealing with topics of interest in Cumberland and Allegany County, will go on the air each Sunday from 4:30 to 5 p. m.

The proposed introductory program on March 2 would consist of a series of questions and answers regarding the nature of the series, which is planned to provide a forum for public opinion on matters of local interest.

At present it is planned to continue the programs for three months, and to resume them next fall if they prove successful. Suggestions for program topics may be submitted to the permanent committee after it is established, and a wide range of speakers is planned.

Mrs. Becker expressed deep interest in the project and promised the support of the WTBO staff in assisting in technical aspects of the broadcasts. She said that the only restrictions from a broadcasting standpoint are that topics be nonsectarian, non-racial, and nonpolitical as far as possible.

Summaries To Be Given

Both sides of each topic will be discussed from prepared scripts. The moderator, who will be selected according to the type of subject to be discussed, will assign various aspects of the topic to the speakers in advance so that a well-rounded discussion will be possible. Summaries of the material will be given at the end of each program.

Mrs. John J. Hafer, president of the AAUW, said she felt she could speak for her organization in approving the project. Mrs. Arthur C. Bright said she would bring the matter up at the executive meeting of the Woman's Civic Club on February 13.

The five service clubs represented at the meeting were the Exchange Club, with John M. Robb, Daniel D'Amicol and George Tederick; the Lions Club, George W. Sellers, president; the Optimist Club, Hugh Funkhouser; the Rotary Club, Porter D. Collins; and the Kiwanis Club, Cobey and William E. Landefeld.

Committees Named

Miss Anne W. Tennant and Miss Anna M. Nicht represented the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Committees of two have already been named by all of the service clubs except the Optimists. They are Robb and Tederick, Exchange Club; Collins and James Perrin, Rotary; James W. Bishop and Norman Goldblatt, Kiwanis; and J. K. Snyder and Alvin E. Yaste, Lions.

Presidents of the organizations and their committees are asked to attend the meeting next Monday. The women's organizations and the Optimist Club will name their committees within the near future.

Mrs. Hafer invited those attending last night's meeting to attend the discussions on recreation and smoke control, sponsored by the AAUW, to be held February 12 and 19, respectively.

Juvenile Home Problem To Be Viewed By Board

Two members of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, in telephone conversations with the News last night commented on the situation created yesterday over publicity given the plight of the Fazenbaker children, after their parents were sentenced to serve six months each for neglecting their family.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president of the Board, said he had read newspaper accounts and realized that this is a deplorable condition, when small children must be placed in the County Jail for lack of other facilities.

He said he recalls that the State Legislature passed a bill authorizing the county to sell bonds up to $100,000 for the purpose of providing a Juvenile Home. But he explained the bill was passed in 1943, during the war, and the county has done no building, and considered no building since then, because of shortage of materials and general conditions. Wilkinson stated that he would prefer to make no further statement until the entire Board had discussed the problem and said, "I will bring it up at our meeting Friday."

Commissioner James Holmes also referred to the fact that the bond issue bill for the home was passed in 1943 during the war and the county has been unable to get material for building since. He declared that the condition as published in the papers is an unfortunate one and ventured the opinion, "I don't think sending able bodied men to jail for failure to care for their children is a good answer. They ought to be made to work and support their family like most people have to do. Situations like this just put their responsibilities on other people."

Commissioner Holmes said he realizes it is the children who suffer most in circumstances of this kind, and he also believes the county must take steps to avoid, if possible, a repetition of such situations.

He explained the board's failure to proceed with building or acquiring a Juvenile home as due to general conditions brought about by the war. He recalled that the previous Board had discussed the problem on several occasions but could not build at that time.

Holmes expressed the opinion that "with the rigid requirements of the state on institutions of this kind, it would be impossible to build anything adequate with $100,000 under present costs."

He stated that there had been consideration given to building a wing or addition to the County Infirmary to care for juveniles, but this program had also been abandoned by the war.

Commissioner Holmes said the Board would probably study the situation and see what can be worked out. There are many problems involved, he concluded, but the little children must not be permitted to suffer, if anything will prevent it.

An effort was made to reach Commissioner William H. Lemmert, the new member of the present board, but he could not be contacted by telephone.

Board Will Study Plane Mill Appeal

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night decided to investigate further the appeal of Mrs. Josephine V. Smith, Flintstone, for an occupancy permit to use Lot No. 529, Potomac Street, for a small planing mill.

Arlie Nelson, a neighbor, raised the question as to whether the proposed planing mill would have the effect of increasing fire insurance rates in the neighborhood, and the board decided to continue the case pending investigation of the matter.

John R. Treiber withdrew his appeal for a permit to use the first story of a two-story brick building at 431-433 North Mechanic street as a storeroom. The board said it could not act on the case because the prospective occupant of the premises was not specified.

Theb oard granted the appeal of Roy A. Combs, 724 Frederick Street, to use a one-story frame building at 335 Bedford street for his electrical contracting business, since the premises are already being used for business purposes and the residential restriction does not apply.

The appeal of Mrs. E. E. Broadrup, filed January 6 and taken under advisement by the board January 22, for permit to use the basement at 609 Kent avenue for a beauty shop, was granted.

Motion For New Trial Filed In Hebner Case

Motion for a new trial was filed in Circuit Court yesterday, by Walter C. Capper and William S. Jenkins, attorneys for the defendants in the appeal case of Charles O. Hebner, 48.

On Monday, a jury returned a verdict ruling that Hebner is totally disabled as the result of an injury sustained February 22, 1943, while employed by the Kelly-Springfield Engineering Company here. The jury also agreed that Hebner had filed his claim for compensation within the required 12 months period. The case had been appealed by Hebner after the State Industrial Accident Commission had ruled against him.

Capper said yesterday defense believes the verdict is not a proper one against the weight of evidence and explained that a motion for a new trial has been filed.

Optimist Club Wants Action On Juvenile Home

The Cumberland Optimist Clui went on record last night at their regular weekly meeting in Central YMCA, favoring a broadened program of recreation in the city and immediate action on the part of county officials to provide a home for juveniles.

After discussing the situation which was reported from Juvenile Court here yesterday, involving the placing of six small children in the County Jail because there were no other emergency facilities available, the club drew a resolution recommending that a civic movement be started to promote a home for Juveniles here.

Members of the club expressed the opinion that some provision should be made to handle emergency situations such as the one which occurred here this week.

A resolution was also passed endorsing the program of the newly formed Recreational Group, of which Edgar M. Lewis is chairman.

Guest speaker at last night's meeting was Rev. Donald Brake, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church.

Speaking on the subject of "Service," Rev. Brake emphasized the task and importance of Service clubs in the community. He said the objectives of these organizations and their interest in community problems, makes for better communities.

The exchange of ideas with clubs of other cities and towns, helps promote progress and advancement. The spread of these community ideas eventually affects the life of the entire nation and if carried through, will spread throughout the world, he declared. "Service and the ideals of Service Clubs," he stated, "put into widespread action will assure permanent world peace and happiness."

Mountain Legion District Shows Membership Drop

The Mountain District, American Legion, composed of posts in Allegany and Garrett counties, is one of two districts in the Maryland Department showing a membership decline on February 1, this year, as compared to the same period last year, a state report shows.

Although seven new posts have received charters in the Mountain District region since February 1, 1946, the membership shows a decrease of 288 members when compared with the same date this year.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, suffered the biggest loss, according to the report as it now has only 826 paid-up members as compared to 1,150 members in good standing on Feb. 1, 1946.

Much of the post's membership drop can be explained, however, by the fact that many of the newly organized posts have caused former Post 13 members to join units nearer their homes. Farrady Post, Frostburg, was next on the list, showing a membership drop of 239 members, leaving 400 former soldiers in good standing in that post.

The only "oldtime" post under Mountain District jurisdiction that showed an increase in members is Proctor-Kildow Post, Oakland, where the February 1 membership of 144 jumped to 187 as of the first of the present month.

The seven new posts that have received charters during the past year represents a total membership of 514. Of these Chilcot-Cresap Post, Cresaptown, is the largest with 130 members while the Grantsville post is second with 113.

LaVale, the newest of the units, which will receive its charter soon, already shows a membership of 35, representing a larger enrollment that the Fulton-Myers Post in this city which dropped from 101 in 1946 to 21 members now on the paid-up list. Fulton Myers is listed as an "old" post, or one that was formed prior to World War II.

Baltimore City District, with 53 posts under its jurisdiction is the only other Maryland district to show a membership decline. In 1946 they reported 8,601 paid-up members as compared with 8,567 at the present time.

Other districts in the state, all of which reported membership increases during the past year include, Southern Maryland, an increase of 401; Western Maryland, 701; North Central, 670; South Eastern Shore, 298; and North Eastern Shore 356.

County Liquor Law Termed Invalid In Case Before Court Of Appeals

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 5—(AP)—Allegany county's 13-year-old liquor law was attacked as unconstitutional before the Court of Appeals today, on the ground that it confers administrative duties upon the Allegany Circuit Court.

The act, passed late in 1933 after repeal, is defended by the State with the contention that the business of determining facts and holding hearings to make decisions on granting of licenses is a judicial task..

Eldred A. Cromwell, who sought a license for the Elda Inn on Braddock Road near Cumberland, brought the appeal after his application for a license was rejected by the Allegany Circuit Clerk and that action was upheld by the Circuit Court.

The law passed in the 1933 special session provides that Allegany liquor licenses, other than to clubs, be limited to one for each 1,500 population.

It also stipulated that the Circuit Court, after an application is received, must hold a hearing on the matter.

Robert Jackson, Allegany Circuit Clerk, had declined to accept Cromwell's application on the ground no more licenses could be granted.

Cromwell then asked the Circuit Court for a writ compelling the issuance and for a judgment holding the 1933 Act unconstitutional. The lower court dismissed his application.

On appeal, the plaintiff through his attorneys, Edward J. Ryan and F. Neal Parke, told the Appellate Court that under the 1933 law:

"There is not a single power granted nor duty imposed which could not be fully and completely discharged by an excise commissioner, liquor license board or official.

"The creation of an office or a tribunal to discharge duties involving the determination of facts does not make the office or tribunal a judicial one. If this were not true, the distinction between executive and judicial power would vanish for any executive or administrative officers who have to decide questions of fact and of policy in the discharge of their duties."

Attorney General Hall Hammond, assisted in the case by William C. Walsh, D. Lindley Sloan and Morgan C. Harris, argued:

"The act requires the judges of the Circuit Court for Allegany County to determine a number of facts, and to also use judicial discretion in determining whether or not to direct the clerk of court to issue a liquor license.

"In the first place, a hearing is required on each application, regardless of whether or not a remonstrance is filed."

In the lower court, Cromwell raised the issue that limiting the number of licenses is invalid but did not mention it in the appeal.

The State mentioned it, however, saying that "for many years the courts of this country have unanimously and definitely held that the sale of alcoholic beverages is a privilege and not a right."

Cromwell's attorneys argued that the 1894 Liquor Law Act should control in this case but this was answered by the contention that the 1933 law repealed the older statute.

Telephone Company Is Authorized To Increase Rates Temporarily

Becomes Effective Feb. 10, March 6

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP) — The Public Service Commission today authorized temporary increases which will boost the monthly bills of virtually all Maryland telephone subscribers by from 25 cents to $1.50.

Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, which surveys all but a few small areas of the state, was ordered to make the increases effective on all billings after Feb. 10 and on message toll rates starting March 6.

The increases are temporary, pending a commission decision on higher permanent rates already asked by the company. The commission is to start hearings on the permanent schedules March 18. The increases authorized today in no event will continue for more than nine months.

The Public Service Commission estimated the temporary adjustments will increase the company's income by $3,500,000 on a yearly basis. It required the company to post a $2,700,000 bond to guarantee refunds to subscribers should it later deny the permanent increases.

Cumberland Rates

In Cumberland the flat rate for individual lines for business will be $6.50 per month as against $5.50 now, an increase of $1 per month. A two-party line for business will cost $5.50 per month as compared to $4.50 now, or a $1 increase.

The fee for individual residential lines will be $4 per month, or a 25 cents increase over the present $3.75 per month rate. A two-party residential line will be $3.25 as compared to $3 at present and a four-party residential line will cost $2.75 per month under the new rates as against $2.50 now. The rate on an extension phone for business purposes will be $1.25 per month as against $1 at present and a residential extension will cost 75 cents per month as against 60 cents now.

In asking for the temporary adjustment, the company said its 10 annual operating revenues have increased by $19,000,000 in the past 10 years and its capital investment by $40,000,000; but its annual net operating income dropped by more than $1,000,000.

The commission said it found the temporary increases are "just and reasonable" because the company is earning less than the amount set as a reasonable return on its investment.

The company told the commission it plans a $47,000,000 expansion program in the next two years and has a backlog of 46,000 unfilled telephone orders.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 5 (AP) — Forty-seven thousand orders for telephone service in Maryland will be filled as soon as new buildings are completed, about 125 switchboards are installed and 23 main cables laid, the Chesapeake and Potomac Company announced today.

Haneke said two-thirds of the unfilled orders are from residents of the Baltimore Metropolitan area. Cumberland has 1,200 orders; Salisbury 1,000; Hagerstown, 750; Annapolis, 500; Westminster, 400; Frederick, 300, and Cambridge has 250.

Of the new switchboards to be installed, four are now being readied for Cumberland with seven more to be put in place later; Hagerstown is getting six new switchboards now and 10 later, while five are being installed at Frederick now.

Local Physician Dies From Rifle Wound In Head

Dr. Knight Reynolds Found Near Hospital

Dr. Knight Reynolds, 49, well known local obstetrician, 824 Buckingham Road, was found dead in the front seat of his automobile parked in the physician's area in rear of Memorial Hospital last night about 10 o'clock.

The body was discovered by his wife, Mrs. Evelyn B. Reynolds, and Paul Goldsworthy, Jr., 839 Shriver Avenue, a friend of the family, authorities said.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said that blood was found in the car and that a .22 caliber Winchester rifle was found lying on the floor of the front seat of the automobile.

Dr. Deming said Dr. Reynolds died as a result of an inter-cranial hemorrhage from a gunshot wound about three centimeters above the right ear. Death occurred, he added, about 9:30 p. m.

Mrs. Reynolds, authorities reported, investigated after her husband failed to come home to supper. He had been at the hospital until 5 p. m. taking care of several of his patients. Nobody heard the shot, authorities added.

Dr. Deming said that the death is still being investigated.

Authorities said that Dr. Reynolds has a cottage on the Potomac river and had been in the habit of going there quite often and Dr. Deming said it is possible he planned to go there last night and might have dislodged the hunting gun as he was getting in or out of the car.

Dr. Reynolds was hospitalized about six years ago, authorities said, as a result of a run down condition which they said may have resulted from overwork.

Dr. Reynolds had his offices in the Medical building and was a member of the staff of Memorial Hospital. He was staff physician for the Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Evelyn Reynolds; two daughters, Ann and Frances, and two brothers, Lester Reynolds, Keyser, and F. M. Reynolds, Syracuse, N. Y.

Welfare Board Finds Home For Fazenbakers

Scores Respond To Meet Emergency

A temporary home was obtained yesterday afternoon for the four little Fazenbaker children, who were left homeless when their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fazenbaker, Franklin, this county, were sentenced to serve six months each for contributing to the delinquency of, and neglect of minors.

The Allegany County Welfare Board, according to Mrs. Elinor M. Westerfeld, executive secretary, was able to find temporary foster home for the three girls and their brother, and they will remain together until other homes can be obtained.

Mrs. Westerfeld told the News she and her staff are very grateful for the response of those offering homes to the children, after reading of their plight yesterday morning. Fifteen applications were made as a result of the publicity, she said, by families who offered to take children in emergencies such as this, and several indicated they would provide homes for homeless children by adoption or on a temporary basis, as needed.

She said last night that the Fazenbaker case came at a time all the foster homes were accomodating homeless children, and the board had not a single place licensed or approved. This created an emergency situation, and the children were taken to Memorial Hospital to spend the night. One of the children slept on a mattress on the floor there, because there were insufficient beds, she explained.

Many People Interested

However, the Welfare Board staff went to work yesterday on the situation. Scores of telephone calls were received offering help. Several persons went to the Welfare Board office and filed applications. Others made appointments for today and tomorrow.

Following the placement of the three Collins children in foster homes, the Welfare Board had exhausted its list, and there were no homes available for the Fazenbaker children. But publicity given the case, Mrs. Westerfeld stated, aroused the interest of many people who heretofore did not understand the method of operation, and now new names have been added to the foster home list.

Others will be needed from time to time, she declared, and said that homes must be provided for a 13 year old girl and a 7 year old boy, now in temporary quarters.

Need Is Increasing

There are 56 children, wards of the Welfare Board, now in 28 foster homes in this county, plus the four Fazenbakers. Mrs. Westerfeld says "since the war, the number of homes being broken up, and the number of delinquent parents, has caused an increase in the number of foster homes needed for these unfortunate children."

The Cumberland News received numerous inquiries and offers of homes following the publication yesterday of the story about the Fazenbaker family, and the fact that six minor children, had been taken to the County Jail building because there are no other quarters provided. Members of the News staff were telephoned at their homes by persons offering help.

The Sheriff's office received 25 calls, and 17 were listed by Juvenile Court attaches. Memorial Hospital also received several calls, offering homes for the children. All the calls were referred to the Welfare Board.

The two older of the six Fazenbaker children, Frank 14, and Francis Leo, 12, who were committed by Judge John Barnard, Juvenile Court Judge, to the Maryland Training School for Boys, were taken there yesterday by sheriff's deputies. In the meantime, officials were considering some means of making these committments temporary, until foster homes in the county can be found for the boys.

Judge Barnard sent them to the Training School reluctantly, saying the boys are not criminals, have no bad record and are not delinquents, but there is no place else to put them. Mrs. Westerfeld declared that if the committments can be set aside, her staff will make an effort to find homes for these two lads. She agreed with Judge Barnard that they should not be sent to an institution of this kind.

One Needs Operation

When the four children, Jeannetta, 9, Mary Katherine, 5, Bernard, 3, and Buelah Marie, 2, were being prepared for bed Tuesday night at Memorial Hospital, it was discover-

Nutrition Survey Is Outlined By Dr. R. K. Anderson

A preliminary report on early results of a nutritional survey being made in Western Maryland, was presented to the Junior Association of Commerce last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Club, in an address by Dr. Richmond K. Anderson, medical officer in charge of the United States Public Health Service Nutrition Unit here.

Dr. Anderson, who is also a staff member of the Rockefeller Institute, declared that local nutrition studies are being made in three ways, by use of steady diets, by laboratory tests and by examination of people.

Early surveys indicate there is a very definite nutrition problem here, Dr. Anderson said. There is considerable lack of vitamins C and D evidenced by the study thus far, and much evidence of bad tooth decay among those studied.

Various income brackets here have little bearing on the survey or the nutrition problem, Dr. Anderson explained. Those with low incomes average about the same as those in higher brackets, which would indicate that the problem is mostly one of education, and better food habits.

Dr. Anderson said Cumberland has one of four such Nutrition Survey Units in the country, and about another year will be required to complete the study here. The lecture was illustrated with a number of slide films.
